7.2% proposed for other workers

Police may request 11.9% pay increase

by JOHN MAES

Buffalo Grove police will ask the village board for a bigger pay raise than the 7.2 per cent increase being proposed for other village employees.

Patrolman William Bennett, a spokesman for the policemen, said representatives of the 24-man department will put their request before the village board Monday night. "We want to present our feelings to the board members and hope they can find the funds to increase what they've offered us."

Bennett said Wednesday a department committee is studying the village's proposed 1975-76 budget and may suggest that village officials cut back certain expenditures to pay for higher police raises.

Village Mgr. Daniel Larson has proposed a 7.2 per cent pay increase for most village employees. Larson's package also would include increased fringe benefits for some 130 village workers.

POLICE, HOWEVER, have asked for a raise of between 15 and 20 per cent. Bennett said policemen thought the request was justified but added they are aware of the village's tight financial situation and are no longer seeking so high a rate. He estimated that they may ask for 11.9 per cent.

Larson said a request for 20 per cent was "unsympathetic to the village needs" and is "an outrageous demand."

He noted some police departments in neighboring communities are receiving less than 7.2 per cent hikes. Mount Prospect Village Mgr. Robert Eppley announced Tuesday it was doubtful that any village employees, including police, would receive any 1975-76 wage increases due to a tight financial picture.

Bennett said Buffalo Grove police are asking for higher raises than are other municipal workers "because our responsibility is much greater on a routine basis than any of the other village employees."

He also said the request is based on higher educational levels being attained by many policemen.

BUFFALO GROVE police are members of the Fraternal Order of Police. Bennett said the group has a no-strike philosophy and is not affiliated with any police union.

The salary issue begins village board discussion of the new fiscal budget. Larson said he would release copies of the document today. Police Chief Harry J. Walsh said he was sympathetic to his men's request saying that in previous years, Buffalo Grove police salaries have not been adjusted to keep pace with similar increases in other police departments.

"Each year we fall more and more behind and it could only be adjusted at tremendous cost later on," he said.

Buffalo Grove youth gets court supervision

A 19-year-old Buffalo Grove youth was placed on three month's court supervision after an appearance Tuesday in the Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court on a possession-of-marijuana charge.

Buffalo Grove police arrested the youth, Robert C. Wadsworth, 755 Grove Dr., Oct. 1.

Field, Tarkington schools may get new boundaries

The Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21 boundary committee recommended boundary changes for Field and Tarkington schools next year to help ease crowded conditions.

The committee's recommendations made Wednesday night at a meeting of the group include:

- Transferring 121 students currently at Field School, 51 St. Armand Ln., Wheeling, who live north of Melleny and Aptakisie-Tripp roads to Irving School, 1230 Radcliffe Rd., Buffalo Grove.

- Transferring about 30 students now at Tarkington School who live in the Dun-Lo Highland subdivision west of Buffalo Grove Road and south of Dundee Road to Riley School, 1209 Burr Oak Dr., Arlington Heights.

- Keeping boundaries for the other elementary schools the same for the 1975-76 school year as they are this year.

- Reviewing crowded conditions next year at Alcott School, 530 Bernard Dr., Buffalo Grove, and Tarkington School, 310 S. Scott St., Wheeling, for possible boundary changes.

Changing Field's boundaries as recommended would help ease overcrowding at the school, which would have 641 students next year if the boundaries were not changed. The school was built to handle about 600 students.

ALTHOUGH IRVING is in the Cooper Junior High School attendance area, students transferring from Field still would attend Jack London Junior High School, 1001 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

Students who may be transferred from Tarkington are being bused to school because they must cross Buffalo Grove Road. The proposed boundary changes would put them within walking distance of Riley School.

The committee also recommended that a sidewalk be built along Buffalo Grove Road in the area where the students would have to walk to school.

Dun-Lo Highland area students also would be transferred across junior high school boundary lines into the Cooper Junior High School attendance area. The committee has recommended that these students have the option to attend either London or Cooper.

The recommendations will be presented at a school board meeting tonight at the administration building, 999 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

The boundary committee also decided to visit all schools in the district to make recommendations for possible renovation and building additions.

26 illegal aliens arrested in Elk Grove Village raid

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2055 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U.S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U.S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1956, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peplone, director of Selective Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1956.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 368 last. There were 366 capsules because 1956 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peplone said the men born in 1956 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peplone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peplone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Advice from Udall:

'New way of living needed'

"Think lean, think snug, think small, think slow."

That's the advice of a former U.S. Sec. of the Interior, Stewart Udall, in coping with the energy crisis.

Udall, speaking at Harper College, Palatine, Wednesday night, described the energy crisis as a major historical event that will force significant changes in Americans' lifestyles.

"What the energy crisis means is that we're going to have to make some structural changes in American life," he predicted.

Udall called for smaller autos, families and living units, along with less travel and more community activity, saying, "The one thing you can do is conserve."

"We're living in a lavish, extravagant period of energy use," he said.

THE NEED to curtail the wasteful use of energy is critical, he said. One indicator of the "real trouble" is that proven petroleum reserves in the U.S. will meet the demand for only six years, if foreign oil sources were eliminated, Udall said, and "The fact of the matter is, petroleum is the most precious resource on this Earth."

Udall blamed the energy shortages on waste rather than petroleum industry problems. He was critical of the oil and natural-gas companies' attempts to boost prices, and support of the proposals by the Ford administration. The added revenues will not enable energy producers to find vast new fuel reserves, he said. Udall, who does not approve of sharply higher import duties for oil, says, "rationing has many advantages" in allocating scarce fuels.

Natural gas shortages will be the "biggest crisis in the next two years," Udall said. Coal-gasification and oil-shale technology are not ready to take up the energy slack, he said. Solar energy and wind power are nonpolluting, yet long-range fuels, and nuclear power is not the answer, he said. The problems of nuclear waste disposal and accidents are greater than the industry has previously admitted, he said.

26 aliens arrested in Elk Grove raid

Immigration agents handled the surprise arrests.

"The concept of rounding up people and loading them into a van like that really bothers me," he said. "I don't see why they can't tell them, 'Okay, we know you're here illegally and you have a couple of weeks to get lost' or something."

The Ace Pecan official said the word obviously spread fast about the raid there, too.

"We've had several applicants already since this morning," he said. "We definitely won't hire anybody to replace the people who were arrested here, though, until we find out what's going to happen to them."

IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS say that as the economy worsens and jobs become more scarce, they are receiving more information than ever before from unemployed workers who resent employers who hire illegal aliens.

A spokesman for Field Container, who also did not want his name used, said job applicants there must show either an alien's registration "green card" or a birth certificate. He said all those arrested had either one or both, but the documents may have been falsified.

United will close if workers strike

United Airlines will "absolutely" close down nationwide at midnight Saturday if 146 flight dispatchers go on strike as scheduled, James Kennedy, UAL spokesman said Wednesday. Some 48,000 airline employees would be out of work and customers would have to seek alternate service, said George J. Robinson, president of Dist. 141, International Assn. of Machinists and Aerospace Workers in a communique to union members. Negotiations resumed Wednesday under direction of federal mediators in the hopes of averting a strike, which a union spokesman said can be avoided only with a contract agreement for the dispatchers. Their last contract expired Dec. 31, 1973.

Trainor wins public-aid job

James L. Trainor, 39, of Palatine, won confirmation by the Illinois Senate Wednesday as director of the Illinois Dept. of Public Aid. Trainor, formerly chief administrative assistant to Mayor James Cavanaugh of Detroit, has worked as a special assistant to Gov. Daniel Walker since last August. He moved to Palatine after his nomination to the cabinet post. As assistant to Cavanaugh from 1967 to 1973, he was credited with design of a Model Cities program which secured more than $20 million in urban aid for Detroit. According to Walker's office, he also was responsible for renewal projects in downtown Detroit reversing the emigration of businesses to the suburbs.

Rezone for Fulle-linked land?

Elk Grove Village will attempt to have overturned the high-density apartment zoning of two properties adjacent to the village whose owners are linked to indicted County Republican Chairman Floyd T. Fulle. The village board has authorized Village Atty. Edward Hofert to seek new county zoning hearings on the two properties, which were part of the now-defunct Devon-33 proposal in Schaumburg Township. Trustee Edward Kenna said the properties are owned by Joseph D. Zizzo and Parkway Development Co., whose president is Ted Szywala. Fulle, Zizzo and Szywala were all directors of Parkway Bank and Trust Co., Harwood Heights. "In light of the Fulle indictment we want to make sure there was no hanky panky involved," Kenna said.

Ford asked for Colby's secret CIA report

The Senate intelligence committee Wednesday asked President Ford to turn over CIA Director William Colby's secret report on domestic spy work. "The ball is now in the President's court," said Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho.

Church said he had no indication from the White House whether Ford would comply. However, Sen. John Tower of Texas, the Republican vice chairman, said: "I think the President is disposed to cooperate."

The Colby report has never been made public and has been given only to the Rockefeller Commission.

Law scholar: death penalty a deterrent

A University of Chicago legal scholar Wednesday said a study cited by the U.S. Supreme Court to support its 1972 ban on capital punishment was based on faulty and incomplete research. In a talk at the University of Texas Law School, Prof. Richard Posner said recent research indicates the death penalty is a deterrent.

Strip mine standards bill to House

The Senate voted overwhelmingly Wednesday to impose minimum standards on the strip mining of coal and served notice that President Ford should not veto the bill again. The measure was sent to the House. The bill would guard against environmental damage from strip mining and tax future coal production to pay for restoration of the land already ravaged.

N.Y. bomb suspect arrested

Patricia Elizabeth Swinton 33, charged with conspiracy as an alleged member of a leftist group that bombed a series of corporation and government buildings in New York City in 1967, was arrested Wednesday in a health food store in Brattleboro, Vt. She was charged with conspiring to destroy government property for her alleged part in the bombings of eight New York buildings between July 27 and Nov. 12, 1969.

$47 million Soviet pact to Chicago firm

A Chicago-based company Wednesday signed a $47 million contract with the Soviet Union, the biggest trade deal since the Soviet Union froze trade with the United States in January. Under the contract the American firm, Gould Inc., will supply the Soviet Union with a complete automotive bearings factory and will train Soviet engineers. Gould won the contract over bids from companies in Britain and West Germany.

Hint 20 hockey fans dead in Moscow

A stampede of unruly fans leaving a Soviet-Canadian ice hockey match in Moscow resulted in several deaths and injuries, the newspaper Moskovskaya Pravda said Wednesday. The number of dead was not made public, but unofficial reports in Moscow said as many as 20 young fans may have been killed in the Monday night pileup at the Sokolniki Palace of Sports. An unspecified number of persons were hospitalized.

Communist troops, tanks overrun 6th Viet capital

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist forces rolled over a strategic district capital in South Vietnam's Central Highlands Wednesday, the sixth town lost by the government in five days.

As Communist attacks increased, the South Vietnamese government declared a general mobilization, putting every male between 17 and 43 on call for military service.

The latest district town captured by the North Vietnamese was Buon Ho district capital, which fell after five hours of fighting Wednesday, the Saigon command said.

Both sides continued to pour fresh troops into the four-day street fighting at Ban Me Thuot provincial capital, the command said.

Farther north, the government flew waves of infantrymen and rangers by helicopter into the tank-littered provincial capital of Ban Me Thuot, where Communists controlled much of the city after three-days of house-to-house fighting.

While the fighting raged:

- A House subcommittee in Washington, defying the House Democratic caucus, voted to give Cambodia $135.6 million in emergency aid provided President Ford oversees immediate efforts to bring about peace. By a 4 to 3 vote, the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee offered Ford a compromise similar to one approved by a Senate subcommittee Tuesday. The subcommittee recommendation now goes to the full House Foreign Affairs Committee.
- Defense Secretary James Schlesinger, told President Ford Communist forces surrounding Phnom Penh cannot

A MOTHER from the South Vietnamese district capital of Dau Tieng holds her seriously injured baby. The town fell to the Communists Wednesday.

Air Vietnam plane was downed about 13 miles south of Pleiku.

A force of 1,000 government militia, battered by 300 rounds of mortar, rocket, and artillery fire, gave up Dau Tieng shortly after noon and fled with an estimated 5,000 civilian refugees, about half overrun the Cambodian capital if the defenders' morale holds up and American arms and arrives in time.

• Protestant, Roman Catholic and Jewish leaders joined in a protest to Congress and the President against further aid to Indochina. They said "To prolong this brutal war even for a few months is not a moral posture of which our nation can be proud."

In the Central Highlands, a South Vietnamese commercial airliner with 26 persons aboard, including four Americans, was shot down. Military sources said the city's population.

Saigon command spokesman Lt. Col. Le Trung Hien said the defenders knocked out three of eight advancing North Vietnamese tanks before they retreated.

In Ban Me Thuot, government troops armed with antitank rockets and jet fighter-bombers destroyed 12 Communist tanks within three to eight miles northwest of the city and knocked out 12 long-range 130mm guns.

Ban Me Thuot, 163 miles north of Saigon, is the major target of a 400-mile-long Communist line of attack running from suburban Saigon to the outskirts of Hue in the north.

The command said 700 Communists were killed in three days of street fighting. Government and civilian casualties were not available.

In Phnom Penh, Cambodian President Lon Nol formally changed the army command and reorganized his badly-mauled troops. Meanwhile, American planes resumed their airlift of food and supplies to the besieged Cambodian capital after a brief curtailment because of mortar and artillery fire by rebels.

SOUTH VIETNAMESE infantrymen fires at Communist troops at Moc Hoa near the Cambodian border. The area is some 50 miles west of Saigon. Communists are battling government troops in the bloodiest fighting in munists captured their 6th district capital in five days.

Greenspan: joblessness may hit 9%

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An administration spokesman said Wednesday unemployment will probably rise somewhat beyond the 8.5 per cent peak officials had predicted for this summer.

But Chairman Alan Greenspan of the Council of Economic Advisers told the Senate Budget Committee he saw the first signs of recovery from the longest and most severe recession since the depression. He said the upturn will start this summer.

Greenspan said joblessness could hit 9 per cent this summer. He predicted that the gross national product, adjusted to discount the effect of inflation, will decline by 10 per cent in the first three months of this year.

That's a drop even more severe than the 9.1 per cent decline in the last quarter of 1974.

In other economic developments:

- Two officials of the Federal Energy Administration told Congress today the fuels market has returned so near the "normal" conditions of three years ago that price controls are no longer necessary. "There is no longer a general shortage either of crude oil or petroleum products," FEA Counsel Robert E. Montgomery Jr. and Assistant Administrator Gorman C. Smith told a House Commerce subcommittee.

- James T. Lynn, director of the office of Management and Budget, said he would advise President Ford to veto a House bill providing $5.9 billion to create jobs this summer.

- The United Auto Workers said special unemployment benefits could run out next week for 9,500 white collar workers at Chrysler. The supplementary unemployment benefits payments provide

Armed Forces Movement will control Portugal

LISBON (UPI) — The Portuguese government said Wednesday the ruling left Armed Forces Movement has decided to establish permanent political control of the country in the wake of Tuesday's thwarted coup by moderate and conservative officers.

It also said that U.S. Ambassador Frank Carlucci, accused by leftwingers of meddling in Portugal's affairs, was still welcome.

A State Department spokesman in Washington said it had received assurances the Portuguese government would be responsible for the safety of the U.S. ambassador and the embassy staff. At the same time, the White House repeated earlier official disclaimers of any U.S. involvement in the attempted coup.

News reports from Lisbon said that Otelo De Carvalho, chief of Portuguese security forces, hinted the United States was involved.

"The United States did not play any part in that," White House spokesman John Hushen said.

Former President Gen. Antonio de Spínola and other officers, who fled by helicopter to Spain after the rebellion collapsed, had been stripped of their military ranks, the government said.

The statements were made by Information Minister Jorge Correia Jesuino in a news conference broadcast by national television and radio.

He said the Armed Forces Movement, which took power in a coup last April, has reacted to the failed "reactionary adventure" by deciding to institutionalize itself.

"After 12 hours of reflection, the movement has decided to set up a revolutionary supreme council which will have executive and legislative powers," Correia Jesuino said.

Day-to-day affairs will continue to be run by the government of Brig. Gen. Vasco Dos Santos Gonalves, the minister said, but it will be controlled by the military.

"Institutionalization of the movement and its political powers has been decided as of now," he said. "The assembly of officers which met all night found it had no time to lose."

All elements of agreement reviewed

Kissinger, Sadat hold 'very good' talks

ASWAN, Egypt (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and President Anwar Sadat held nearly three hours of "very good talks" Wednesday night and said later they still hoped agreement between Egypt and Israel on further troop withdrawals in the Sinai could be achieved.

U.S. spokesman Robert Anderson said after the meeting — which went an hour and 20 minutes beyond the originally scheduled time — that there was still work to be done in reviewing the elements of a possible agreement and that Kissinger and Sadat would meet again Thursday.

Sadat will confer first during the morning with Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy and Defense Minister Gen. Mohamed Gammasy.

Kissinger arrived in Aswan in the afternoon bearing Israel's reaction to suggestions for agreement put forward by Sadat last Saturday.

Kissinger said on the plane from Tel Aviv it still remained to be seen whether there would be an agreement although both Egypt and Israel were working seriously toward it.

Kissinger and Sadat met alone for an hour and a half. The remainder of the talks included advisers from both sides, Sadat with Fahmy and Gammasy and Kissinger with Under Secretary of State Joseph Sisco and American Ambassador Hermann Eilts.

"They had very good talks," Anderson said after the meeting. "They reviewed all the elements of a possible agreement."

In Jerusalem, an Israeli government official said the talks "have reached the stage where the ball is now in the Egyptian court." Another source said, "What he (Kissinger) brought doesn't satisfy us and they're (Egyptians) looking for elements which put the situation on a one-way road to peace and leads to a diffusion of the atmosphere."

The sources said the gap between Egypt and Israel remained far apart but that "it is slightly clearer now where the gap is and just what it is."

One warning of the difficulties ahead came from Israeli Foreign Minister Yigal Allon after a night of talks with Kissinger in Jerusalem: "We all feel we are laboring in a very crucial period in which agreement may or may not be reached."

Allon said he and Kissinger did not run into any unexpected difficulties but an Israeli government source cautioned that "the gap between the positions still remains wide" and "anyone who expresses high hopes is mistaken."

Egypt wants Israel to abandon the strategic Gidi and Mitla passes as well as the Abu Rudeis oil fields in the Sinai. Israel wants Egypt to end the state of war between the two countries. Egyptian government sources said Egypt is willing to take steps to show its peaceful intent but added: "A declaration of non-belligerency now, when there is absolutely no guarantee of a final and total settlement, can come only over our dead bodies."

Stans pleads guilty in campaign finance case

- Former Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans pleaded guilty Wednesday to campaign finance violations — the third member of Richard M. Nixon's Cabinet to plead guilty or be convicted of Watergate-related crimes. Stans, with head bowed and hands clasped in front of him, pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge John Lewis Smith. He was released on his personal recognizance and, at the request of defense lawyers, the judge left open the sentencing date.

- Elsewhere on the Watergate front, Martha Mitchell, in Memphis, Tenn., said her husband, John Mitchell, told her months before he was indicted on Watergate charges that he would not spend a day in jail. "John Mitchell said to me — and this was months before he was even indicted — that after a meeting with H. R. Haldeman and John Ehrlichman,

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, dome art, paper toys, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

Carl Sandburg Junior High School in Rolling Meadows will participate in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz Saturday at Mundelein High School.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m. and the clinics will run until 6 p.m. An evening concert featuring the top three bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University will begin at 7 p.m.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Mark Twain School PTA is having a book fair in the gym, 515 Merle Ln., Wheeling from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and from 3-4 p.m. March 17-20. Parents and children may attend.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Mine T. Daniel will perform today at Juliette Low School, 1330 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, at 1:30 and 2:15 p.m.

T. Daniel began his theatrical career as a clown and magician before turning to mime. His performance will portray the art of nonverbal communication, where body movement and position express thought, emotions, places and things.

A social studies activity and project fair is being held from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. today at Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Dr., Elk Grove Village.

The fair will coincide with the Clearmont PTO general meeting.

The International Dancers will perform today at 9:45 and 10:45 a.m. at Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The dancers will introduce cultures of other countries through dance, while a narrator explains the background of each dance and its place in society.

Des Plaines Dist. 62

The Cumberland School PTA will hold a talent night at 8 p.m. today in the school multipurpose room, 700 Golf Rd., Des Plaines.

The PTA also will elect officers for the 1975-76 school year.

East Maine Dist. 63

The Mixed Bag, a group of traveling musicians, will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. Friday at Mark Twain School, 9401 Hamlin Ave., Des Plaines. The group will introduce instruments with Medieval and Renaissance songs and dances.

High School Dist. 214

The jazz bands from Prospect and Hersey high schools will join 20 other bands from the Chicagoland area in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz sponsored by the Mundelein Music Boosters and Karnes Music Co. Saturday at Mundelein High School.

Clinics will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a concert beginning at 7 p.m. featuring the three-top high school bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University.

In general:

The first national "Music In Our Schools Day" will be celebrated today sponsored by Music Educators National Conference.

The 62,000-member conference represents teachers of music in all levels of education and 25 national organizations. The purpose of the day is to make the American people aware of the importance of music in schools. Schools across the nation will set up programs for people to observe and hear how music is taught.

Fulle-linked property rezoned urged

Elk Grove Village will attempt to overturn high-density apartment zoning of two properties adjacent to the village whose owners are linked to indicted County Republican Chairman Floyd T. Fulle.

The village board has authorized Village Atty. Edward Hofert to seek new county zoning hearings on the two properties, which were part of the now-defunct Devon-33 proposal in Schaumburg Township.

Trustee Edward Kenna said the properties are owned by Joseph D. Zizzo and Parkway Development Co., whose president is Ted Szywala. Fulle, Zizzo and Szywala were all directors of Parkway Bank and Trust Co., Harwood Heights.

"This friendship was during the years Zizzo and Szywala received high density multi-family county zoning for the land they owned and were petitioning our village for annexation and zoning as part of a coalition of developers called Devon-33," Kenna said.

ZIZZO OWNS a 27-acre parcel on Bismarck Road zoned to allow 29 housing units per acre. The Parkway Development Co. tract is a 136-acre parcel just west of Ill. Rte. 53 adjoining 190. It also has high-density zoning.

Kenna said during hearings before village officials, Zizzo and Parkway officials used the county zoning as a threat in annexation negotiations.

Two other developers of the Devon-33 Development Co., which has since disbanded, are the Buttila Land Trust and Arvikson Realty Co., Lombard. The Buttila tract has since been sold to SBL Associates. Neither of those parcels was zoned multiple family.

"In light of the Fulle indictment we want to make sure there was no hanky panky involved," said Kenna.

Village officials unsuccessfully protested the county zoning in 1970 when it was granted, after what Kenna termed ridiculously light hearings.

DEVELOPMENT is expected to begin this spring on the Twin Groves School park site. The Buffalo Grove Park District recently authorized $10,000 for grading and installation of a baseball diamond. Park officials hope to meet a long-standing need for recreation in the area.

Recreational development

Accord reached on Twin Groves

Buffalo Grove Park District and School Dist. 96 officials have reached agreement on the first phase of recreational development at Twin Groves School.

Ronald Warwick, Twin Groves principal, Wednesday said representatives have an "understanding" the park district would grade a piece of the property in back of the school, Ivy Hall and Penny lanes, and include a drainage system.

The park district recently approved $10,000 for development of the site and plans call for construction of a baseball diamond and football field.

Development, expected to start this spring, will be made on property owned by both districts, Warwick said.

WARWICK SAID THE school has been in need of suitable areas for physical education programs. Park Director Stanley Crosland said the project will satisfy a long-standing need for recreational facilities in the northern end of the village.

"We're happy they (park officials) thought that this was one of their high priority items and put their money there," Warwick said. He said he believes the facilities will be used extensively by area residents.

Eventually the park district hopes to expand developments at Twin Groves to include lighted tennis courts and playground areas.

Crosland said the park district may spend as much as $60,000 to develop the site. More money will be appropriated as funds become available, he said.

The local scene

Jaycees plan egg hunt

The Buffalo Grove Jaycees and Jaycee-ettes are planning two Easter events, an egg hunt and "Lunch with the Easter bunny."

The Easter egg hunt will begin at 2 p.m. Sunday at the Willow Stream pool site near Farrington Drive and Spring-side Lane.

Plastic eggs filled with candy and novelties will be hidden throughout the area. Children finding "lucky" eggs will receive special prizes.

Children will be separated into age groups. In case of rain, the hunt will be postponed to March 23. The event is sponsored by the Jaycees.

The Jaycee-ettes will conduct their second annual lunch with the Easter Bunny Saturday, March 22, at the Cooper Junior High School cafeteria.

The first session will be from 11:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. and the second from 12:45 to 1:30 p.m.

Lunch will consist of hamburgers, potato chips, cupcakes and orange drink. The Easter bunny will greet youngsters and pass out surprise gifts.

All children must be accompanied by an adult. Tickets must be purchased before March 17 by calling Sharon Gopon, 337-7509, for the first session and Pat Panella, 541-3144, for the second sessions. No tickets will be sold at the door.

Color TV stolen at 'Cambridge' pool

A color television was stolen early Tuesday from the swimming pool pavilion at Cambridge-on-the-Lake, 125 Lake Blvd., Buffalo Grove police said Wednesday.

The theft occurred sometime between 4 and 9 a.m. and a key card apparently was used to enter the pavilion, police said.

Burglar takes $30 in meat from freezer

A burglar took $30 worth of meat this week from a freezer in the garage of the William H. Siegel residence, 468 Diane Dr., Buffalo Grove police said Wednesday.

The burglary was reported Tuesday. There was no sign of forced entry to the garage, police said.

Park board resets meeting

The Buffalo Grove Park District has rescheduled its regular meeting from tonight to next Thursday at 8 p.m. The park board of commissioners meets in the park district office, 130 Raupp Blvd.

Correction

A photo caption in Tuesday's Herald incorrectly said Wheeling High School's annual Orchestral show will be this weekend at the school, 900 S. Elmhurst Rd.

The show will run Thursday through Saturday, March 20-22.

Correction

The Herald incorrectly reported Wednesday that the Buffalo Grove Junior Women's Club was to sponsor a candidates' night Wednesday at the Kingswood United Methodist Church, 401 W. Dundee Rd.

The session is scheduled for 8 p.m. today at the church. Candidates for the village board and park board will take part.

Who's best for parks? Listen to both sides...

by JOE FRANZ

Incumbent park board members in Buffalo Grove Wednesday night outlined their accomplishments, while their opponents in the April 15 election called for improved park facilities.

The park board candidates spoke at a candidates' night sponsored by the Buffalo Grove Jaycees. Candidates for the two six-year terms on the park board are incumbents William Kiddle and Eugene Muryn and newcomers Richard Lapham and Eugene Branski. A fifth candidate, Harvey Foster, was not at the meeting.

"The park district has worked very hard over the last six years to provide good park facilities," Kiddle said. "And I think we've done a good job."

THE INCUMBENTS said they are "running on their records" and made a slide presentation to show their accomplishments. Muryn and Kiddle cited the indoor and outdoor swimming pools, tennis courts, ice rinks, and baseball diamonds as some of their feats.

They also said park programs have been greatly expanded in the last six years and said they were instrumental in getting the village to adopt a policy of getting land donations from builders for the park district. "I think we've come a long way since the park district was founded in 1939," Kiddle said.

Lapham and Branski, however, charged that park development has been slow and in many cases park facilities are inadequate. "I think the poor condition of the parks is the main reason I'm running," Branski said. "Right now I don't think there is a decent park in the village."

"If I'm elected I'll work to get the parks completed," he said. "A park is only useful if it can be used by the people."

LAPHAM SAID HE is running because he feels there is a need for "better quality control and planning" in the park district.

Wheeling traffic-light talk countered

A state official said Wednesday funding for traffic signals at Old McHenry Road and Ill. Rte. 83 has not yet been approved.

approved and that some village officials and village board candidates are incorrect in saying the improvements are assured.

Park district spring signup Saturday

Buffalo Grove Park District residents may register for all spring programs from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday at the park district office, 130 Raupp Blvd.

Registration will continue from 9 a.m. to noon next Monday through Friday or until classes are filled, said Mike Ryko, recreation supervisor.

Installations of traffic signals at the intersection recently became a political issue in the April 15 municipal election. The Wheeling Improvement Party last week publicly called for traffic signals at the intersection and said if they are not forthcoming the village should consider paying the cost and attempt to get reimbursed by the state.

Roy Fonda, north area traffic engineer for the Illinois Dept. of Transportation, said while plans for the signals are on the drawing boards, state funding still is not assured.

Even though residents may sign up for all programs during those hours, Ryko said five spring classes require in-person registration.

WHEELING Representative Party candidates countered WHIP Monday night, saying they were told by state officials that the traffic signals would be installed at the intersection this summer.

"The project is in the 1975-76 fiscal year budget for the traffic operations division," he said. "But we won't know for sure until the legislature appropriates funds this spring."

The programs include: co-educational boys' and girls' gymnastics, boys' gymnastics, a separate girls' gymnastics program, bowling and women's dance and figure control.

"We don't just present a problem," said WRP candidate Neil H. Brant. "We try to figure out a way to solve it."

"The project, however, does have a high priority and if we get a reasonable amount of funds the project probably will go," Fonda said. "But I can't be sure until the legislature acts."

Residents must register in person for those programs because of enrollment limitations, Ryko said.

Brant is joined on the WRP slate by Roger A. Powers, Kenneth R. Brady and Robert E. Clark.

State officials said July 1, when the 1975-76 fiscal year begins, would be the soonest the state could seek bids for the project. If it is approved. By the time bids are opened and a contract is awarded, the state would be further into its fiscal year, they said.

County to use $3.2 million U.S. funds in south suburbs

Most of the $3.2 million Cook County hopes to get under the U.S. Housing and Community Development Act should be spent in south suburban areas, county officials said Wednesday.

A county spokesman told an advisory committee of suburban mayors that the area of greatest need for social services and public works projects includes the communities of Markham, Maywood, Harvey, Phoenix and Summit.

The only Northwest suburban project which may be funded this year is repair and maintenance of two county-owned cemeteries in Palatine Township.

Schaumburg Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher, the only Northwest suburban representative at the meeting, said he favored using the money where the need is greatest. Atcher said he had not expected any of the money to go to Schaumburg.

Atcher urged using the funds to build housing, but said he had learned the funds are legally earmarked for public works or social service projects, not housing.

THE COMMITTEE, charged with making recommendations to the county board on which projects should be approved for funding, will meet again Monday afternoon. Palatine Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones and Wheeling Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon, who are also on the committee, were represented by village employees.

Terrence Hansen, an administrative aide to County Board Pres. George W. Dunne, said the complexity of legal requirements is bogging down the community development grant program.

Hansen said he expects that problem may be reduced in future years.

Hansen disputed recent comments by Mayor Robert Teichert of Mount Prospect that villages participating with the county in the program are forced to accept a low-and moderate-income housing plan drafted by the county.

Hansen said any community may remove itself from the county housing plan after it is completed. He said communities seeking community-development money on their own must have a housing plan.

Local communities which are cooperating with the county in seeking community-development act funds are Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Wheeling, and Schaumburg.

Des Plaines Valley chapter of Sierra Club formed

by LEA TONKIN

A new Sierra Club chapter was recently launched by area environmentalists. Dubbed the Des Plaines Valley Group of the Sierra Club, the organization plans its first general meeting April 29 at the Arlington Heights public library.

Ann Fisher of Arlington Heights, a member of the group's executive committee, said the 7:30 p.m. meeting will include a slide presentation by Mike and Anna Steere of LaGrange. The Steeres studied Lake Michigan flora and fauna during two extended canoe trips.

The Des Plaines Valley group will initially study three area developments, Mrs. Fisher said. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers study of urban water damage problems in northeast Illinois, the save-the-prairie campaign at Somme Woods in Northbrook and the proposed highway construction near Volo Bog will be considered.

the additions to the list are the canvas-back duck, the purple martin, mountain quail, hairy woodpecker and lesser goldfinch. The list is published so members will report all sightings of the species to the society.

National Wildlife Week

National Wildlife Week will be celebrated March 16-22. The event is sponsored by the National Wildlife Federation to encourage outdoor appreciation. "We Care about Wildlife Habitat" will be the theme of the federation's annual meeting to be held March 14-16 in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Urban water damage study

A public meeting is slated March 18 by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Chicago District, to initiate studies of urban water damage problems in northern Illinois and Indiana. The area is defined as the region drained by the Des Plaines River and its tributaries and the area tributary to Lake Michigan. The 7 p.m. meeting will be held at Thorn Hall, Northwestern University, downtown Chicago campus.

against the hotel when a hotel representative failed to appear at the original Feb. 4 hearing.

New gas-leak hearing set

An April 8 hearing is slated by the Cook County Dept. of Environmental Control on charges filed against Arlington Park Hilton Hotel, stemming from a Jan. 2 propane leak at Arlington Park Race track in Arlington Heights. The case was continued at a recent hearing held in Cook County Circuit Court, Chicago. A judgment of $505 had been issued

The propane gas leak incident also led to the criminal indictment of Hicks Gas, Inc., Woodstock, by the county grand jury. The firm is charged with endangering the life and property of area residents.

Bears bouncing oil tanks

Wildlife observers in one North Slope oil camp recently discovered a pair of grizzlies using the large rubber "pillow" oil-storage tanks as trampolines. The only way to stop the bear-bouncing antics, workers decided, was to shoot the bears with tranquilizer darts and transport them miles away. Undaunted, the bears returned a week or so later to their Alaskan bouncing habitat.

Bogs topic of lecture

Bogs and boreal coniferous forests in North America will be discussed by John Wagner of Kendall College at a March 13 lecture sponsored by the Chicago Academy of Sciences and Northeastern Illinois University. The free program will be held at academy offices, 2001 N. Clark St., Chicago, starting at 7 p.m.

Panel to discuss pollution

"Lake Michigan: A Sink for Hazardous and Toxic Substances" is the theme of a March 13 conference to be held at the Technological Institute, Northwestern University, Evanston. A team of researchers and environmental administrators will discuss water pollution issues at the 7:15 p.m. session. It is sponsored by the Northwestern Students for a Better Environment and Environmental Quality Committee of the Wilmette League of Women Voters.

Society expands Blue list

The Audubon Society's Blue list, an early warning indicator of species likely to fall into the endangered species category, was expanded to 51 species. Among

5 girls, boy win coloring contest

Five girls and one boy were selected as the first week's winners in the coloring contest sponsored by The Herald in cooperation with the Chicago Flower and Garden Show.

Winners in the 9-and-younger category were: first, Lisa Hahn, 9, of Elk Grove Village; second, Kristine Plogman, 9, of Arlington Heights; and third, Stefano Uhl, 9, of Mount Prospect.

Winners in the 10-14 age group were: first, Eileen Hennessey, 13, of Buffalo Grove; second, Cheryl Wegener, 13, of Palatine; and third, Carl Patrick, 10, of Arlington Heights.

First-place winners will receive a $25 U. S. Savings Bond donated by the First Bank and Trust Co. of Palatine, a miniature greenhouse kit and tickets to the show for their family.

Second-place winners will get a miniature greenhouse kit and show tickets. Third-place winners will receive tickets to the show.

All winning entries will compete with drawings from other communities for grand prizes.

The 1975 Chicago Flower and Garden Show will take place April 5-13 at McCormick Place.

Senate kills bid to make Memorial Day a long weekend

An attempt to change state observance of Memorial Day from May 30 to the fourth Monday of May failed in the Illinois Senate Wednesday. Sen. Jack Schaller, R-Algonquin, sponsor of the bill to change the observance, kept the measure alive by withdrawing it from a roll call vote when defeat appeared certain. He said the difference in holidays last year caused chaos because schools and businesses were closed on different days.

Opponents of the bill objected to conformance with federal procedures. "If we reverse ourselves we are showing our weakness to the federal government and the other states," said Sen. Robert Mitchler, R-Oswego.

Cartan agency cuts Amtrak

A Chicago Cartan travel agency has stopped offering rail tours for the first time in 76 years because of "atrocious" service by Amtrak, Robert C. Angard, vice president for Cartan Travel Bureau, told an Interstate Commerce Commission public hearing Wednesday that his company "felt there was too much ill will being generated to continue the tours," although there was still a demand for the service. Angard was one of several witnesses appearing in a four-day hearing on Amtrak service. The hearings are part of a nationwide schedule to gather public opinion on Amtrak.

Body to be exhumed

The body of a Chicago woman believed to have been the first of three persons to die from a lethal chemical in a salt shaker will be exhumed to determine the cause of death. Mrs. Charlie Mae Edwards, 49, died Feb. 7 of an apparent heart attack, but police now believe she and two others were killed by lethal sodium nitrate grains in a salt shaker that was passed from home to home. Five other persons were hospitalized because of the chemical. The chemical is a meat preservative, but police are trying to determine how it got in the salt shaker.

Two-man patrol cars asked

The Saugamon County sheriff has pledged he will continue to seek enough men to provide two men to a patrol car at night, following the Saturday night shooting death of a deputy who had stopped to help a motorist. Sheriff Martin Gutschenritter asked the county board for 50 new men, but the board approved only five. The sheriff has ordered his men to patrol two to a car, even if it means only one car is out at a time.

Illinois briefs

Probation officer indicted

A Cook County probation officer was indicted by a grand jury Wednesday on charges of bribery, official misconduct and perjury. Robert Courtney, 34, was accused of shaking down an interstate truck driver for $150 in exchange for not reporting probation violations. State's Atty. Bernard Carey said the indictments were part of a five-month investigation into charges that probation officers were extorting money from probationers.

Stores must price goods

Supermarket chains that have stopped marking prices on merchandise in certain experimental stores have been warned to stop the practice or face legislation requiring price tags on all goods. Chicago Consumer Affairs Comr. Jane H. Byrne said stores using the computerized pricing system consisting of vertical lines would be forced to change if they don't start putting the prices on each item. She said she gets about 25 calls a day complaining about the system at National, Jewel and Dominick's stores.

Judges for Daley charged

The Chicago Council of Lawyers Wednesday called for an investigation of three Cook County judges who allegedly attended a political rally for Mayor Richard J. Daley. Illinois Supreme Court rules say judges should not take part in political campaigns or attend political gatherings. The council reported that Chief Criminal court Judge Joseph Power and judges Frank W. Barbaro and Joseph M. Wosik sat on the stage at a campaign rally for Daley.

Lawlor, others off ballot

The Rev. Francis X. Lawlor and two other candidates have been ruled off the ballot for the April 15 congressional primary election to replace the late John Kluczynski of the 5th District, in Chicago. The Chicago Board of Election Commissioners ruled Wednesday that there were discrepancies in the candidacy papers of Lawlor, a Roman Catholic priest, and Larry Saska and Frank E. Zabielski. The disqualifications mean the primary will be canceled because State Rep. John G. Fary, a Daley-backed Democrat, is the only remaining candidate to face Republican challenger William H. G. Toms in the May 27 election. Lawlor said he was forced off the ballot by the Democratic machine because "they are worried about me."

Visitation for Thomas P. Heinz, 50, of Mount Prospect is Friday from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Lauterburg and Oehler Funeral Home, 2000 E. Northwest Hwy., Arlington Heights.

Mr. Heinz, a resident of Mount Prospect for 19 years, was pronounced dead on arrival Tuesday at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights, after an apparent heart attack. He was the president of Legal Copy Services at 10 S. La Salle St., Chicago. Born in Chicago, April 12, 1921, he was a veteran of World War II.

Prayers will be said at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the funeral home, then to St. James Catholic Church, 841 N. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights, where a funeral Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 11 a.m. Burial will be in All Saints Cemetery, Des Plaines.

Surviving are his widow, Lorraine L., nee Woeckner; five daughters, Mrs. Mary (Lloyd) Saxena of Burbank, Ill., Mrs. Nancy (Larry) Hickey of Decatur, Ill., Judith, Barbara and Diane, all at home; four grandchildren; six brothers, Edward N. Jr. of Northfield, Robert P. of Mundelein, Dr. John A., James F. and Joseph B., all of Arlington Heights and William L. of California; and five sisters, Mrs. Marianne Tomet of Rolling Meadows, Adeline M. Heinz of Arlington Heights, Mrs. Dorothy Broccoli of Northbrook, Mrs. Patricia J. Brueker of Tucson, Ariz., and Mrs. Suzanne Ryan of La Grange.

Family requests in lieu of flowers, contributions may be made to the Diabetic Foundation or the American Heart Assn.

Charles W. Richards

Charles W. Richards, 59, a resident of Palatine for 20 years, was pronounced dead on arrival Tuesday at Northwest Community Hospital, Arlington Heights. He was born in Missouri, Aug. 4, 1915.

Mr. Richards was employed as an electrician for Ferber Electrical Co. He was a member of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union Local, No. 131.

Visitation is today from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Ahlgrim and Sons Funeral Home, 201 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine.

A funeral Mass of the Resurrection will be offered at 10 a.m. Friday in St. Theresa Catholic Church, 463 N. Benton St., Palatine. Entombment will be in Queen of Heaven Mausoleum, Hillside.

Surviving are his widow, Antoinette, nee Mithner; a daughter, Mrs. Geraldine (Robert) Lindsey of Schaumburg; a son, Thomas of Palatine; four grandchildren, and a sister, Mrs. Eunice (Clarence) Jones of Westchester.

Richard Atherton

Richard Atherton, 12, of Palatine, a seventh-grade student at Plum Grove Junior High in Palatine, died Tuesday in his home after an extended illness. He was born May 8, 1962.

Richard was a member of the Palatine Boy Scouts of America Troop No. 269, and the Countryside Unitarian Universalist Fellowship Club.

Visitation is today from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9:30 p.m. in Ahlgrim and Sons Funeral Home, 201 N. Northwest Hwy., Palatine.

Funeral service will be at 11 a.m. Friday in the Christian Church, 333 W. Thomas St., Arlington Heights. The body will lie in state in the church one hour prior to time of service. Officiating will be the Rev. Rupert Lovely. Burial will be in River Hills Memorial Park Cemetery, Batavia, Ill.

Surviving are his parents, Robert and Martha Atherton; a brother, John, at home, and grandparents, Curv and Edith Atherton of Chicago, and Mrs. Edla Alsen of St. Charles.

Family requests in lieu of flowers, memorial donations may be made to the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, 6 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago.

Deaths elsewhere

Herald opinion

We support home 'protection'

If you're about to buy a brand-new house or condominium, you could face a variety of defects in your home during the next few years — and in the past, there's been far too little you could do about it.

Now, however, two Illinois home building organizations are about to announce a "10-year protection plan" to provide protection against defects for the new home owner. It's a proposal which is long overdue in the local home building industry.

Builders in the Chicago area will be able to offer coverage to their buyers after being accepted into the program offered by the Home Owners Warranty (HOW) Corp. of Greater Chicago (a similar program is offered for Downstate home buyers).

To participate in the program, you'll buy insurance at 0.2 per cent of the purchase price (or about $60 to $90). The plan will require builders to correct all major construction defects in the first year of ownership and major defects in heating, air-conditioning, plumbing and electrical systems in the second year. In years three through 10, the insurance company will cover all other major defects that should arise.

The plan is an alternative to legislative suggestions that the state should step into the warranty field to assure buyers of protection against shoddy home or condominium construction work.

Perhaps at some later time such legislation will be necessary. Now, however, this industry-based insurance plan seems to be an adequate step towards assuring the buyer of a new home of protection against built-in defects.

The proposal is especially important for the Northwest suburbs, for we're a center for new construction, and we need all the protection we can get against flimsy doorways, cracked foundations, poorly constructed walls and the myriad of other problems that occasionally plague new home or condominium construction.

GOP plans rerun of 1969 battle

The signs in Illinois' 10th Congressional District point to a replay of the 1969 Republican special primary election for a successor to Donald Rumsfeld.

When Republican Rumsfeld resigned his post as U. S. representative from the old 13th District, 13 GOP political aspirants practically knocked each other down to get on the ballot as his potential replacement.

Before the ballot was actually drawn, the field narrowed to eight, and when the air had cleared, a super-conservative fellow by the name of Philip M. Crane had outdistanced all the others.

Since that time, the old 13th District has been split up by redistricting, with parts going to the present 10th and 12th districts.

When the old 13th was split, Crane moved his fiefdom to the west to become the benevolent ruler of the 12th District. Fittingly enough, Samuel H. Young of Winnetka, who ran second to Crane in the packed Republican primary of 1969, took over the remnants of the old 13th, getting himself elected in 1972.

But a displaced Democrat by the name of Abner J. Mikva, who had been redistricted right out of his formerly safe

Sam Young

Democratic seat in Chicago, moved to Evanston and unseated Young.

Mikva's victory was a bitter pill for Republicans, who remain convinced that the 13th District — second most affluent in the country — should be Republican territory.

So deep is that conviction among Republicans that it is virtually assured that there will be a proliferation of GOP candidates in the 1976 primary.

With more than a year to go before primary election time, there is already one Republican candidate out in the open, and at least half a dozen are talking to friends and possible supporters with only a pretense at not having decided to go for it. The former Republican incumbent is keeping his own counsel, but those who seem to know him well say frankly that Young is dying to try to throw out the guy who threw him out.

Young's decision will bear weight on the decision of a number of other candidates as to whether they enter the race. Not because they have any great devotion to the cause of returning Sam to Congress, but because they perceive themselves as possibly appealing to the same constituency. If Sam goes, some of them may as well stay at home.

The one candidate already in the race is Richard H. Cooper of Winnetka, who at the age of 35 has piled up a few million dollars teaching people how to be Weight Watchers. Cooper entered the race last month, with the professional help of a Chicago ad agency which potential opponents say will burn up at least a third of the money he will be allowed to spend in the campaign before anybody else even announces their candidacy.

Next on the speculative list of candidates come two names from the 1969 special primary. They are former Chicago newscaster Joe Mathewson, who ran third in that race behind Crane and Young, and John Nimrod of Skokie, who finished a clear eighth in the field of eight.

Mathewson, now 40, is completing a law study course and is employed as an administrative assistant to Attorney General William J. Scott.

Nimrod is in his third year as an Illinois state senator.

Other state legislators who might enter the race include Rep. John Edward Porter of Evanston, who is sounding out friends on his chances; Sen. Bradley M. Glass of Northfield, who has made no visible moves; and Rep. Brian Duff of Wilmette, who would like to run but may forego the opportunity for personal reasons.

Also talked about as potential candidates are Tom Roeser of Park Ridge, executive director of Project L.E.A.P. (Legal Elections in All Precincts); New Trier Township committeeman David Brown of Wilmette; and Wayne Andersen of Des Plaines, 1974 GOP candidate for Cook County treasurer.

The only thing certain at this point is that there will be more.

'Writer obfuscates election issues'

Fence post

letters to the editor

The American Heritage Dictionary of the English Language defines "obfuscate" in the following way: "1. To render indistinct or dim; darken. 2. To confuse or befuddle."

In examining Dwight Walton's letter in the March 5 Fence Post, Mr. Walton has tried to obfuscate the issues of the April 1 election for Arlington Heights village president and members of the board of trustees.

He makes the following charges:

• Kay Muller believes that it is illegal to be involved in a local election if one is a Republican.

• A small special interest group manipulated the caucus selection process to nominate David Griffin and Mr. Walton knows this because he was directly approached.

• Kay Muller was elected as park board commissioner to do a job for the park district and that she, out of the five park commissioners, would be responsible if the March 1 referendum would go down to defeat.

To answer:

• Kay Muller is co-campaign chairman for five candidates on the Responsive Citizens Caucus Party slate — four avowed Republicans, including a Republican area chairman, a Republican precinct captain, and a member of the Republican Citizen's Advisory Committee.

• The by-laws of the Caucus were followed in exactly the same manner as they were in previous Caucus selections, just as they were when Mr. Walton was nominated by the Caucus in 1969. The caucus by-laws make provision for nomination and selection from the floor. In examining the addresses of the approximately 600 people who attended the Caucus meeting on Jan. 19, by far the largest number attending from any subdivision were from Skokie, 97, two to three times the number who attended from any other subdivision. Were those 97 all for Mr. Griffin, Mr. Palmatier, or Mr. Clarbour? Nonetheless, all registered voters of Arlington Heights were invited to come to the Caucus meeting to nominate candidates. Mr. Walton neglected to say that the person who approached him before the Caucus meeting was not Dave Griffin or his supporter but another Caucus nominee.

• Since the park district referendum did pass by a very creditable margin, should Kay Muller take complete credit for its passing? Kay had a substantial part in the successful campaign along with other park board commissioners, and many other citizens who participated in an honest election effort.

Is Mr. Walton trying to obfuscate the issues in the April 1 election because:

• Mr. Walton works for a developer of commercial properties in Arlington Heights. Is he supporting Jim Ryan for village president for future favors?

• The only reason that anyone should vote for Jim Ryan is that he is a Republican. If anyone has been watching Mr. Ryan in his tenure as a village trustee they couldn't help but have noticed that Mr. Ryan many times has never opened his envelope containing materials on the agenda before he comes to the board meetings and has tried to cover up his lack of homework by glibness and surliness.

• Was Mr. Ryan unwilling to present himself to the Caucus selection process because he lost twice in trying to get the Caucus nomination, in 1967 and 1971? Mr. Ryan also lost the Metropolitan Sanitary District election, the nomination for state legislator from the 3rd District and was low man on the totem pole when he ran for village trustee in 1971 on the Village Party slate in opposition to the Community Caucus Party slate. Dwight Walton is backing a chronic loser.

League states policy

With elections coming up soon, it seems an appropriate time to speak about the nonpartisan policy of the League of Women Voters. The basic principle is that the league does not support or oppose any political party or candidate. Our objective is to inform members and the public regarding issues, election procedures and the field of candidates. When we have a consensus — a group decision to take a position on some issue — we can undertake a campaign pro or con. We do encourage our members to work in behalf of office seekers they prefer and to run for public office themselves. The league has always provided a training ground for political activity and governmental service.

At the same time, recognizing that the league board tends to represent the league in the community, the league in the Arlington Heights-Mt. Prospect Area asks board members to comply with some regulations. For example, board members may not be an officer in a political party organization. Any board member who intends to work on a campaign must resign from the board as well in advance of such activity as possible. If a board member becomes a candidate for elective office or is appointed to fill a vacancy for such office, this person may retain a board position at the discretion of the board. However, this leaguer's candidacy could not be officially endorsed by the league.

Each year the league board reviews and adopts its policy in line with changing times and conditions. Should there be a change in any aspect of the policy, the league would publicize it in order to avoid any misunderstandings.

I will be glad to answer questions about our policy and league activity during the course of the upcoming elections. I also would like to invite the voting public to a candidates' night on Friday, March 21 at 8:00 in the Dunton Room of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library.

Marjory Storey

Paramedics cheered

Dear Jay Hayden, Arlington Heights Fire Chief:

On Jan. 31, Jay, a team of your paramedics responded promptly to a call from Arlington Park.

The man I was working with, Fillmore Roberts, became quite ill and was apparently suffering some sort of an attack.

Your great young men quickly diagnosed the problem and with their efficiency, interest and concern they probably saved Mr. Roberts' life. For he had a severe heart attack that kept him in the coronary care unit at Northwest Hospital for almost four weeks. He is now in a regular room and is recuperating. He should be released soon.

He is most grateful, as am I, for the great Arlington Heights team of paramedics.

Thank you so much, and would you please convey our grateful thoughts to the young men who were on duty that day?

She loves Herald

When I moved here a year ago this April, my son and his wife had just started to think about The Herald. I knew I'd miss Chicago morning papers very much.

Have been so pleased with The Herald and now on Saturdays, too. The delivery boy or man always gets it right up to the door, which is more than the evening paper does. I have a handicap, so appreciate being able to reach it.

I have found many priceless hints in Dorothy Ritz's "Home Line." I cook and bake a lot for my family, which includes three grandchildren ages 6, 5 and 3. Lois Seiler's recipes are always perfect to follow easily and so timely. Thanking all of you so much and God bless.

They'll sell in '75

Thanks to your support, the Elk Grove Village Junior Women's Club lunaria sale was a success. The publicity you gave our club helped let community members know what they are. Because of its success, we are planning on selling them again for Christmas, 1975.

'She's hard worker'

Shame on Dwight Walton for the veiled implication in his March 5 Fence Post letter, that, due to Kay Muller's activity for Caucus candidates, she was probably neglecting her responsibilities as a park commissioner in connection with the park referendum.

I know the lady only slightly, but out of my own involvement in that referendum, I can state flatly that its success was probably due more to Mrs. Muller's hard work than any other factor. She was a tireless source of energy, speaking at public meetings, arranging coffees, recruiting people and making scores — perhaps hundreds — of phone calls.

If she works even half as hard as campaign co-chairman for Caucus ticket, her people should win, and it will be a well deserved victory.

The almanac

Today is Thursday, March 13, the 72nd day of 1975 with 293 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning stars are Mercury and Mars.

The evening stars are Venus, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Pisces.

Swiss naturalist Charles Bonnet was born March 13, 1720.

On this day in history:

• In 1868, the U. S. Senate began impeachment proceedings against President Andrew Johnson on charges of "high crime and misdemeanors." He was acquitted in May.

• In 1933, banks throughout the United States started reopening after a bank holiday declared by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on March 5.

• In 1969, Apollo 9 returned from a 10-day earth orbital journey which successfully tested a moon landing craft.

In 1972, the United States and China opened talks in Paris, the first result of President Nixon's trip to Peking.

A thought for the day: British author Thomas Paine said, "Character is much easier kept than recovered."

The lighter side

Shuttle diplomacy can run amuck

by DICK WEST

WASHINGTON — After conferring with Egyptian officials in Cairo and Israeli officials in Jerusalem, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger put aside the Egyptian-Israeli dispute over Sinai and flew to Ankara to confer with Turkish officials about the Turkish-Greek dispute over Cyprus.

After which he flew back to Jerusalem in preparation for his return flight to Cairo. With maybe another stopover in Syria, etc.

That Kissinger has a mind like a Dagwood sandwich. Apparently there is no limit to the number of disparate disputes he can stack on top of each other in his brain without getting mental indigestion.

One wonders how he keeps them all sorted out. Or if he keeps them all sorted out.

Any peace negotiator lacking Kissinger's marvelous capacity for compartmentalization surely would occasionally have moments like this:

"Ah, Premier Irmak, how good to see you again."

"It's nice to see you, Mr. Secretary. What brings you to Ankara?"

Henry Kissinger

"I thought I would drop in while I was in the neighborhood and check on how things are going in your dispute with . . . er . . . er . . . Iraq."

"That's Iran who's having the dispute with Iraq, Mr. Secretary. Our dispute is with Greece and things are going rather poorly, I'm afraid. Although Turkey stands ready to make generous concessions we have met with nothing but obstinacy on the part of the Greeks."

"Perhaps I can be of some service in clarifying the issues and bringing about a meeting of minds. As their position was explained to me, the Greeks insist that Turkish troops withdraw from the Golan Heights."

"Not exactly, Mr. Secretary. Turkey has no troops on Syrian soil at this time. Greece wants us to withdraw from Cyprus."

"Good. That simplifies the matter a great deal. So what it boils down to is the question of whether in return for withdrawal of Turkish troops from Cyprus, Greece will guarantee free passage of Turkish cargo through the Suez Canal. Is that about the size of it?"

"I wish it were that simple, Mr. Secretary. Actually, the Suez question is not of as much concern to us as the treatment of the Turkish minority on Cyprus."

"Will the Turkish minority settle for anything less than the establishment of an independent state on the west bank of the Jordan?"

"I can assure you, sir, that we Turks have no designs on Palestinian territory."

"Splendid! I'll pass that along to Pakistan. Meanwhile, if there is anything further I can do to help, don't hesitate to call on me."

(United Press International)

Revived '50s—better than real thing

Something basic is wrong with teenagers' perception of the "nostalgic" 1950s. For one thing, they seem to believe that Elvis wore bellbottoms.

The '50s craze has swept area high schools. But, as with the full pants worn by a boy imitating Elvis, the new generation has changed things those who lived through the "innocent decade" remember.

Take the issue of boy's pants. In the 1950s and early 1960s, thousands of high school boys learned to sew by "pegging" their own pants. A properly pegged pair of jeans was so tight they could not be removed with shoes on and were so short that several inches of white crew socks showed below them.

Strict mothers made the boys do their own pants because they wouldn't have anything to do with that nonsense.

Also, while the kids on American Bandstand danced the jitterbug complete with the boy tossing the girl from one hip to another, the truth was the average high school had very few, if any, students who actually did that. Basic steps were enough for them.

High schoolers believe that the 1950s were the era of rock and roll. While it is true that "Rock Around the Clock" was big in some circles, it is equally true that in many places rock was lowbrow and unrespectable among the "sophisticated, intellectual" honor-society set. They were into Dave Brubeck's jazz.

While "Rock Around the Clock" was the No. 1 song of 1955, a list of the top 50 for that year shows that the list included such non-rock types as Tennessee Ernie Ford, Rosemary Clooney and Nat King Cole.

THE 1950s GET longer and longer as the revival continues. "The Twist" didn't happen until 1962 (in time for the politicians of the New Frontier to scandalize people for doing it), but nostalgically, it feels like the '50s.

Today girls may roll up their jeans near their knees and wear them with Bobby sox (a 1940s look), but they don't wear real "pedal pushers" which just covered the knee and gave girls the world's strangest tan.

Education today

by Wandalyn Rice

Also, I'm not sure many high school girls are tottering around practicing how to walk in their first pair of spike-heeled, pointy-toed shoes in the name of nostalgia. Those shoes, especially the kind with the three-inch heels, were so hard to walk in that one television special revolved almost entirely around that gag.

Another thing that so far I haven't seen revived is white lipstick, the one thing every well-dressed female Elvis fan wore. And while boys have slicked back their hair in ducktails, which were more common on stage and in movies than in most high schools, and a few have shaved their heads, no one has revived flat-tops and butch wax.

HIGH SCHOOL administrators have not revived the dress codes that were enforced then, which sometimes said a girl's skirt had to touch the floor when she knelt and that a boy could not wear a shirttail untucked.

Politically astute people who remember the '50s also note that no one has revived loyalty oaths, Joseph McCarthy, or (here's a name from the '50s) Richard Nixon.

It may be, in fact, that the revived '50s are better than the original ever was. All you have to do is look at a picture of the original Beatles, who bore a striking resemblance to choir boys in 1964, to know what the previous era had been like.

And in those days, if anyone had said we were nostalgic, we would have gagged.

Summer-job guide available at library

The Rolling Meadows Library has the "Summer Employment Director of the United States" available for youths seeking summer jobs.

It contains 90,000 jobs in recreational areas around the country. The book lists 10 per cent fewer positions than in 1973 but provides potential opportunities, particularly for high school seniors who some employers would train rather than hiring skilled workers. The average salary is $600 to $800 for an eight-week season.

College students and teachers also may apply for these positions. Copies of the book are available by mail for $6.95 from the National Directory Service, 252 Ludlow Ave., Cincinnati, Ohio, 45220.

Correction

The time for the annual dinner meeting of the Council On Understanding Learning Disabilities (COULD) was listed incorrectly in Wednesday's Herald. The dinner is Wednesday, March 26, at 6:30 p.m. at The Lancer Steak House restaurant, Schaumburg.

Dr. Sylvia Richardson, an M.D. and specialist in learning disabilities, will speak at 8 p.m. Tickets for the dinner are $7.50 per person. Persons who want to attend only the program may do so for $2.

Tickets for the dinner may be reserved through COULD, P. O. Box 704, Arlington Heights. Further information is available from Peg Linder, 439-3075, or Margo Martin, 593-7167.

Mind your own business

by ELEANOR RIVES

(Second of two parts)

Ramona Newton is an astute woman. More than 15 years ago she recognized a growing need as business and industry began to mushroom around her. Today her employment service, "The Workshop" at 370 Northwest Hwy., Des Plaines, is the oldest in the northwest suburbs.

When Ramona was considering this business venture, her husband, Walt, a free lance actor, announcer and food columnist, asked "How will you do it?"

"I don't know; let's find out," she replied.

She managed to sandwich in time between her three part-time jobs to visit the Illinois Department of Labor. The architect she worked for in one job allowed her to organize operations from his office.

AN EMPLOYMENT agency must be licensed by the state. That means office space already rented, desks in, phones working, all materials printed and a bank backing to carry you for at least three months.

Ramona contacted the Des Plaines Chamber of Commerce, began advertising, telephoned company after company "to let them know we were there." Walt handled the public relations and advertising.

"I run the business my own way," said Ramona. "That means my employees are salaried, not on commission. We try very hard to get the right person for the right job at the right time."

Has she been successful? Obviously her son thinks so. Walt Newton Jr. has just opened Workshop 2 in Schaumburg.

"IF YOU ARE really doing a service, you're bound to succeed," said Ramona. "You would be surprised how many mothers that we placed in jobs years ago are now sending their daughters to us."

Are you one of those people who gets excited over faraway places and strange sounding names? Have you ever thought it would be fun and games to own a travel agency?

Talk to Jackie Brinn at "The Traveler" in Buffalo Grove. She just moved her agency into new quarters at 400 W. Dundee Road after being in business a few blocks away since 1972.

"There must be a better, easier business to get into!" she exclaimed. "I guess with me it's true love."

THIS IS A business that is severely restricted. Travel agencies are appointed and governed by the Air Traffic Conference of the federal government. One must apply to Washington for a domestic appointment, to Canada for an international appointment. The applicant must have had at least two years previous experience as an appointed agency — or must find an equally qualified manager. A $10,000 security bond is required. And every 10 days, the agency must report to the ATC all tickets that have been written and turn in all checks. One default could ruin your business.

Still Jackie wouldn't change it. She always loved travel. She had opened and managed an agency for another owner, and it occurred to her, "If I can do it for somebody else, I might as well do it for myself." Her husband and two sons, now in high school, cheered her on.

"TO SUCCEED in her own business, a woman must be aggressive," she said. "She must work harder to overcome the prejudice of businessmen that she is not capable. She must really produce."

Do you, perchance, love animals? Kathy Hanks does. And has, from the time she was born. "They don't talk back," she laughs.

With 13 years experience behind her, having worked for three veterinarians in eight years and then going into dog grooming, Kathy resented being told how to do a job that she already did extremely well.

"Damn it!" she said. "I don't have to do this for somebody else. I can do it for myself and have an even worse boss — me!"

SHE FOUND A faltering dog-grooming shop at 107 S. Northwest Hwy. in Palatine, dubbed it "The Un-People," opened in June 1972 and proceeded to build up a blooming grooming business. Breeding is another aspect, with Lhasa Apsos and Shi-Tzus her specialty.

HER YOUNGEST CHILD, 6, spends mornings at the shop before going to kindergarten. Her 9-year-old is in school most of the day. Her one employee is a girl on a work-training program. Her accountant does her bookkeeping. And her husband leaves her strictly on her own.

"He doesn't tell me how to handle my dogs or my customers — and that's the way I like it," said Kathy.

The business occupies about 75 percent of her time. "You must make up your mind that you will be at it a long time before it pays you back," she said. "It takes a lot of time and a lot of love."

BETTY ANN BLOOM, mother of five, didn't expect to be in business for herself. She had assisted her husband in a successful photography business in their Arlington Heights home for nine years when their zoning variation expired in 1973. In April they rented a shop at 1624 W. Northwest Hwy. Carl didn't live to move into it.

Betty, who had done print spotting, developing, some posing and maybe a passport or two when her husband wasn't home, gathered her courage and decided to go ahead with it despite his death. She opened in July.

For a time she was caught up in a whirlwind schedule of photography seminars, meetings, lectures — devouring technical knowledge at every turn.

HER REPUTATION as a first-rate portrait photographer is now well known. Full length studies are her specialty; they remind one of Old Masters' paintings. There is nothing static even in family group photos by Arlington Portrait Studio.

The road to successfully managing her own studio was made less rocky for Betty by Northern Illinois Professional Photographers whose members offered help and a wealth of information. She has since won several photography awards from that organization. She also won the NIPP Orlin Kohl memorial scholarship which she applied to a class in advanced portraiture last summer.

"When you take an active part in a professional group," said Betty, "that group willingly helps you." Beyond that, she advises women who plan to deal in services to maintain their self-confidence and keep "psyched up" to the business.

BESSIE PERSAK has been "psyched up" to men's hair cutting and styling ever since her son refused to let her cut his hair some eight years ago. She solved LADY BOSS AND FIRST chair in her own shop, The Artistic Barbers in Buffalo Grove Ranch Mart Shopping Center, Bessie Persak believes haircuts and styling should be a relaxing experience, and customer Bob Bergeron agrees. Eight years ago when her son refused to let her cut his hair, Bessie went to barber college.

the stalemate. She went to barber college.

In the fall of 1972, she took the plunge, bought her own barbershop, "The Artistic Barbers," emphasized its masculine flavor with remodeling and decorating, employed three male barbers and found she was in business.

You'll recognize her shop in the Ranch Mart Shopping Center, Buffalo Grove, by the barber pole outside.

"I just knew it would be successful," she bubbled. "I had worked in another barber shop nearby for a year. I was the only woman there, too."

Bessie enjoys contact with the public, loves working on children. Her own kids, 18, 17 and 10, give her a hand with maintenance when they are needed, as does her husband, who also helps her with the paperwork.

"IT'S FAR BETTER for just one member of a couple to start a business than to begin as a husband-wife team. It takes several years to come out ahead. Better if the husband is holding down his own full-time job," she said.

Sometimes "minding one's own business" is the natural outcome of years of volunteer work. "Gallo's on the Plaza," a fast-service lunch business, opened last week in Hoffman Estates Plaza. Connie Gallo, a 19-year resident of that town, has run the concession stands for countless sports events for the Hoffman Estates Athletic Association as a volunteer. In addition she comes from a family that has had lifelong restaurant experience.

How did she learn quantity buying, menu choosing, price setting?

"By trying to feed 900 people on a football field" was her quick answer.

Short on space? Try mini-garden

A mini-garden may be the answer if you lack space for a conventional garden, says James A. Fizzell, University of Illinois Extension horticulturist.

You can grow vegetables in small areas in raised beds, modular containers or as borders or backgrounds for flower gardens. Tomatoes, cucumbers and some other plants can be trained for vertical growth to use small spaces, using stakes, trellises or fences for support. Nearly any yard has at least one nook or corner where a few plants can be grown. Apartment dwellers can usually find a place on the porch for a container of tomatoes or lettuce.

Fizzell says lettuce, parsley, chard, asparagus, kale and herbs are vegetables with attractive leaves that can be used for borders.

Lightweight growing media that contain fertilizer and with excellent water-holding capacity are available for use in containers. You can also use soil mixes.

Considering amount of growing space required, tomato plants produce large yields of fruit. You can grow tomatoes in beds of all types and in most containers. You can also use soil mixes. Dwarf tomato plants in containers and standard staking varieties grow well in mini spaces.

TOMATO VARIETIES that do well in containers include Small Fry, Tiny Tim, Pixie and Patio. Petunias or marigolds grown around the base of the tomatoes will give a little color. The tomatoes should be trained to a trellis or the tomatoes will smother out the flowers. Cherry, plum, Gardeners Delight and many standard varieties are suitable for training on stakes or trellises.

The new bush type vine crops such as prolific squash or bush zucchini and even AAS winners Yellow Baby watermelons can be grown in small spaces, says Fizzell. When growing in a confined area such as a container, check for watering at least once a day in cool weather and two to three times a day in hot.

Item price coding a consumer issue

Illinois has become one of the first states to consider requiring item pricing of supermarket merchandise. The issue has come up rather suddenly and quietly as some supermarkets have begun installing the Universal Product Code (UPC) system.

UPC involves the use of high-speed computers at the check-out point which scan a coded price on each item. The numerical price is posted only on the shelf, not on the item. Consumer groups have attacked the system and are demanding that prices be retained on each item for the information and use of shoppers.

At this writing I know of three other states which have introduced legislation to require retention of prices on individual items. In addition, such a bill has been introduced in Congress.

JACKIE KENDALL, leader of a consumer coalition in the Chicago area, reports that Rep. Richard Kelly, D-East Hazelcrest, has introduced similar legislation in Springfield.

Mrs. Kendall said hearings on the bill are being held by a committee chaired by Lawrence DiPrima, D-Chicago. But she said that so far only industry representatives are testifying. She urges consumers to write or call their own representatives to endorse the Kelly legislation.

Groups such as the Consumer Federation of America say item pricing is desirable for the purpose of comparison shopping and to check the accuracy of the check-out, whether human or computer. Industry spokesmen, however, deny that consumers make any use of item pricing and insist it will be neither practical nor necessary under the UPC system.

Both sides agree, however that the new system probably will not save shoppers either money or time in the long run.

MEANWHILE, consumers may be paying more — not less — for their groceries, thanks to "cents-off" coupons.

That little scrap of paper that housewives so laboriously snip out of magazines and newspapers to save 5 cents is costing the food industry an estimated $2 million a year, according to a report in Media & Consumer, which quotes industry officials. And guess who pays for that?

To begin with, manufacturers must reimburse retailers to handle coupons. That reimbursement rate has been 3 cents a coupon, and now is being raised

The consumer

by Monica Wilch Perin

to 5 cents by some manufacturers, says the report.

But the $200 million, which some industry spokesmen say is too low a figure, represents the cost of coupon fraud. That is, cheating on coupons by retailers, employees and consumers.

ALTOGETHER, what it means is that you may pay 7 cents less for a box of cereal by using a coupon — but if coupons didn't exist, you and everybody else might be paying 7 cents less for that box of cereal to begin with.

According to the Media & Consumer report, some industry officials believe coupons may already be on their way out.

Expressing anger workshop topic

Managing hostility and resentment, learning to express anger and hostility in a positive way and other communications techniques will be topics during a one-day workshop Friday, March 21, offered by Greenfields Unlimited. The workshop will be held from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the Community Room of Colby's in Northbrook.

Workshop fee, including a buffet luncheon, is $20. Further information and reservations are available from Greenfields, a not-for-profit continuing education center, 446-0525.

Sew show for nurses

Elk Grove Nurses Club will hold its annual salad bar luncheon and fashion show, "Sewing into Spring" Saturday, March 22, in Prince of Peace Methodist Church, Elk Grove Village.

Stretch and Sew Fabric Center, Schaumburg, will provide the fashions for the 1 p.m. show. Proceeds will go to the club's nursing scholarship fund and to maintain lending closet equipment. Sue Carlson, 593-6651, has tickets.

Ways to clean grout range from shoe white to soda

Dear Dorothy: There's one household job I hate — cleaning the grout in the tiled bathroom. And I've never found a commercial product that did what it was supposed to do on grout. Would you know a good home remedy? — Georgia Hottel

Over the years readers have sent in all sorts of remedies. Maybe one will suit you. One made a strong solution of water and washing soda and used a scrub brush for the corners. Another used white shoe polish, then wiped off the excess with a damp cloth. The grout stayed white for months.

Some readers claim success with a household cleaner which contains some ammonia, and others report success using a solution of three tablespoons of bleach to a quart of warm water, letting it stand on the tile a few minutes before rinsing. One reader advised using dish-washer detergent with hot water and a brush, rinsing, then drying. It's a good idea to use rubber gloves with any of these methods — and do watch out for the eyes when using a brush. Luck.

Dear Dorothy: A great way for consumers to save money on their fuel bills is to use a pressure cooker. Another step in this direction is the use of a wok which uses a lot less cooking oil and fries food more rapidly than in a skillet. — Mrs. Sandra Briell

I've never tried a wok but agree heartily on the pressure cooker.

Dear Dorothy: My husband and I spent many hours putting together a beautiful jigsaw puzzle. We'd like to preserve it. Would you know anything we might use? — Mrs. Joe Hagan

You can slip it onto a piece of cardboard and glue each piece in place, then use a lacquer spray bomb to preserve the top. You can also put it in a frame with nonglare glass.

Seeds planted by stars didn't sprout

I never gave "planting by the stars" a moment's thought until this year when several "zodiac types" asked me if I sow seeds by the phases of the moon.

Mountain folk, farmers and old-timers have consulted the stars, I'm told, to find out what days are "good" or "bad" for planting and harvesting, and for those who can't read the stars, the Farmer's Almanac has a special page set aside with all the appropriate days neatly noted.

Planting by the moon is a lot like fishing by the moon, and I know some wall-eye pike anglers who swear by the latter. The February issue of Field and Stream magazine, incidentally, carries a solunar table of best fishing times.

Planting calendars may have good scientific reason. It is logical that the weather is affected by the moon, but I don't know many gardeners who pay attention to it.

WHILE THERE is a mild revival in interest regarding how to plant by the signs, I can't envision the agricultural journals or garden magazines running a monthly Zodiac Planting Table as newspapers do the Daily Horoscope.

After the fifth person brought up the subject to me, I decided to give planting by the stars some attention. I thought that a recent seedling problem I'd had could perhaps be blamed on the stars. "You were planted on a rotten day," I told my reluctant-to-grow calendula seeds. That must be it!

I dragged out my copy of "The Foxfire Book," an offbeat compilation of folksy talents including the how-to of hog dressing, log cabin building, snake lore, faith healing, moonshining and planting by the stars, among the other affairs of plain living.

Potting shed

by Mary B. Good

BUT I JUST couldn't absorb it. That's when I stumbled upon the knowledge that my seeds that wouldn't grow were planted on one of the 14 good planting days in January. So now I have to look elsewhere for an excuse.

I see by the so-called signs that Thursday, March 13 (today), is the very best planting day in March to sow seeds. The 14th, the 17th, the 18th, the 23rd and the 24th are also good days if the job can't be done on the 13th.

I don't promise any results in using the planting dates. I don't believe in planting by the stars. I don't believe in Santa Claus either. But I'm still going to take another whack at it, if I can scrounge up another pack of those calendula seeds!

(If you have questions about gardening, write to Mary B. Good in care of Suburban Living, Paddock Publications, Box 280, Arlington Heights, Ill. 60006, including a stamped self-addressed envelope.)

Speech contestant

Paula Tierney of Palatine will be participating March 17 in a speech contest in Deerfield. Sponsored by Illinois Shores Toastmistress Club, the contest will be held at 6:45 p.m. in the Deerfield Library.

The winner will represent the chapter at the council level speech contest in April. The contest then continues to the regional at O'Hare Inn in May and then to the international in Toronto in July. Further information is available from Helen Milecki, 825-8124.

Top journalist at Harper

Chicago Daily News foreign correspondent George Anne Geyer, named one of the nation's top women journalists by Newsweek magazine, will discuss American foreign policy and the economy at Harper College workshop, Thursday, March 20.

Sponsored by the Women's Program, the all-day panel discussion on politics and government will also include Bill Barnhart, political editor of the Tribune; Bob Lahey, political editor of Paddock Publications; and Kay Muller, Arlington Heights park commissioner, who will discuss local elections and issues during the morning session.

Miss Geyer will be joined during the afternoon session by Ray Howard, Sun-Times columnist who writes for consumers. The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the college board rooms. Tuition is $8, including lunch.

Miss Geyer, who received her first foreign assignment in 1962 has covered the Dominican Republic, Cuba, South America, the Middle East, Vietnam, Cambodia, Laos, Thailand and Russia. She is the author of "The New Hundred-Year War," a book on the Middle East; "The New Latins"; and "The Young Russians," a comprehensive report on youth in Russia to be published soon.

To register readers may send name, address, phone and Social Security number with a check to the Admissions Office, Harper College, Roselle and Algonquin Roads, Palatine, Ill. 60067. Reservations may be made by calling 397-3090, ext. 210.

Child care, for a fee, may be reserved by calling ext. 248.

The doctor says

by Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Oral drugs and diabetes

My husband is a mild diabetic and has been for years. He takes one tablet a day for this problem. He is 6 feet tall, weighs 190 pounds and is 68 years old.

I've been following your suggestions in food preparation, giving him a relatively low-fat, low-cholesterol diet and use your recipes.

We do use a powdered cream substitute. I am wondering about the fat in it. One level teaspoon contains 0.1 gram of protein, 1.1 gram of carbohydrate, and 0.7 gram of fat. The fat is a blend of palm kernel (hydrogenated) and coconut oil. Your book states that 86 per cent of coconut oil is saturated fat and that we should limit our saturated fat.

Also, does my husband need to take his tablets for diabetes? I've read that it increases the likelihood of heart attacks. His cholesterol is 211 and his blood sugar is 107.

I've tried to get him to take walks with me but he refuses. He will use a stationary bicycle and puts two miles on it almost every morning at a rate of 20 miles per hour. Is he getting enough exercise? He sits for the rest of the day or lies on the bed and reads.

The question of taking oral medicines for the control of diabetes is a hot one. The American Diabetic Assn. reported you can do just as much with diet alone. And, it is true that there was a higher rate of heart attacks in patients in research studies who were taking the tablets. It doesn't matter which tablet you are talking about either, as similar results were eventually turned in on all the different preparations.

The net results of the studies are that if you have mild diabetes you should control the problem with diet (sometimes easier said than done), and if it is more serious you should use insulin. Not all doctors agree with the studies. And, not all patients will cooperate with their doctors in controlling their diet satisfactorily.

Your husband's blood sugar level you quote is quite normal. However, you don't know what it is after eating and without medicine.

HIS CHOLESTEROL is all right for the average office laboratory test. In general the methods used in the research studies, such as the long term studies at Framingham, Mass. are about 10 per cent lower than the values from office and hospital methods. Your husband's value then would be 24 points lower using the Framingham methods, so his value is fine.

The most important thing he needs to do is eliminate any excess fat he has and judging from his height and weight he could lose some. That is accomplished by diet and exercise. He does need more activity. Perhaps you could interest him in dancing.

Most of those artificial cream products do contain coconut oil and are high in saturated fat. Whenever you see "vegetable oil" think coconut oil unless the label states otherwise. There are some liquid preparations high in polyunsaturated fat and low in saturated fat, but they are not available everywhere. When the public doesn't buy them, the supermarket stops stocking them rather soon.

Work your money. Harder.

Inflation has made it necessary for everyone to attempt to maximize the value for each and every dollar. Naturally, funds available for saving or investment should be worked to the fullest. And at First Federal Savings, we help you work your money, harder.

We bring up the point, because at First Federal Savings, your money works harder for you. In fact, it works every day. Our daily interest means your savings are compounded each day. And, on passbook accounts every deposit made before the tenth of each month, earns from the first of that month if on deposit at the end of the calendar quarter. And, every deposit earns from the date of deposit to the date of withdrawal on all accounts. And, all of it earns at the absolute top interest rate.

Today it is more important than ever to make sure that all your funds are always earning the maximum return. And today it is important that savers understand that different accounts should be maintained for different purposes.

Certain funds belong in a readily accessible passbook account. Others can be put aside for longer periods earning higher than passbook rates. We urge you to check over 6 different plans we offer—perhaps two or three meet your savings and investment needs.

5 1/4% annually, passbook account, compounded daily. Add or withdraw any amount at any time. All funds earn from the day of deposit to the day of withdrawal. Yields 5.39%.*

6 1/2% annually, 1-year certificate, compounded daily. $1,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 6.81%.*

6 3/4% annually, 2 1/2-year certificate, compounded daily. $5,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 7.08%.*

6 1/2% annually, 1-year certificate, compounded daily. $1,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 6.81%.*

6 3/4% annually, 2 1/2-year certificate, compounded daily. $5,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 7.08%.*

7 1/4% annually, 6-year certificate, compounded daily. $5,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 8.17%.*

6 1/2% annually, 2-year certificate, compounded daily. $5,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 6.81%.*

7 1/2% annually, 4-year certificate, compounded daily. $5,000 minimum, automatically renewable. Yields 7.9%.*

A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal from certificate accounts. Monthly interest checks are available on deposits of $5,000 or more.

SCLC to conduct hearing at Harper

Northwest suburban mayors, managers of housing developments and members of minority groups who live or work in the suburbs have been invited to testify today at a housing hearing at 1 p.m. at Harper College, Algonquin and Roselle roads.

The hearing, sponsored by the Suburban Chapter of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, is being conducted to determine if state and federal agencies are making sure federally assisted housing developments actively seek out minority tenants.

In 1972 a regulation was established requiring all federally funded developers to carry out "affirmative marketing" campaigns to attract minorities to their developments.

The only housing in the Northwest suburbs directly assisted by the federal government is Rand Grove Village in Palatine Township. Developments partially or totally financed by federal funds channeled through the Illinois Housing Development Authority include Schaumburg Green in Schaumburg, Huntington Commons in Mount Prospect and Winslow Apartments in Palatine.

In testimony at the first hearing last month in Wheaton, civil rights leaders blamed the U.S. Dept. of Housing and Urban Development for not enforcing the affirmative-marketing regulations. Representatives of HUD have been invited to the hearing today.

When testimony is completed, SCLC plans to make recommendations to HUD.

Grandma kept her window shades down to keep warm.

It pays to take after Grandma

When Grandma was a young homemaker, she didn't know anything about the energy crisis. But she did know that keeping the window shades down in the winter helped keep the house warm. In these days, when the energy crisis is really upon us, it pays to remember Grandma's advice. Shade N' Shutter window shades are the energy savers. They insulate to keep out cold air, keep in heat. That's an important way to keep heating costs down during the energy crisis.

Take a tip from Grandma and the Shade n' Shutter. Keep your window shades down, and keep your house warm. Come in and see the entire Shade n' Shutter collection.

Today's best...

"Sunshine." A social worker investigates to see if Sam is taking adequate care of Jill, so Sam adds a few homey touches to the household and puts out his musician buddies. 7 p.m. Channel 5.

"Barney Miller." The new woman cop assigned to Barney's precinct is steamed because she does all the typing while the other detectives are out capturing bank robbers. 7 p.m. Channel 7.

"Bob Crane." Audra Lindley guest stars as Bob's amazingly youthful mother whose lifestyle mirrors her modern appearance. 7:30 p.m. Channel 5.

"Karen." The young lobbyist must choose between two men who want to date her. 7:30 p.m. Channel 7.

"First Churchills." John Churchill continues his success in the war against France, but his prestige at home and with Queen Anne is impaired by the backstairs intrigue of Robert Harley. 8 p.m. Channel 11.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Mary Clement: lucky as a fox

Mary Clement was one of the best, if not the best woman, bridge player of the early '30s.

She had a habit of making very good plays, then pretending they were the result of a fortunate accident.

Mary who sat West did not consider a bid of five hearts. She knew her partner's preempts were real trash. In any event she thought she might beat four spades. She opened the ace of hearts and continued the suit. South ruffed, led the queen of diamonds, played dummy's jack and watched East take his king.

East led a third heart and South ruffed with the eight of trumps. Mary discarded a diamond and now South went after trumps. Unfortunately for him, Mary now held the long trump. She waited until South played ace and one diamond. Then she ruffed in, led the king of clubs and watched the hand collapse.

"Brilliant play, partner," chortled East. "If you had overruffed South's eight of spades when I led the third heart, he would have made his contract."

"Thank you partner," replied Mary. "I had the nine of spades in with my clubs."

Shop, compare before buying custom home

Design, price, 'changeability' keys

by LEA TONKIN

It's every couple's dream at one time or another — to build their own home on a wooded lot with plenty of room and a floor plan tailored for a single family's particular needs. But before you take the plunge, shop around, be careful and make sure you know the details of the construction business before you contract with a builder.

When Chris and Ron Holmen decided to make their move from a tract house to a custom-built home, they scouted for good design and an affordable price.

"I think we've been to every subdivision from one end to another of the north suburbs," Mrs. Holmen said. "The comparison is worthwhile." Mrs. Holmen offers advice to potential custom-home buyers that is echoed by professionals in the housing industry: shop and compare value and obtain a full explanation of building specifications before you sign a contract.

Setting a budget also is important, she continued. Although the Holmens' Palatine home costs a few thousand dollars more than they originally planned to spend, extra features and floor-plan changes account for the difference. The $70,000 price includes the basic layout offered by the builder plus "plenty of changes," added sliding glass doors, upgraded floorings, a subbasement, a revised kitchen layout, transfer of the utility room, and the addition of another bathroom.

THE HOLMENS expect to move into their new house in June. "It will be more a home than just a house," Mrs. Holmen said. "We're going through the planning stages along with the builder."

A good working relationship between buyer and builder is important in the custom-home business, says Steve Rice, marketing and sales manager for Arthur J. Greene Construction Co., Palatine. Communication starts when the builder assists the buyer in narrowing down the choice of floor plan and the building exterior or elevation. Some builders will offer a selection of improved lots, but will allow the buyer to choose a lot elsewhere.

for a selection of improved lots, but will allow the buyer to choose a lot elsewhere.

Rice advises potential buyers to discuss specific prices and available options before they sign a contract. If the builder offers floor plans as part of the deal, some changes can be made without added costs, he said. This could include some juggling in the basic floor plan and leeway in the choice of floor coverings and other features.

Extras that will mean added expenditures should be spelled out in advance, he said. They could range from an intercom system priced at $350 and up to a fireplace for $1,700 to a $1,600 air conditioning system.

THE CUSTOM-HOME buyer generally sits down with the builder or salesman for several discussions before the contract is drawn up, Rice said. "We tell people to look at designs, then go home and write down in a notebook the things they want in a house," he said. "Then they come back and we go over the list." The builder will later write up a contract offer, specifying what is to be included in the house at a specific price.

Once the contract is signed, the buyer will shell out $100 or a good faith payment to hold their lot for the next two weeks as the permit and mortgage applications are checked. The buyer, builder and lender will agree on a down payment and loan terms following approval of the building permit by municipal or county building department.

"Then the husband and wife come in to pick out exterior materials, bath colors and other items that are chosen right away," Rice said. Within the next month, the buyers generally select wall and floor coverings, cabinets and other items in the house. The completion date may be four to five months away, subject to weather conditions.

Changes inevitably will be requested following the contract signing, Rice said. Minor changes may not entail added expense. For major changes, the buyer will sign a work order that specifies the work to be accomplished and the price.

When the house is completed, a final inspection will be conducted by the building department, and a certificate of occupancy will be ordered to allow the family to move into their new home. The builder should take the buyers through the house for an inspection, Rice said. Then the buyers may be asked to sign an agreement that all work has been satisfactorily completed, with any exceptions noted in writing. The agreement protects the builder from damage claims that result from movers' negligence.

THE BUYER should expect at least a one-year warranty on the house, said Jack Lageschulte of Old Colony Builders, Barrington. As vice president of the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago, he advises home buyers to check whether the warranty is backed by the association or the new Homeowners Warranty plan.

If a builder doesn't live up to the terms of the warranty, he can be brought before the ethics and arbitration committee of the builders' association, Lageschulte said. The important time to check a builder's reputation is before you sign a contract, he cautioned. The Better Business Bureau, local chamber of commerce, area banks and savings and loan associations may offer information on a builder's work.

Another aspect of custom-home planning that may be considered is the architect's plans, Lageschulte said. Although the plans may be included in the total price of a home, there could be a separate charge.

The potential buyer may not be obligated to pay for plans if they asked for a set of specifications that would call for an $85,000 house and the builder comes up with a set of $100,000 plans. But the out-of-pocket expense for plans should be paid if the buyers change their minds after a reasonable bid is submitted, Lageschulte said. The charge might range from $500 to $1,000.

Helping transferees

'Volume buying' of homes saves companies costs

One way to save on the traditional 7 per cent add-on fee for a sales commission when buying a house is to buy 26 homes.

That's the solution offered by Nieman and Sons Inc., a Gallery of Homes real estate firm based in Hoffman Estates. Nieman salesmen and women will offer a discount of several percentage points on their commission to corporations who transfer employees into the area and employees buy enough homes to qualify for the corporate discount.

As explained by Dorothy Claes, director of corporate relocation, the real estate firm offers a discount on the sales commission charged to large corporations, if a batch of home sales is completed for employees during a one-year period. If there are at least 26 sales recorded in the Northwest suburban area during the year, for example, a 4.8 per cent sales commission would be levied. The figure compares to a traditional 7 per cent fee.

"WE SEEM TO BE at the right place at the right time," Mrs. Claes said of the 15-month-old Real Care Program. "People are looking for ways to save money." She estimates the savings as an average $880 for employee moves within the Chicago metropolitan area. The amount will vary according to the price of the home and other factors.

The Northwest suburbs offer a good test area for the pilot discount program, Mrs. Claes continued. She said the location of corporate and regional headquarters and the large number of transferees in the area boost the potential in this market. Participation in the program will be voluntary for employees, once a company has decided to participate in the program.

As the corporation generally picks up the tab for selling costs and other expenses associated with a transfer, the employee will be affected indirectly by any cost savings. Mrs. Claes said many companies are reevaluating their expenses for transfer programs as part of an over-all belt-tightening campaign. What the employee cares about is the service provided in the sale of his home and the search for a new house, she said. Although the relocation service offered by Nieman and Sons is not unique, the cost savings program is billed as a stimulant in the competitive corporate transfer market.

New warranty plan protects home buyers for 10 years

New home buyers will be protected for a 10-year period against shoddy construction practices under a new homeowners' warranty program approved March 5 by the Illinois Dept. of Insurance.

The program was lauded as a step to aid the consumer by Bill Kennedy, president of the Homeowners Warranty Assn. of Greater Chicago. The program will offer a one-year warranty on all materials and workmanship and a second-year warranty on electrical, plumbing and other systems. Insurance coverage in the following eight-year period would be paid by the home buyer at the rate of $2 per $1,000 of the purchase price. The fee on a $40,000 house, for example, will be $80 for coverage of major structural defects.

THE WARRANTY program will be offered on a voluntary basis by members of the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago and nonmember builders. In areas within Illinois and outside the Chicago metropolitan area, a similar program will be offered by the Home Builders Assn. of Illinois.

"The object of this whole program is to upgrade the industry by only allowing those builders who have shown integrity and financial stability into the program," said Thomas Murphy, director of the Home Owners Warranty Association of Greater Chicago. The program will offer payment for repairs and replacement of faulty materials to the home buyer, he said. The warranty period is backed up by insurance in the event that a builder declares bankruptcy or does not come up with payment for repairs.

The home buyer does not have to go to court to obtain the warranty benefits, he said. The buyer can submit a claim to the insurance company and may submit his case to binding arbitration with no waiver of rights. The program is filed in Illinois by the American Bankers Insurance Co. of Florida. Similar programs are offered in 26 states, Murphy said.

Realtors to offer course

Realtors National Marketing Institute (formerly National Institute of Real Estate Brokers) will present a 6-day course entitled "Fundamentals of Real Estate Investment and Taxation" — CI 101, at the Sheraton-Chicago, March 17-22.

CI 101 provides an introduction to the fundamentals of real estate investment from the standpoint of a broker who serves an investor-client. Among the fundamentals covered are: demonstration of the mathematical tools to calculate the rate of return on real estate investments, analysis of mortgage loans and other common real estate problems, analysis of operating statements of income-producing real properties, the impact of alternative forms of depreciation on the return from an investment and the preparation of investment analysis forms used in client analysis and projection. Registration for CI 101 may be made through the RNMI Department of Logistics, 155 E. Superior St., Chicago.

CI 101 is one of many educational opportunities offered by RNMI. With more than 33,000 members, RNMI is the largest professional organization affiliated with the National Association of Realtors and acts as its educational and marketing arm for Realtors and Realtor-Associates. In addition to courses, RNMI sponsors an on-going program of periodicals, texts, sales aids and audio-visual programs for Realtor-members and the public interested in real estate brokerage.

SUSAN GAMM, left, had sales in excess of two million dollars during 1974, according to Stan Lieberman, right, president of Lieberman Inc., Realtors. Mrs. Gamm is associated with the firm's office in Buffalo Grove.

This is the second year she has earned membership in the Million Dollar Club, and she was also named top salesperson for the firm's Buffalo Grove office during the month of January.

Don't wait to buy home

Home seekers who have taken to the sidelines in the hope that interest rates will decline still further may find at the end of the wait that they have cost themselves a good deal of money — even if interest rates drop.

"Don't wait!" said Art S. Leitch, president of the National Association of Realtors. "Even though interest rates have dropped slightly in recent months, the homeowner who waited for the drop the past year cost himself more money than he realizes."

Leitch noted the following figures: During 1974, the median price of a home nationally rose nearly 11 per cent. Best estimates currently available indicate that the price increase for 1975 will be only slightly below that rate.

"Assuming the best — that interest rates might drop from about nine per cent to eight per cent between now and the end of 1975 — the potential homeowner who waited for that drop has cost himself a good deal of money," Leitch said.

If the home seeker were to purchase a residence today at the median price of about $32,700, interest on a $25,000 mortgage for a year would be about $2,250 — at an interest rate of nine per cent, Leitch explained.

In the year ahead, the median price could climb another 10 per cent to about $36,000. That means, with the same 20 per cent downpayment, the interest would total more than $2,300 at an eight per cent interest rate, he added.

"And, if the home was purchased earlier, the buyer could have claimed interest and taxes on the residence as an income tax deduction. The result, then, is a loss of about another $500 for the average taxpayer."

"Finally, in waiting for the interest rate to fall by one percentage point and continuing to rent an apartment, the buyer does not build equity. The loss here could be several hundred additional dollars for the missed opportunity," Leitch said.

Thus, the San Diego Realtor added, the over-all cost of the buyer's waiting a year for a one per cent interest rate drop would be nearly $1,000.

"Of course, the buyer assumed in advance that interest rates will drop. Although they seem headed in that direction currently — and our own forecasts indicate that the drop will continue during 1975 — there always is the possibility that they will rise for the balance of the year," Leitch noted.

"Then the loss to the home seeker would be even greater: Delaying again the date for realization of a dream common to millions of American families. In short, the home seeker will have put himself a step further back from being a home owner," he said.

FRAGMAN CONSTRUCTION Corp., Arlington Heights, has been named construction manager for Plaza Verde, a new shopping center being developed in Buffalo Grove. The center will have a formal plaza created of dense plantings and concrete aggregate and masonry benches to encourage shoppers to lounge in the area. Shops will be along a main arcade with an ancillary service shopping area in a covered mall area. The arcade will be built of rough stained cedar and heavy textured modular stucco beams, while the major section of the center will be constructed of iron spot brick with bronzed aluminum curtain wall.

Fragman Construction appointed manager for Plaza Verde center

Fragman Construction Corp. has been named construction manager for Plaza Verde, a new community shopping center being developed at Arlington Heights and Dundee roads, in Buffalo Grove.

The new 128,000 square-foot arcade mall center will be anchored by an Eagle food store, Osoo drugs and a Jojo's family restaurant with space for some 30 additional retail tenants.

Designed by Brim/Braun Associates, architects at 5301 W. Dempster St., Skokie, Plaza Verde will have a formal plaza created to encourage shoppers to spend time lounging in the area. The plaza will be composed of dense plantings along with concrete aggregate and masonry benches. Shops will be along a main arcade with an ancillary service shopping area in a covered mall area. The arcade will be built of rough stained cedar and heavy textured modular stucco beams, while the major section of the center will be constructed of iron spot brick with bronzed aluminum curtain wall. The center will be concealed from the roads by heavy plantings, while high-pressure sodium lights will add softness and subtlety to the parking lot where space has been provided for some 350 autos.

Fun is still in season

Snow tubing A unique kind of winter fun you can try this weekend near Country Knoll... a unique kind of rental community. Bring your kids and your ice skates along in the apartment hunt, they both have a place at Country Knoll. There are plenty of ski enthusiasts here at Country Knoll. In fact, we're forming a ski club for both downhill and cross-country skiing. Of course, our lighted tennis courts are always ready in case of a sudden warm spell.

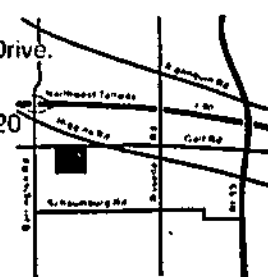

You'll find more fun indoors at the clubhouse, where you can play Ping-Pong or billiards in the game rooms. We also have a continuing program of social activities that includes organized card games. There's even a lounge that you can reserve for private entertaining.

In your apartment you enjoy spacious rooms, individually-controlled heating and a deluxe, fully-equipped kitchen. You experience the quiet afforded by sound-proof ceilings and outer walls of concrete 8 inches thick. And you get the added protection of security guards who patrol all night.

Come out and see our furnished models today. Sorry but no dogs, please.

FRAGMAN CONSTRUCTION Corp., Arlington Heights, has been named construction manager for Plaza Verde, a new shopping center being developed in Buffalo Grove. The center will have a formal plaza created of dense plantings and concrete aggregate and masonry benches to encourage shoppers to lounge in the area. Shops will be along a main arcade with ancillary service shopping in a small covered mall area.

Fragman Construction appointed manager for Plaza Verde center

Fragman Construction Corp. has been named construction manager for Plaza Verde, a new community shopping center being developed at Arlington Heights and Dundee roads, in Buffalo Grove.

The new 120,000 square foot arcade mall center will be anchored by an Eagle food store, Oso drugs and a JoJo's family restaurant with space for some 30 additional retail tenants.

Designed by Brum/Braun Associates, architects at 5911 W. Dempster St., Skokie, Plaza Verde will have a formal plaza created to encourage shoppers to spend time lounging in the area. The plaza will be composed of dense plantings along with concrete aggregate and masonry benches. Shops will be along a main arcade with an ancillary service shopping area in a covered mall area. The arcade will be built of rough stained cedar and heavy textured modular stucco beams, while the major section of the center will be constructed of iron spot brick with bronzed aluminum curtain wall.

The center will be concealed from the roads by heavy plantings, while high-pressure sodium lights will add softness and subtlety to the parking lot where space has been provided for some 550 autos.

Fun is still in season

Snow tubing A unique kind of winter fun you can try this weekend near Country Knoll a unique kind of rental community. Bring your kids and your ice skates along in the apartment hunt they both have a place at Country Knoll.

There are plenty of ski enthusiasts here at Country Knoll. In fact we're forming a ski club for both downhill and cross-country skiing. Of course our lighted tennis courts are always ready in case of a sudden warm spell.

You'll find more fun indoors at the clubhouse where you can play Ping-Pong or billiards in the game rooms. We also have a continuing program of social activities that includes organized card games. There's even a lounge that you can reserve for private entertaining.

In your apartment you enjoy spacious rooms, individually-controlled heating and a deluxe fully-equipped kitchen. You experience the quiet afforded by sound-proof ceilings and outer walls of concrete 8 inches thick. And you get the added protection of security guards who patrol all night.

Come out and see our furnished models today. Sorry but no dogs, please.

Arlington Federal Savings offers money-saving booklet

A free booklet on how to save money in your everyday affairs is available at Arlington Federal Savings.

Called "How To Save Money in Your Everyday Affairs," it was prepared by the United States League of Savings Associations as part of a nationwide campaign with the theme "There's No Living With Inflation."

"The booklet contains tips and suggestions that we hope will be helpful during this difficult economic period," said Donald F. Morton, president, Arlington Federal Savings.

The booklet includes:
Tips on saving money when shopping for food and in virtually all other aspects of everyday life.

Once a month you'll love us all over again.

Writing your rent check is just one of the pleasures waiting for you at Moon Lake Village.

Another one is living in your apartment. And enjoying the space, the comfort, the lush, wall to wall shag carpeting, the kitchen appliances.

Another is going outside. To your fresh, country atmosphere. To your private clubhouse. To your Olympic sized pool. To your tennis courts. To your playgrounds. To your well-stocked lake.

Another is knowing Woodfield Mall is just minutes away.

Moon Lake Village. You'd love it if it cost more. Because it doesn't, you'll be wild about it.

ONE OF THE newest industrial facilities to enter the Chicagoland area is

Building leased

Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates reports that Decimus Corporation has recently signed a long term lease for the one story 22,500 square foot building located at 1650 Louis Avenue in Center Industrial Park, Elk Grove Village. Decimus Corporation, a subsidiary of Bank of America, will utilize the facility as a computer operation servicing the banking community in this area. The total consideration was approximately $100,000.

Robert A. Stone of Bennett & Kahnweiler Associates represented the lessor and John Byrne of Cornes & Nielsen represented Decimus Corporation. Missner Construction Company of Skokie was the general contractor and developer of the building.

the Executive Industrial Plaza, located just off Algonquin Road and Linneman, in an unincorporated area of Cook County. Nestled around Mount Prospect, Elk Grove Village and Des Plaines, it is expected that the first tenants will be able to take possession around spring to early summer of 1975, according to Ralph M. Gerstenfeld, vice president of Kenroy, Inc. who are the developers of the site.

"Once upon a time..."

... I WAS NOT A PAMPERED LITTLE FOX!

I can't tell you my whole life's story, but I can say that the "creature comforts" here at FOXBORO NORTH APARTMENTS have done wonders for my disposition.

I've got my own recreation center with two saunas, a game room, a swimming pool, tennis courts, and my own park to dart around in when I've got the urge to "rough it" out there in the wilderness.

Mostly, I prefer the coziness of my apartment with my own private entry, shag carpeting to curl up on, a dishwasher and all the other appliances I need.

I picked one with a fireplace because besides being pampered, I guess deep down I'm just an incurable romantic. Come and pick a one or two bedroom flat of your own and be pampered like me.

VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT SPECIAL ASSESSMENT
No. 71

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the President and Board of Trustees of the VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, Cook County, Illinois, have ordered the levying of a special assessment as follows:

That the roadway of the public alley lying next North of and parallel to Northwest Highway between Millman Avenue and William Street and between William Street and Louis Street and between Louis Street and Edward Street and from George Street to approximately eighty-four (84) feet Northwest of the West property line of George Street and between George Street and Albert Street and between Albert Street and Mount Prospect Road; and also the alley lying next South of and parallel to Prospect Avenue between Pine Street and Elmhurst Avenue and between Busse Avenue and 104th Avenue and between 104th Avenue and McLean Avenue and also the alley lying next South of and parallel to Central Road between Highland Avenue and Van-Pelt Avenue.

Be improved by grading and by constructing a pavement together with all necessary adjustments and appurtenant construction.

All complete in place in the VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT, Cook County, Illinois.

The ordinance for the said improvement is on file in the office of the Clerk of the VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT at the Village Hall and the VILLAGE OF MOUNT PROSPECT has applied to the Circuit Court of Cook County, Illinois, County Department, County Division, Chicago Civic Center, and known as Special Assessment No. 71.

The final hearing will be had on the said proceeding on the 1st day of April, 1975, at the opening of Court or as soon thereafter as the business of the Court will permit.

All persons desiring to do so may file objections in the said Court before said day and may appear at the said hearing and make defense.

Said ordinance provides for the collection of the said assessment in ten (10) installments with interest thereon at seven per cent (7%) per annum.

Prospect handles Arlington for second time

Mid-Suburban champion marches into sectional title game with 54-50 win

by JIM COOK

Al Black insists that he plays better basketball when the pressure's on and Arlington will be the first to vouch for his assertion following Prospect's 54-50 sectional triumph Wednesday night before a packed house in Grace Gym.

"I feel more confident on the run or when I know we need a basket or a free throw," the picture-book shooter with 22 game-high points said without expression. Only moments earlier, though, Black's 20-foot swish at the tailend of a 60 second Prospect stall snapped a 50-50 deadlock.

And while there were still 40 seconds left for Arlington to answer, a cleanly blocked shot by 6-foot-8 Knight Doug Bonthron and two clutch free throws by the ice-veined Black settled the issue.

"When he's feeling good, I don't care what he considers a percentage shot," Prospect head coach Bill Sington said. "I told the kids to stall until they got the good shot and if Al gets free from 20 feet away, I can't blame him for shooting."

The Knights, who will carry a 20-4 record into the sectional championship against Maine South Friday at 7:30 p.m., set the early tempo on a 14-9 first-half rebounding edge.

Afforded two, three and even four shots at the basket off the superb rebounding by Dave Mann (11 rebounds), Bonthron (6) and Paul Withey (5), Prospect protected a 13-12 first-quarter advantage before crashing the glass for a 31-22 half-time edge.

Arlington's vaunted full-court press caused Prospect little concern in the first half primarily because of the dribbling exhibition by birthday boy Mike Quade, who got his 18th year wish.

"I told everyone a win tonight would be the only present I wanted, especially after I saw that they were ranked 11th and we were 14th. And that's after we beat them (in the Mid-Suburban title game, 78-73)."

The Cardinals changed their disguise at the outset of the second half and began applying half-court trap pressure. The strategy quickly netted a Mike Fogel-led 15-6 Arlington scoring spree and a 37-37 stalemate with 3:13 left in the third period.

But Black was back with a pair of turn-around 12-footers that boosted Prospect on top 43-37. Arlington countered as Jerry DeSimone banked from 15 feet, hot-handed Fogel potted a 13-footer and Denny Gaare canned a pair of free throws for a 43-43 tie after 24 minutes.

The lead seasawed through the opening five minutes of period four as Arlington's John Yeazel, Gaare and Fogel trumped a Black bomb and a Mann charity toss for a 49-46 cushion.

But that's when the blood in Black's veins began to chill. He pumped home a 15-footer and screened out as Bonthron tipped in a missed shot for a 50-49 Knight edge.

Card Terry Donahue's free throw with 1:31 left knotted the score at 50 and Prospect put the ball into the deep freeze until the percentage shot surfaced against Arlington's desperate man-to-man defense.

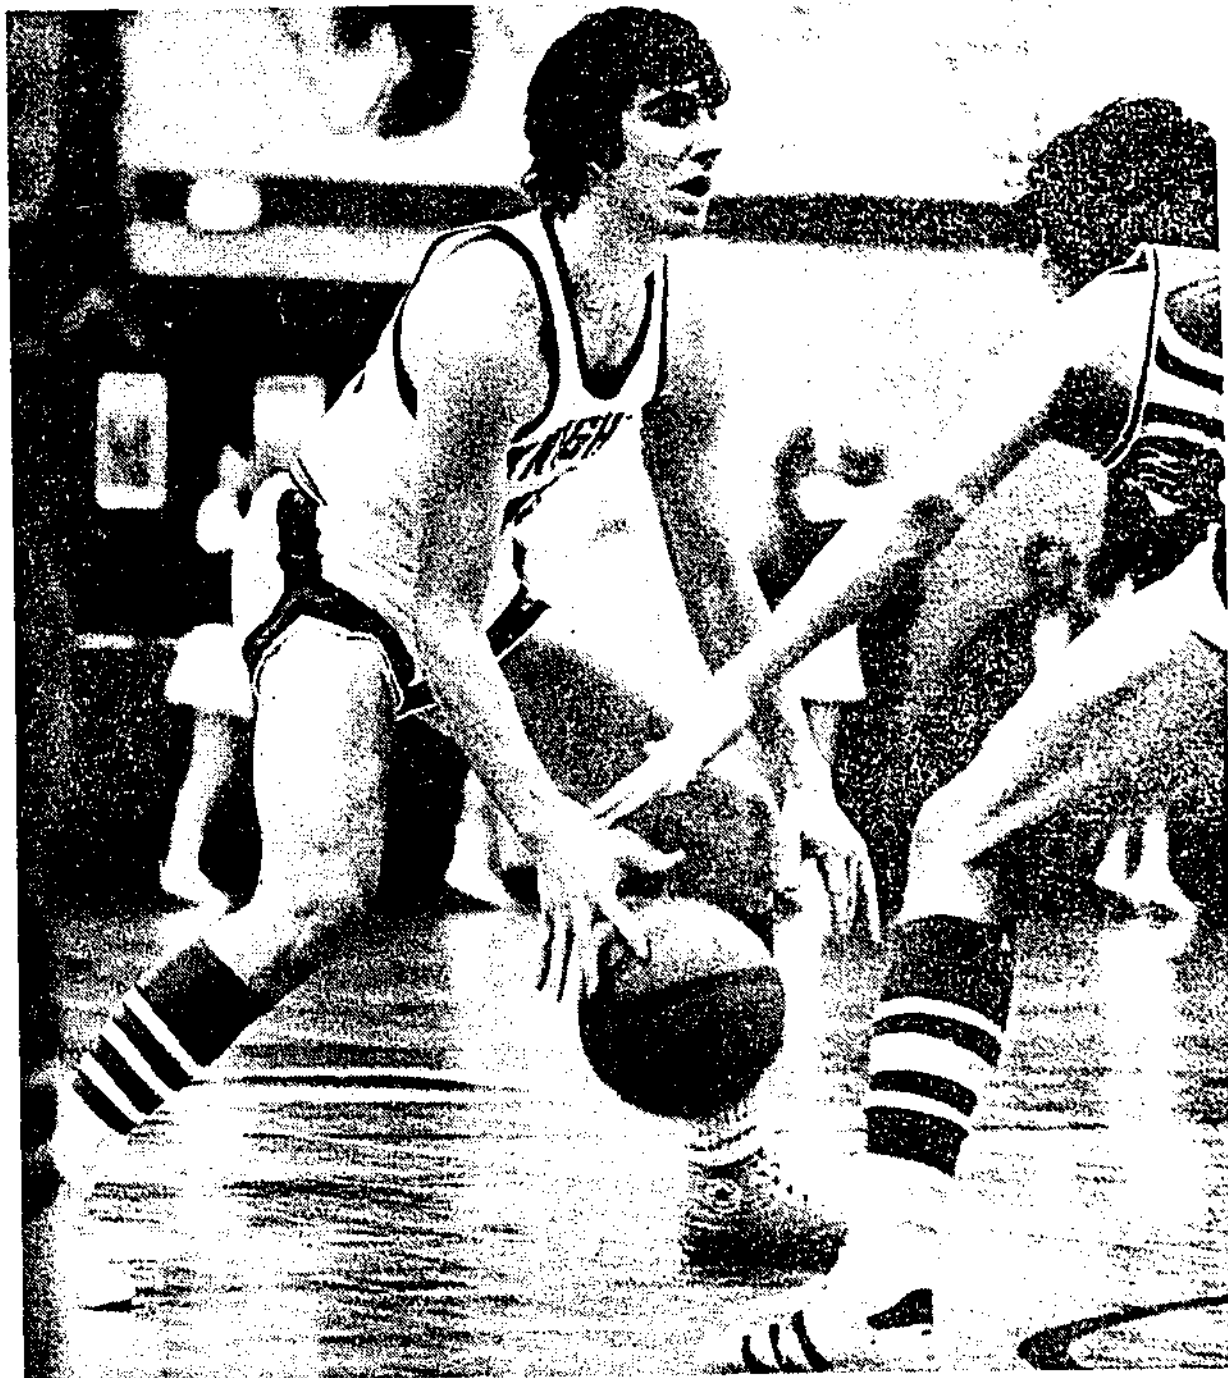

With precious seconds dwindling off the scoreboard, Black seemingly foiled the waiting game with his 20-foot jumper, with :40 remaining, but his swish coupled with Bonthron's game-saving blocked shot at the other end only served to foil Arlington's tremendous 20-5 season.

"I thought the game was just as well played as the first," Arlington coach George Zigman analyzed. "It might not have showed that way because there weren't as many points scored, but the defense played better."

To accompany its 38-23 rebounding edge, Prospect outshot Arlington 46 per cent to 42 and committed three less turnovers.

And if somebody can keep the pressure on Al Black, teammate Mike Quade may be celebrating his birthday a week later by drinking champagne in Champaign.

Knight named top coach

BOBBY KNIGHT

United Press International yesterday made the obvious choice and named Indiana perfectionist Bobby Knight its College Basketball Coach-of-the-Year. UPI also completed its All-America teams which feature North Carolina State's David Thompson as Player-of-the-Year.

Knight has compiled a 91-19 record at Indiana. The Hoosiers scored a major coup with players on each of UPI's three All-America teams. Junior forward Scott May joins North Carolina State's Thompson, UCLA's Dave Meyers, Notre Dame's Adrian Dantley and Maryland's John Lucas on the first squad.

Second team All-Americans are Indiana's Quinn Buckner, Utah's Luther "Ticky" Burden, Oregon's Ron Lee, Kentucky's Kevin Gervoy and Tennessee's Bernard King.

Indiana's Steve Green, Alabama's Leon Douglass, Stanford's Rich Kelley, Louisville's Junior Bridgeman and Southern California's Gus Williams are third team All-Americans.

Southern Illinois-Carbondale center Joe Meriweather was listed first among honorable mention All-Americans.

Blues edge Hawks, 4-3, in Stadium

Wayne Merrick and Pierre Plante each scored a goal and on assist Wednesday night to lead the St. Louis Blues to a 4-3 win over the Chicago Black Hawks in a National Hockey League game, their first win over Chicago in five contests this season.

The Hawks, trailing 4-1 in the last period, scored twice in 92 seconds on goals by Dick Hedmond and Grant Mulvey, with almost 14:00 left to play.

Germán Gagnon got Chicago's first score.

The win extended the Blues' unbeaten string to five games with four

Larkin socks Palatine in Elgin action

by ART MUGALIAN

ELGIN — The dream ended abruptly for Palatine here Wednesday when they lost 76-41 to physical and talented Elgin Larkin in the first round of the Elgin Sectional Basketball Tournament.

The Pirates, who finished 11-13 in the season, fell behind 12-3 in the first four minutes of the game and never seriously threatened the rampaging Royals the rest of the evening. Larkin opened up a 20-point margin six minutes into the third quarter and coasted home.

Larkin's 6-6 center Steve Laird hit three straight baskets in the first period and 6-2 teammate Charlie Weber tipped in another at 3:45, giving the Royals a quick advantage. Dave Huxtable had thrown in a pair of long jumpers at the outset to wipe out Palatine's only lead of the night at 3-2.

The key man for Larkin was Laird, a 230-pound senior who penetrated inside the Pirate zone defense almost at will in the first two quarters. Laird had 14 points in the first half on his way to game high honors at 20.

"We feel we didn't do a very good job on Laird," said Palatine coach Ron Finkrock. "He's a fine ballplayer and he has a lot of breadth, which helps him."

Contributing to Palatine's frustration was the superb defensive work of Huxtable, a 6-3½ senior, who kept Mark Mara from breaking loose. The Pirates' 6-3 leading scorer was held to 16 points. Constant pressure from Huxtable, with a hand from Laird, forced Mara to take several off-balance shots.

"Larkin is a very, very good club," conceded Finkrock after the game. "They played well but we helped them a lot. We didn't shoot very well and we didn't play good defense."

The statistics proved Finkrock's point. Larkin shot 63 per cent from the field, including 68 per cent in the first half; when they went to the locker room with a 38-22 edge. Palatine shot just 23 per cent for the night.

Trailing by eight at 4:40 of the first quarter, Palatine pulled within six, 22-16, on a baseline jumper by Ken Reid. After getting the ball back on a turnover, Mara missed a short jumper and Larkin recovered. Three straight Royal baskets, including a fastbreak layup by Huxtable and a jumper from the corner by Weber, sealed Palatine's fate.

Larkin, now 21-7 and headed for Friday's match with undefeated East Leyden, benefited from getting the ball inside to Laird consistently. Once he had the ball, the big Royals' center used his strength to muscle his way to the basket.

In addition to Laird's 30-point performance, the Royals got 16 each from Huxtable and Weber. Guards Garry Bohlin and Dave Lefelstein chipped in six each, but Lefelstein was the key playmaker, working the ball inside to Laird several times.

Lefelstein located Laird open underneath at the start of the second half and Larkin quickly had an 18-point lead. Then after three long jumpers by McKenna brought the Pirates back to within 16, Huxtable scored from the corner and Bohlin shoved a rebound through the hoop.

Palatine's deficit quickly mounted to 30 in the fourth quarter as Larkin added a fast break to their arsenal. Lefelstein netted a three-point play on a fastbreak layup and the race was on.

Palatine's incredibly slow start set the pace for the remainder of the night. "Right there at the beginning, Mara had the shots he likes," said Finkrock. "But they wouldn't go in. And McKenna had a bad first quarter shooting."

"You know, our boys were really up for this game," the Pirate coach continued. "They very sincerely wanted to win this game, so it's a big disappointment to them. This is a good group of kids."

Table hockey tourney still taking entries

Anybody with a dream of picking up the hockey puck behind his net and charging the length of the ice to ram home a goal, without the attendant bumps and spills, should get in touch with Rick Sorci.

Sorci is the organizer of the second annual United States Open Table Hockey tournament that will face off March 22-23 in the Holiday Inn at 1 S. Halsted St. in Chicago.

Table hockey, for the uninitiated, is a popular game that involves controlling a team of hockey players from one end of the rink with a battery of metal rods. The games will be five minutes long with singles competition running Saturday and the doubles Sunday.

Sorci is already filling applications from hockey players in California, New York and Canada and expects to have 100 to 120 entrants in the singles competition alone.

The Chicago edition of the tournament is just one of four events held throughout the year by the World Table Hockey Association. The other three are held in Detroit, Montreal and New York.

The WTHA is offering $2500 in prize money for their U.S. Open tournament with the top 16 singles players sharing in the pot as well as the top 12 doubles teams.

The entry fee for the event is $25 and is open to anybody 15 years or older. Information and entry forms may be acquired by writing Sorci at 1154 E. Pad-dock Drive in Palatine or by calling 358-1222.

Also, if someone is interested in learning more about the sport but doesn't know where to practice Sorci is looking for referees to work both sessions. Ref-ing involves dropping the puck for faceoffs and keeping score and for your effort Sorci will give you a free table hockey game.

Long jumpers sparkle in Falcon win over Huskies

by ART MUGALIAN

Forest View track coach Bill Mohrmann has this thing about the indoor season. He doesn't like it.

Mohrmann doesn't despise indoor track — he just doesn't like it. And he'd rather think about the Falcon Invite coming up in May.

"The outdoor season is what this is all about," says Mohrmann, even while his Falcon trackmen forged another convincing indoor dual-meet victory at Hershey Monday, 71-46.

"Outdoors is everything," Mohrmann repeated. "I don't care about what happens here. I don't even care about the indoor conference meet."

And though the Forest View coach says he doesn't care what happens — and you can bet he does — he still values the indoor season for every bit of what it is.

"This is good practice for us," Mohrmann said. "We've been scheduling a lot of indoor meets because we can't get the fieldhouse for practice very often."

The Falcons hold indoor practice at Elk Grove — when the facilities are available, which isn't often. Other times they run in the halls at Forest View.

Still, the Falcons are undefeated indoors this season and they will probably stay that way right up to the Mid-Suburban League indoor meet March 26 at Elk Grove.

You know they'll be ready for the outdoor season.

Monday at Hershey, the Falcon athletes showed why. Several of them turned in their best performances to date, including a 49-9 shotput effort by Mike Mischek and a superb 21-2½ long jump by Mike Harvey.

Sophomore Darryl Robinson rattled off his best time in the two-mile (9:54.9) and also lowered his fastest mile to 4:40.7. Teammate Steve Schellenberger was just a half-second off the Hershey fieldhouse record in the 440 at 54.5. He also turned in an 880 clocking of 2:05.9.

Forest View's junior hurdler Jim Vartanian dueling Hershey's Jim DiLenge, and Vartanian broke the tape a winner in both the 50-yard lows (:06.3) and the highs (:06.6). DiLenge was a second behind in the lows and two back in the highs. Hershey's John Wozniak also posted good times in both events.

It was Vartanian again equalling his season's best when he won the 50-yard dash in :05.6. He nipped Harvey at the wire.

Harvey had bested DiLenge in what may have been the highlight of the meet with his outstanding long-jump effort. DiLenge, too, reached a personal zenith with 21-1.

Hershey took four firsts, including a four-lap relay win in which Forest View was disqualified. Still, the Huskies registered a good clocking. Other winners were Paul Martin in the pole vault (11-6), Glen Troy in the high jump (5-6), and DiLenge, with 40-3 in the triple jump, his season's best.

Schaumburg 1, Elmhurst 6

The Purple Squirts shut out the Huskies as they outshot them, 13 to 9. It was scoreless until the middle of the third period, when the Kings scored the game's only goal. Dave Bowman scored with assists by John Slavin and Vince Russo. John Macdonald was credited with the shutout.

Schaumburg 2, Winnetka 1

The Purple Kings beat the Blades the second time they met in State Tournament play, soundly outshooting them 22 to 10, to put them in the quarterfinals. Mike Cress, John Slavin, Ray Garcelon, Dave Cress and Vince Russo scored goals for the Kings. Assists were by John Murphy, Todd Connell, Howard Leek, Vince Russo and Dave Bowman.

Schaumburg 3, Westmont 6

The A P I Industries, Inc. Squirts shut out the Huskies in their second State Tournament game, while playing host to the Bronze Division games at the Woodfield Hockey Center. Both King goals were scored by John Slavin with assists from Mike Bastone and Dave Bowman.

LANDWEHR HOME APPLIANCE

PEE-WEES (Ages 11 &amp; 12)

Schaumburg 4, Schaumburg 3

The Purple Pee-wees skated hard, only to lose in the last few minutes. King goal scorers were Don Harmon with two and Ted Eltzroth one. Credited with assists were Dave Tomaka with two and Eric Olson one. Skokke outshot the Kings, 23 to 15.

Schaumburg 1, Schaumburg 1

The Landwehr Home Appliance Pee-wees started the game in high gear with an early unanswered goal by Dave Tomaka, but went downhill from that point.

Schaumburg 3, Schaumburg 3

The Purple Pee-wees were ahead for much of the game, but spent most of the third period skating shorthanded. King goal scorers were Alex Harbour, Ted Eltzroth and Dave Tomaka with one each.

ROBERTS &amp; SCHAEFER

Schaumburg 1, Elk Grove 4

their first loss in Polar Dome League play. The score was 2 to 1. Elk Grove's favor, with two minutes remaining in the third period. Then, the puck was shot the length of the ice to an open net for Elk Grove's third goal. The fourth goal came moments later, also to an open net. The Kings' only goal was scored by Scott Weir, assisted by Tony Chantini.

The Roberts & Schaefer Bantams beat Deerfield in North Suburban League play, outshooting their opponent, 17 to 11. King goals were by Bob Shipbaugh, Glenn Busch and Mark Vuglar. Assisting with the goals were Jerry Hellinski, Bob Covak, Scott Weir and Mark Vuglar.

Schaumburg 1, Rockford 2

The Purple Bantams were tied 1 to 1, until 1:42 in the 3rd period. The Hornets scored while the Kings were shorthanded. The Kings only goal was scored by Bob Shipbaugh, assisted by Ray Wehrs and Jerry Hellinski. Goalies Kevin Granstrom and John McClean each gave up one goal apiece.

Schaumburg 11, Elmhurst 6

The Roberts & Schaefer Bantams completely dominated, making 11-of-42 shots on goal. John McLenn was credited with the shutout. Jerry Hellinski and Mark Vuglar made hat tricks; Mark also had one assist. Bob Covak had one goal and two assists; Bob Shipbaugh had two goals and one assist. Tony Granstrom had one goal. Mitch Borske earned a Plus/minus Patch by making four assists. Other assists were by Scott Weir, Boyd Archibald, and Glenn Busch.

PEE-WEES (Ages 11 &amp; 12)

Schaumburg 2, Streamwood 2

The Gold Pee-wees tied the Blades in a tough skating game, outshooting them, 22 to 20. Dennis Heurilin scored both King goals. Assists came from Bob Corbel, Bob Vuglar, and Scott Alderson.

Schaumburg 4, St. Louis 4

The Arrow Sheet Metal Pee-wees played two close games with the Rockets during the January holiday tournament. The Kings skated well and had plenty of shots on goal — 31 for the first game, 23 in the second game. Goals in the first game were by Kevin Ryan, Scott Atkinson, Bob Vuglar and Dennis Heurilin. Assisting were Garrett Wade, Doug Parliament, Kevin Ryan and Dennis Heurilin. King goals in the second game were by Jon Mikerson, Doug Parliament, Bob Vuglar and Garrett Wade. Assists were made by Dan Reilly, John Gould, Bob Vuglar, Kevin Ryan and Bob Corbel.

COACHES GAME

The Coaches from the Purple Division took on the Purple Bantams last Sunday evening and played to a 2-2 tie for the sellout crowd of Schaumburg Hockey League parents and players. The Bantams outshot the coaches, 25 to 17. Bantam goals were by Ray Wehrs and Mitch Borske. Jerry Hellinski and Bob Shipbaugh assisted with the first goal. Mark Vuglar and Scott Weir assisted with the 2nd goal. Allen Sobol, brother of Purple Squirt Coach Dennis Sobol, scored the first goal for the Coaches unassisted. Ed Weir scored the Coaches second goal assisted by Juniors Coach, Doug Caudell.

OLD FITZGERALD BOURBON

Net boom hits writer's home court

There was a time when some people referred to tennis as a "sissy sport."

That unjust label is gone forever now. How can you call it anything but a tremendously popular sport when possibly 40 million people take to the courts this summer?

Nelson Campbell and Larry Maholland, local managers of tennis clubs, remember the sport's non-glorious days.

"A lot of people always considered it a sissy sport," recalled Maholland, who runs the Forest View Tennis Club in Arlington Heights. "If you played, you'd better now show up on the baseball field."

Campbell, who manages River Trails Tennis Club in Mount Prospect, cited Ron Laver's dramatic 3½-hour, five-set televised match with Ken Rosewall for the World Championship Tennis finals a few years back as doing a lot "to convince these guys with the six packs. They came away saying, 'That's a lot tougher than playing right field.' And it really is."

It took more than that to wise me up. After Little League, golf became the big thing for my peer group. Now I look back at those 18 years on the links as a waste of time.

Golf can't come close to tennis in terms of exercise as well as being psychologically uplifting. You either win or lose in tennis; you always lose in golf unless you match or better par.

However, I'm not alone in discovering tennis. According to the United States

Paul Logan

Associate Sports Editor

Lawn Tennis Association (USLTA), a recent Nielsen survey showed that 33,919,000 of us played the game last year. In '73, that number was "only" a little over 20 million.

In one year, the sport grew a whopping 68 per cent. Continuing in this fashion, the courts this summer should be overflowing.

Just how great the tennis boom is really hit home this winter. It's been my second year at once a week indoor play at the Forest View club. During that first season, I could call a couple of days beforehand and easily get court time. No more.

This winter the indoor facility operated by the Arlington Park District has been so crowded I've had to arrange for time a week in advance.

Forest View's six-court complex started out that first year only half full, according to Maholland. "This year we're right around 97 or 98 per cent."

Having close to 99 per cent or more court time filled appears to be a pretty common occurrence for most clubs in the Chicagoland area.

Berkley Racquet Club, which opened in December of 1973, broke ground just five months later to build more courts. Its eight courts are presently "running better than 95 per cent," according to Manager Rick Logue. "Our membership has doubled over last year."

The oldest club outside Barrington is River Trails. Since it opened in the fall of 1971, seven more clubs have been added or 66 courts. "And four more are being talked about," says Campbell.

Presently there are 62 clubs in Chicagoland — easily the most around a major American city. Twenty-three of these — like River Trails — also have outdoor courts.

"This confounds people completely," continues Campbell, referring to the large number (New York has only 20 clubs). "Nobody can figure out why Chicago has more than anyone else."

River Trails has about 88 per cent of its court time filled. "This is our best year by a little bit despite the recession," says Campbell. "Ten or 15 years ago, recreation like this would have gotten the axe right away."

This happening — people taking up tennis by the thousands despite the economy — is most amazing. Berkley's Logue has one answer concerning this subject:

"I was really kind of teetering on a fence there wondering whether people would be cutting back on the number of hours they'd be playing or not considering joining this year. But it didn't happen. I think a lot of people are not taking a winter vacation. People don't consider tennis a luxury; they consider it a necessity now to stay in shape and to keep active."

Why is the tennis boom occurring? You can point to many reasons — increased leisure time, indoor courts, the accent on physical fitness, its wide age group acceptance, its relatively inexpensive equipment or simply its being the "in" sport of the '70s.

The more I think of the statistics, the more I want to be sure that next year I have permanent court time. And the way this boom's booming, I'd better get a time for next winter this winter!

Champion skaters in Chicago

The winners of the various divisions of the World Figure Skating Championships held in Colorado Springs will skate in a special exhibition performance at Chicago Stadium March 23 at 2:00.

It will be the first time that all the world champions from at least six different countries have been in Chicago together.

Also on the program will be a chorus line made up of members of the Chicago Figure Skating Club.

World Titles which could bring them to Chicago for the March 23 show are U.S. National Champions Dorothy Hamill and Gordon McKellen Jr., U.S. Pairs champions Melissa Militano and Johnny Johns, the Soviet Union's World Pairs titlists since 1973 Irina Rodnina and Alexander Zaitsev and East Germany's Christine Errath, current World and European champion.

Tickets for the World Figure Skating Championships' tour are on sale at Chicago Stadium and Ticketron for $6.00, $5.00 and $4.00 with children half price.

Randhurst forms hockey loop

A 13-week Spring House League program for boys age seven through adults will begin at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena, Mt. Prospect, on April 7, according to Hockey Director Vic Ollikainen. Reservations on a first-come basis are now being accepted for players in all age divisions: Mites (7-8) Squirts (9-10); PeeWees (11-12); Bantams (13-14); Midgets (15-16); Juniors (over 16 thru 19); and Men (20 and over).

Mr. Ollikainen, a leading player in the U.S. Hockey League and on other semi-professional teams for the past five years, said that the objects of Randhurst's supervised house league program are to give every boy an opportunity to participate under expert guidance and enjoy the excitement of competition, while learning good sportsmanship and developing hockey skills. Previous playing experience is not required.

In addition to coaching by qualified hockey players on Randhurst's staff in league games and playoffs, the program involves official standings and statistics, which culminates in an Awards Night program and presentation of patch insignias and trophies to individual players and teams. Each participant also receives an imprinted team jersey which he keeps. Total cost of the program is $55 for Mites through Bantams and $65 for Midgets, Juniors and Men.

Application blanks and further information are available at Randhurst Twin Ice Arena, located at the southeast corner of the Randhurst Shopping Center parking lot on Kensington Road, near Rts. 12 and 83, in Mt. Prospect, or by calling 259-5534.

ALEX GIMBUT of Rolling Meadows goes through what proved to be his last free ex routine of the season as he failed to qualify for the state finals despite a score of 8.10 in the preliminary rounds Friday at Prospect.

Woodfield Babe Ruth elects officers, sets 4th season

The Woodfield Babe Ruth League will begin its fourth baseball season on June 1st, immediately following conclusion of the high school programs.

Several new teams have indicated interest in joining Palatine, Rolling Meadows, Elk Grove and Hoffman Estates within the league.

Dave Mills has been elected league commissioner, Harry Fidler assistant commissioner and Denny Porter commissioner of 13-year olds. Porter will serve as publicity director and equipment manager.

Other officers include president Ward Weaver, vice president El Berg and secretary-treasurer Norm Pellham. At-large representatives are Lou Bocci, Tony Kees and George Rush.

Interested boys should contact these officials in their various towns: Rolling Meadows, El Berg, 3602 Brookmeade or call 253-7166; Hoffman Estates, sign up at Omega Sports Shop or call Tony Stompanato, 685-9137; Elk Grove, Tony Kees, 1016 Brantwood or call 439-5541; Palatine, Denny Porter, P.O. Box 427 or call 358-7097.

Stocks rally falters; Dow drops 7.20

NEW YORK (UPI) — Prices dropped Wednesday on the New York Stock Exchange despite a late rally attempt.

The Dow Jones Industrial average, a five-point loser Tuesday, fell another 7.20 to 761.60, bringing its two-day loss to 12.44 points. The Dow, which had been off more than seven points, recovered somewhat in the late afternoon.

Other averages also dropped. Standard & Poor's 500-stock index dropped 0.77 to 83.59. The average price of a NYSE common share lost 24 cents. Declines outdistanced advances, 913 to 456, among the 1,802 issues crossing the tape.

Volume was 21,560,000 shares, down sharply from the 31,280,000 traded Tuesday.

Since the Dow had gained around 350 points since reaching its 1974 low of 577.60 on Dec. 6, many traders began selling stocks to take their profits and there were numerous buyers.

SOME INVESTORS may have been discouraged by reports new construction orders in January fell to a four-year low. Despite a dramatic decline in interest rates, many investors do not think they are low enough.

S. S. Kresge was the most active NYSE issue, falling 1 1/8 to 24 1/2.

Sony Corp., a favorite this year, was the second most active issue, unchanged at 9 7/8 and Delta Airlines was third most active, off 1/8 to 40 1/4.

PRICES CLOSED lower on the American Stock Exchange. The average price of an Amex share dropped six cents. Volume totaled 2,386,000 shares, down from the 3,412,000 traded Tuesday.

On the Chicago Board Options Exchange, 43,803 contracts were traded, compared with 57,906 Tuesday. IBM April 22s led the actives, off 3/8 to 8. Polaroid April 20s followed, unchanged at 2 1/2. McDonald's April 40s were third, off 5/8 to 4.

Buffalo Grove bank opens interim office

Events: The new Buffalo Grove National Bank recently held ribbon-cutting ceremonies for its temporary facility inside Buffalo Grove Mall shopping center. Attending were Gary H. Reitz, cashier; Francis W. Morley, board chairman; Jack H. Sharp, president; R. Gary Armstrong, village president; and Milton F. Darr Jr., LaSalle National Bank president. . . . Central Telephone Co. of Illinois has installed its 200,000th phone and has 140,000 operating in Des Plaines and surrounding communities. . . . Chicago Savings and Loan Assn. will hold an open house March 25 celebrating the grand opening of its Des Plaines office at 1065 Oakton St. . . . Kelley Services Inc., with offices in Des Plaines and Schaumburg, is initiating a massive program to recruit people with secretarial skills. "In spite of the present employment picture, the need for these highly skilled people will continue," said David Cosgrove, corporate vice president.

This is the week designated "Employ The Older Worker Week" bringing attention to thousands of unemployed people between 45 and 64 years old who are available to fill job openings. Older workers have good skills and are reliable, said Everett F. Callaway, manager of the Illinois State Employment Service office, Des Plaines. Employers interested in hiring people over 40 should call the office, 624-7191. . . . The "Hire Now" program of the Illinois Bureau of Employment Security in Chicago is taking orders for jobs employers are having a difficult time filling because of unusual skills involved. A 24-hour switchboard for job listing is receiving calls at 793-4000. Some vacancies filled through the program include a licensed stationary engineer to operate high pressure equipment in a hospital and a person to control chemical processing equipment.

People: John B. Scott, Arlington Heights, appointed financial operations officer for the Kemper Insurance Co., Long Grove. . . . John V. Ryan named general sales manager of Vision-Wrap Industries Inc., Palatine.

Go ahead, be Irish!

Everyone's Irish on St. Patrick's Day. Whatever your nationality, it's the "luck of the Irish" you will have if you feast on delights from the Emerald Isle coupling earthy potatoes and beef — fresh or corned. For the Irish know the secret of making scrumptious, hearty meals out of modest fare. Traditionally robust menus, centered around such staples as potatoes and beef, reflect an uncanny sense of what is nutritious also.

Economical stews and pot roasts provide a great way to celebrate St. Patrick's Day at the table. A boneless rump, is marinated in spiced apple cider, spiked with whole cloves and leisurely simmered to juicy tenderness. Irish potatoes, carrots and leeks or green onions cook alongside, picking up the flavor and adding nourishment to the pot. For a perfect accompaniment, add Sesame Potato Twist Loaf, a yeast bread baked to a crusty golden brown and served warm. Sieved potatoes in the dough give this bread its special flavor and extra tender texture.

Springtime Beef Pot-Roast

- |                              |                                      |
|------------------------------|--------------------------------------|
| 3 to 5-pound beef rump roast | 1 beef bouillon cube, crushed        |
| 1 1/2 cups apple cider       | 6 whole cloves                       |
| 2 tablespoons salad oil      | 8 potatoes, pared                    |
| 1 tablespoon sugar           | 8 small carrots, pared               |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt         | 1 pound leeks, cut in 2-inch pieces* |
| 1 teaspoon celery salt       | 1/2 cup flour                        |
| 1/2 teaspoon allspice        | 1/2 cup apple cider                  |
| 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon        |                                      |
| 1/2 teaspoon pepper          |                                      |

Combine cider, oil, sugar, salt, celery salt, allspice, cinnamon, pepper and bouillon cube in small saucepan and cook slowly 5 minutes, stirring to dissolve bouillon cube. Cool. Stick cloves in fat of meat and place in plastic bag, add marinade, close bag securely and place in pan or bowl in refrigerator 6 to 8 hours or overnight, turning meat several times. Place beef in Dutch oven, add marinade, cover tightly and cook slowly 2 1/2 hours. Add potatoes, carrots and leeks and cook 45 minutes longer or until beef and vegetables are tender. Remove beef and vegetables to hot platter. Combine flour with 1/2 cup apple cider, gradually add to cooking liquid and cook, stirring constantly until thickened, for gravy.

*8 large green onions may be substituted for the leeks. Add them after potatoes and carrots have cooked 30 minutes.

Shamrock Corned Beef-Potato Mold

- |                                  |  |
|----------------------------------|--|
| 3 to 4-pound corned beef brisket | 1 cup boiling water                              |
| 5 to 6 medium potatoes           | 1 bottle (8 ounces) green goddess salad dressing |
| 1 medium green pepper            | 1/2 cup mayonnaise                               |
| 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin   | 1/2 cup sour cream                               |
| 1/2 cup cold water               | Lettuce leaves                                   |

Place corned beef in Dutch oven, barely cover with boiling water and simmer until tender, allowing 40 to 50 minutes per pound. Chill. Cook potatoes in boiling salted water until tender, pare and cut in 1/2-inch cubes to obtain approximately 4 cups diced potatoes. Cut green pepper crosswise to obtain shamrock-shaped ring, 1 1/2 inch thick, and reserve. Chop remaining green pepper and reserve. Carve 8 slices, 1/2 inch thick on diagonal across grain, of cooked corned beef and reserve. Chop remaining corned beef to obtain approximately 3 to 3 1/2 cups and combine with diced potatoes and chopped green pepper. Soften gelatin in cold water, add boiling water, stir until dissolved and cool to lukewarm.

Reserve 2 tablespoons gelatin and combine remainder with green goddess dressing, mayonnaise and sour cream. Add dressing to corned beef-potato mixture, stirring lightly to combine thoroughly. Brush bottom of oiled 2 1/2-quart bowl or mold with reserved gelatin and place green pepper ring in bottom. Place each of the reserved slices of corned beef vertically in bowl, extending from edge of green pepper ring almost to top of bowl. Place 1/2 cup corned beef-potato mixture into bowl over meat slices, being careful to keep slices in position, and pack mixture into bowl firmly. Repeat with each other third of mixture. Cover bowl and chill 6 hours or overnight. Unmold salad on lettuce leaves.* 8 servings.

*Dip bowl in warm water and invert on serving plate. Carefully insert rubber spatula between salad and bowl to allow entry of air to facilitate removal of molded salad from bowl.

Note: To prepare half the recipe with leftover cooked corned beef, arrange slices of meat in an oiled 9x5-inch loaf pan and proceed as directed.

Sesame Potato Twist Loaf

- |                             |                                       |
|-----------------------------|---------------------------------------|
| 2 packages active dry yeast | 1/2 cup butter or margarine           |
| 5 1/2 cups sifted flour     | 1 1/2 cups sieved hot cooked potatoes |
| 2 tablespoons sugar         | 1 egg white, slightly beaten          |
| 2 teaspoons salt            | Sesame seeds                          |
| 1 1/2 cups milk             |                                       |

In mixing bowl, thoroughly blend undissolved yeast with 2 cups of the flour, the sugar and salt. Heat milk with butter and sieved potatoes over low heat until very warm (120 to 130 degrees). (Butter need not be completely melted.) Add liquid to dry ingredients. With electric mixer at medium speed, beat 2 minutes. Add remaining flour, kneading it in by hand (10 minutes) or with dough hook of mixer, if available. Place dough in a buttered bowl, turning to butter all sides. Cover and let rise in a warm place (about 85 degrees) until doubled in bulk, about 50 minutes. Punch dough down thoroughly, divide into four parts; roll each between buttered palms to form a strand about 15 inches long. Spiral-wrap two strands together to form a twist-loaf, tucking ends under. Place in a buttered loaf pan (9x5 inches). Use remaining 2 strands for second loaf. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled, about 20 to 30 minutes. Gently brush tops of loaves with egg white. Sprinkle generously with seeds. Bake at 375 degrees for 40 to 45 minutes until golden brown. Turn loaves out of pans onto a wire rack to cool. Makes 2 loaves.

Straight from County Clare

Her Irish delicacies are originals

by LOIS SEILER

A lilting brogue and a bit of Irish wit color the cheerful conversation of Mary Quinn, transplanted from County Clare, Ireland, to the rectory of St. Raymond's Church in Mount Prospect.

Employed as a cook for the parish priests, Mary came to the United States in 1956 and has been at St. Raymond's for the past year. However, she has been cooking for priests in other parishes about 14 years, pleasing them with the foods of their choice.

Although Mary learned to cook over an open fire on the family farm in Ireland before they acquired a stove, she easily adapted to American methods. Occasionally she will prepare an Irish stew or corned beef and cabbage, but primarily her cuisine is geared to Midwestern taste. An American citizen for the past five years, Mary has never regretted coming to the United States, but she returns to Ireland almost every year to visit her family.

AND COME MARCH 17, she is certain to prepare one of her Irish baked delicacies in observance of St. Patrick's Day. It may be either an appealing Porter Cake or moist and flavorful Irish Soda Bread.

The Porter Cake calls for a black beer with a white foam known as Porter or Stout in Ireland. Similar to a fruit cake only darker in color, it also contains raisins, mixed peel, lemon rind and mixed spices.

"When it bakes, you can smell the aroma for a half mile," Mary said with a chuckle.

Heavy in texture, and very rich and moist, the cake tastes even better with age. If wrapped in foil, it will keep for months. In Ireland, Porter Cake is served with tea, or it may be eaten for dessert.

HER IRISH SODA Bread is easy to make and delicious to taste. Chock full of raisins, buttermilk contributes to its moist texture. According to Mary, butter is used generously in Ireland, and spread heavily on the bread when served with tea. It may be used as a dinner bread or an afternoon snack.

Mary does her grocery shopping weekly for the rectory, keeping the freezer well-stocked for unexpected guests. Bowling has been her favorite recreation for years, and she bowls regularly with St. Raymond's league. Although cooking and baking are her vocation, she loves it. It's no blarney that her Irish Soda Bread and Porter Cake will make a big hit with all who try it this St. Patrick's Day.

PORTER CAKE

1/2 pound margarine
1 pound flour
1/2 pound brown sugar
2 level teaspoons mixed spices
1/2 pound mixed peel
Rind of one lemon
1 pound raisins
1 cup Porter or Stout
1 teaspoon baking soda
4 eggs

Cut margarine into flour with pastry blender, knives or fingers, until it resembles fine bread crumbs. Add sugar, spices, mixed peel, lemon rind and raisins.

Heat Porter to lukewarm; add baking soda. Mix into batter while still foaming. Add eggs one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Mix well.

Turn into a greased and floured 9-inch round pan. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Reduce heat to 300 degrees and bake another half hour. Let cool in tin for one hour. If wrapped in foil, it will stay moist for months.

IRISH SODA BREAD

2 1/2 tablespoons butter
3 cups flour
3 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon baking soda
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
Pinch of cream of tartar
1 1/2 cups raisins
1 1/4 cups buttermilk

2 eggs, beaten
1 teaspoon caraway seeds (optional)

Cut butter into flour and all dry ingredients. Add raisins, buttermilk and eggs. Beat with a wooden spoon or knead with hands on a floured board. Turn into a greased and floured bread tin. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Yield: one loaf.

THE KITCHENS in the rectory of St. Raymond's Church, Mount Prospect, are a nice change for Mary Quinn, who learned to cook over an open fire on the family farm in Ireland. Here she slices a loaf of Irish Soda Bread.

Serve savory stew for St. Patrick's Day

by AILEEN CLAIRE

A robust, bearded and very jolly Irishman used little blarney when discussing his encounters with food in an American cross-country trip.

According to Ernie Evans, a third-generation hotelier-restaurantier born in the family Towers Hotel, Glenbeigh, County Kerry, he found service excellent in American restaurants but the quality of the food left much to the imagination.

"Food is beautifully dressed," Evans explains, "and in some places the atmosphere is great with lights, music and pretty waitresses but the food is no good. It is the Americans put too much emphasis on the presentation?"

EVANS PARTICULARLY did not like all the sweet mayonnaise and Roquefort cheese dressing on salads. What he did like was the quick service in U.S. "pubs," and the cash position of customers. "In Ireland," he explains, "you produce money and get the works — you have to pay when served. In the United States you can run up a tab. Also, Irishmen seldom tip a barman."

He also couldn't believe the "American cocktail habit. I thought it went out with the cigarette holders. In Ireland the shift is from hard drinking to wine and beer, maybe because of the economy. It's no longer 'the best night out is to drink the most.'"

Evans was instrumental in restoring Blackrock Castle, Cork City, and starting its restaurant. He wanted tourists to learn that Irish food is good. Personally he likes fish — a simple bon femme thermidor, plain broiled halibut steak or fresh Irish sea salmon which he calls the best in the world. And there's always some Irish stew about. Here is his recipe:

IRISH STEW

Cut 8 loin of lamb chops from the boning end of the loin. Lightly flour and lay them aside. Chop into 1/2 inch size cubes:

2 carrots
2 onions
Center of a leek stalk
Small portion of leaf cabbage

1/2 stick celery

4-5 quartered potatoes

Saute the lamb in baking dish till it is very lightly brown in 1 ounce butter. Add onions, then celery, leeks and potatoes, keeping back the cabbage. Mix well together, and cover the baking dish and stew for about 20 minutes. Lightly flour with one teaspoon of flour and stir well with a good wooden spoon. Add 2 cups boiling water, bring all to boil, cover and place in slow oven to bake for 1 1/4 hours at 350 degrees. The advantage of this dish is that it can be prepared in advance up to the point where it is about to be put in the oven and it can then be left aside until about 1 1/2 hours before it is required. This dish should be served with only boiled potatoes with their jackets on. Makes 4 servings.

Here's real Irish coffee

An Irishman who recently visited the United States found many of the local pubs in various states not up to snuff with their Irish Coffee. In fact, Ernie Evans, a restaurateur from Cork, says the worst attempt at this soothing drink was in California where it was made with tequila and no sugar. Here is a standard recipe in use in Ireland for many years that should soothe any wanderin' son of Erin:

IRISH COFFEE

Coffee—Strong as a friendly hand.
Whiskey—Smooth as the wit of our land.
Sugar—Sweet as the tongue of a rogue.

Cream—Rich as an Irish brogue.

Into a 6 or 8-ounce glass goblet, pour one ounce of Irish whiskey. Stir in one teaspoon sugar. Leaving the spoon in the glass, add strong black coffee to within about one inch of the rim. Stir well. Beat cold heavy cream with a wire whisk until aerated but not whipped. Hold warm spoon upside down over glass and slowly pour the cream over the back of the spoon until it fills the glass up to the rim. Do not stir after adding cream, as the unique flavor is obtained by drinking the whiskey and hot coffee through the cool cream.

Do natural sweeteners really help?

Americans are becoming increasingly concerned whether or not the usual foods they eat really provide the nutrients they need. Prompted by the rising consumption of snack and convenience foods, many families are looking for new ways to supplement their diets.

The most popular self-prescription for inadequate nutrition, other than swallowing a vitamin capsule with the morning orange juice, is eating and cooking with honey or other natural sweeteners in place of regular table sugar.

It sounds simple enough. Refined white sugar is almost pure sucrose, an energy-producing carbohydrate, with no other nutrients. Just switch to honey, molasses, brown, maple or raw sugar and get the nutrients that remain after processing these less-refined sweeteners.

Unfortunately, it's not that easy according to a study by the Family Economics Bureau of Northwestern Life Ins. Co., Minneapolis. A comparison of the nutritional qualities of regular table sugar with a variety of natural sweeteners shows that substituting one for another does little to enrich the total diet.

Table sugar, honey, molasses, brown, maple or raw sugar all contain varying amounts of two basic ingredients — carbohydrate and water. The kind and amount of carbohydrate in a sweetener determines both its degree of sweetness and how much energy it provides per serving.

The Family Economics Bureau found natural sweeteners higher in "extra" nutrients than regular table sugar, but also found they contain proportionately more water and less carbohydrate.

Carbohydrate from the sugars and starches we eat is our main source of energy for body processes and muscular activity. A teaspoonful of sugar yields about 20 calories of energy. The typical family gets 50 to 60 per cent of the calories it needs each day from foods containing carbohydrate. Fat and protein provide the rest.

Nutrition authorities agree that sugar is a highly efficient and inexpensive source of energy, but any question the tance on the small amount of nutrients in these sweeteners.

"Honey and raw sugar do provide some nutrients not contained in refined white sugar," according to Dr. O. Lee Kline, executive officer of the American Institute of Nutrition, Bethesda, Md., "but it is nonsense to put much importance on the small amount of nutrients in these sweeteners."

Every penny a family spends on them for added nutrients is a penny wasted, says Dr. Kline, since the nutrients they contain, other than carbohydrate, are provided much more effectively in other foods.

Americans can purchase a great variety of dairy products, fruits and vegetables, cereals, poultry, fish and meat products. If a family's diet does not include a proper balance of these foods, the small amounts of nutrients in honey or raw sugar will not help.

Only if a person could switch his or her entire sugar intake to dark molasses — the sweetener found highest in "extra" nutrients but also the lowest in carbohydrate — would these nutrients make any difference in the diet.

But such a switch would be impossible. The average American consumes 4.5 (about 25 teaspoonsful) of sugar a day — not just granulated table sugar, of course, but also sugar in soft drinks, candy, pastries and an expanding array of prepared foods.

Persons needing to restrict their intake of calories may find natural or artificial sweeteners useful. However, people who eat a balanced diet and who exercise regularly probably won't benefit by switching from regular table sugar.

Here's a rundown of specific food values obtained from various sweeteners. The Family Economics Bureau compared table sugar with six other sweeteners according to percentage of carbohydrate and water, number of calories and amount of trace elements in a 10-gram serving — equivalent to about two teaspoonsful of table sugar.

TABLE SUGAR. Whether made from sugarcane or sugar beet, whether powdered or granulated, refined white sugar is 99.5 per cent sucrose and 0.5 per cent water. It contains small traces of potassium, sodium and iron. Table sugar provides more energy than any other form of carbohydrate — 38.5 calories per 10-gram serving.

RAW SUGAR. Unlike table sugar, authentic raw sugar is not completely refined and contains impurities which make it unfit for human consumption. "Kleenraw" sugar marketed by health food stores is made to approximate the flavor and texture of raw sugar, but eliminates the impurities. In composition, it is very close to table sugar, containing 97.0 per cent sucrose and 2.0 per cent water. It has traces of beet pulp or cane fiber and provides 38.0 calories per 10-gram serving.

BROWN SUGAR. Brown sugar is less refined than table sugar and, therefore, provides less carbohydrate and fewer calories. A table sugar substitute popular in England, Barbados sugar, is a brown sugar made from sugarcane grown on the West Indies island of Barbados. Brown sugar is 94.6 per cent sucrose, 2.1 per cent water and yields 37.3 calories per 10-gram serving. It also contains small quantities of potassium, calcium, sodium and phosphorus.

MAPLE SUGAR. This sugar, made from the sugar maple, is 90.0 per cent sucrose, 8.0 per cent water and yields 34.8 calories per 10-gram serving. Its nutrient content is similar to brown sugar.

HONEY. The oldest sweet known to man, honey is 82.3 per cent carbohydrate and 17.2 per cent water — whether it is strained, extracted, or raw, as sold by health food stores. The carbohydrate in honey is not sucrose, but a mixture of two simple sugars — fructose and glucose. Sucrose is a chemical combination of glucose and fructose. Sometimes called more natural than sucrose, these simple sugars have no special healthful effects. The body's chemical processes convert all sugars, regardless of the kind eaten, into energy-carrying blood glucose and energy-storing liver glycogen. Honey yields 30.4 calories per 10-gram serving — about 25 per cent less than table sugar. In addition to small quantities of minerals, honey contains some protein.

MOLASSES. Light molasses contains 65.0 per cent sucrose and yields 25.2 calories per 10 gram serving. Dark molasses has 55.0 per cent sucrose and gives 21.3 calories. Both are 24.9 per cent water. Minerals and other nutrients are present in larger quantities in dark molasses than other sweeteners, although still not of great significance to the total diet.

SACCHARIN. An artificial sweetener discovered in 1879, saccharin has no nutritive or caloric value. About 300 times as sweet as table sugar and 10 times as sweet as cyclamates (now banned as potentially damaging to chromosomes), saccharin is generally considered safe and passes through the body unchanged. It has the disadvantage of a bitter aftertaste when used in any appreciable amount, especially for cooking.

Fancy funnel

Make an inexpensive canning funnel from the inverted top half of a plastic gallon milk carton with a handle. Use kitchen scissors to cut the carton in two.

AEGEAN ORANGE CAKE

Orange cake highlighted by Mediterranean flavor

Florida has a way with oranges and the Greeks have a way with honey. The two come deliciously together in this variation of a Greek-style cake.

The cake, flavored with a tart-sweet flavor of orange juice and grated orange rind, is somewhat coarse in texture. Cinnamon and nutmeg and subtle spiciness to the batter and chopped walnuts give it nutty flavor and texture. A syrup of honey accented by orange juice is poured over the cake while it is still hot from the oven, to enhance the cake's moist quality.

If you bake it in a square pan, cut it in squares or diamond-shaped pieces; if you use a ring pan, spoon whipped cream into the center of the cake.

AEGEAN ORANGE CAKE

- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/3 cup water
- 1 tablespoon frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- Cake:
- 1/2 cup butter
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup flour, sifted
- 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
- 2 tablespoons milk
- 2 tablespoons frozen orange juice concentrate, thawed, undiluted
- 1 teaspoon grated orange rind
- 1 cup chopped walnuts
- Mix honey, sugar and water in saucepan and simmer five minutes. Skim and add undiluted orange concentrate and boil another two minutes. Cool. Cream butter and sugar. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, cinnamon and nutmeg. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk and undiluted orange concentrate. Fold in rind and nuts. Turn into greased and floured 8x8x2-inch square pan or 8-inch ring pan. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes or until done.

Remove from oven. Pour syrup over cake while cake is still hot. Let soak until ready to serve. Refrigerate any left-over cake. Makes six to eight servings.

Squash good all year 'round

Squash is a food item known to American Indians long before European seafarers touched this continent's shores. Always a delight for summer eating, squash also goes well with winter dishes.

Among the best of winter squashes is the butternut squash which is sweet and nutty. It usually is served boiled and mashed with butter and seasonings. For an easy but special treat, whip up a Butternut Squash Souffle to accompany your favorite pork or chicken dish. This is a recipe vegetarians will enjoy too.

BUTTERNUT SQUASH SOUFFLE
2 cups cooked, mashed squash
1/2 cup dark corn syrup
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of nutmeg

Dash of pepper
3 egg yolks, well beaten
3 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1/3 cup chopped nuts, optional

Mix together squash, corn syrup, grated lemon rind, salt, nutmeg, pepper and egg yolks. Stir in stiffly beaten egg whites. Spoon into greased 1 1/2-quart baking dish. Set into pan and fill pan with hot water almost to the top of the dish. Bake in 350-degree oven until knife inserted in center of casserole comes out clean, about 1 1/2 hours. Garnish with a circle of chopped nuts, if desired. Makes six servings.

Note: Mixture may be baked in a 9-inch pastry shell. Bake in 400-degree oven 50 minutes until set and knife inserted in center comes out clean.

Variety is key to good nutrition, health

by JERRY MCGINN

Money, age, lifestyles, religion, state of health and desires all determine the way people eat, according to food technologist Dr. George York.

"It's important for each person to take into account all these factors with the key to good nutrition and health being variety," York told the Stanford Day College on Nutrition and Health recently.

York, head of the University of California, Davis, Department of Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine, urged people to record their protein, sugar and starch content on a daily basis.

EXCEPT FOR THE poor person, who usually doesn't get enough to eat, the average American has a more than adequate protein intake, York said. "Forty to 50 grams of protein is sufficient," he said. "Yet we find the average daily intake is more in the area of 70-110 grams."

"We eat way too much sugar," the scientist continued. "Not at the table, but inside cereals, canned fruits, pies, donuts and sweet rolls — and the ever present soft drink. The sugar in your coffee and in your breakfast cereal or fruit is all the carbohydrate you need for the day."

He said parents often have trouble getting their children to eat vegetables. He suggested they learn Chinese and Mexican recipes, in which vegetables are delicious. "Too often we don't know how to cook vegetables, so children turn them away. Well prepared vegetables can turn that situation around."

YORK SHIED AWAY from extreme forms of diets while advocating that people concentrate on variety. "A pure vegetarian will not eat eggs, for example, and over a period of year will need vitamin B12 supplements," the expert said.

York reaffirmed the axiom that breakfast is the most important meal of the day. But, he said, too many people don't get up in time to eat a proper meal, so turn to donuts and coffee on the way to work.

"The most nutritious thing about a donut is the hole in it," he said.

He said food additives, taken in small quantities, shouldn't concern people, as long as they vary their intake and take care not to load continually on one item.

York said that with the economic crunch he sees an enlightened public turning to a "new" old habit of gardening. He urged home preservers and canners to properly educate themselves on various canning procedures.

Hawaiian barbecued ribs can double as centerpiece

Barbecued spareribs is a typical Hawaiian party food and this recipe makes a showy centerpiece. The ribs are beautifully glazed and topped with pineapple slices.

This is my version, using 2 small slabs of ribs which should weigh about 5 pounds, enough to serve six. Wipe ribs and dust lightly with salt and pepper. Put them into a foil-lined large but shallow baking dish and bake in a preheated, 325-degree oven for 30 minutes.

Meantime, drain a 20-ounce can of sliced pineapple, reserving ½ cup of the syrup. In a medium saucepan, combine the pineapple syrup with ½ cup molasses, ½ cup catsup, ½ cup sliced green onions, 2 tablespoons soy sauce, 1 tablespoon grated orange peel, 1 tablespoon red wine vinegar, 1 tablespoon butter, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, and ¼ teaspoon garlic powder.

Bring sauce to a boil, reduce heat, simmer for 5 minutes, then remove from heat.

WHEN RIBS HAVE been cooked 30 minutes, drain off drippings. Brush on about half the sauce and return ribs to 325-degree oven. Cook for an additional 45 minutes, basting with remaining sauce and pan drippings each 10 or 15 minutes, as you turn ribs. When meat is tender, top ribs with pineapple slices and cook another 10 minutes until pineapple is heated through. We served these with twice-baked potatoes and a sour cream coleslaw.

For dessert, this apple-cheese kuchen is unusual and very tasty. Make it in advance and freeze, or just in time to serve slightly warm.

Cream ½ cup butter or margarine with 1/3 cup sugar and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Blend in 1 cup sifted flour. Spread this dough onto the bottom and up the sides (about 1½ inches) of a 9-inch springform pan.

Combine an 8-ounce package of soft-ened cream cheese with ¼ cup sugar and mix well. Add 1 egg and ½ teaspoon vanilla. Mix and pour into the pastry-lined pan. Combine ½ teaspoon cinnamon and 1/3 cup sugar and toss 4 cups peeled and sliced apples in the sugar-cinnamon mixture. Spoon this apple mixture over the cheese layer and sprinkle with ½ cup sliced almonds.

Bake 10 minutes in a preheated 450-degree oven, then reduce heat to 400 degrees and continue to bake for 25 minutes more. Put on a rack and loosen torte from rim of pan with a small spatula. Cool, then remove rim and slice kuchen on the base. Enough for 8 to 10 servings.

Studies show fat intake related to breast cancer

by GAYNOR MADDON

American women have been jolted awake by the unexpected threat of breast cancer. The mastectomies on Betty Ford, our First Lady, and Happy Rockefeller, wife of the Vice-President, have spotlighted dramatically how suddenly cancer can strike. Today, every woman wants to know "have I got it and what can I do to prevent it?"

Among many institutions working on the answers to these questions is the American Health Foundation. Its senior epidemiologist Rebecca Gantt observes: "We would hope that moderation of the diet would lower the rate of cancer of the breast. We cannot say so definitely. But several studies indicate that there is a positive correlation between cancer of the breast and high intake of animal fats."

Studies at Harvard University School of Public Health indicate also that a high degree of animal fats in the diet may definitely be related to breast cancer. A spokesman for the department of epidemiology says:

"High cholesterol levels in the blood are caused by a diet high in animal fats. We have known for a long time that high cholesterol and heart disease are related. Now we are learning from research in many sectors that elevated cholesterol may be connected with cancer of the breast."

"CHOLESTEROL is the starting material from which the body makes sex hormones. We also know that some female sex hormones influence the metabolism of breast tissue. It is, therefore, logical to say that the female sex hormones may have some association with breast abnormality," the Harvard scientist concludes.

Surveys show that in the United States breast cancer has been on the increase for many years. Our women have been indulging in diets more heavily laden with animal fats during those years. That means they have been regularly eating red meats such as beef, pork and lamb, cheese, butter, cream, whole milk, ice cream and eggs — all great carriers of saturated fats.

The United States is rated ninth in incidence of breast cancer. But the Scandinavian countries (Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finland) are rated at the top. The Scandinavians have the highest rate of animal fats in their diet.

ON THE OTHER hand, Japan, with the lowest intake of animal fats, is rated 38th among breast cancer victims. Their diet consists mainly of fish, rice and soy products.

But the Japanese diet is changing. More meat and eggs are being consumed. At the same time, they have begun to experience an increase in breast cancer operations.

Furthermore, American-born daughters of Japanese women who have immigrated to the United States have a much higher rate of breast cancer than their native-born mothers. Their incidence of breast cancer is almost as high as the American average.

So it looks as though high fat animal foods might be one contributing cause of breast cancer. It is now urged by many cancer specialists that moderation in the diet could lower the rate of breast cancer.

But that is only a tentative conclusion. More research is needed. Meanwhile, women, and men, are urged to add more fish and fowl to their diets, to drink skim or fat-free milk and to increase daily intake of vegetables for all-around better health.

SALMON CHOWDER

Salmon soup, cheese bread team up for easy luncheon

A bowl of creamy soup, a freshly baked loaf of bread with butter, a few crisp relishes and a mug of chilled milk provide a balanced menu that's quick, thrifty and delicious.

It's an ideal combination for singles or doubles who work and need quick but tempting foods to keep going. It's also good eating for seniors whose food budget is limited and who don't want to spend a lot of time preparing foods. Imagination is the ingredient that transforms convenience foods with dairy products into menu-makers.

You don't have to be a skilled baker to create this tasty loaf. This golden bread is best warm from the oven, and also keeps well because it's moist and fine-textured. Half of the loaf could be wrapped and frozen for future use.

How about soup to go with the bread? This recipe makes nine cups, enough for a big family. It's full of good things to eat like chunks of salmon. Potato, tomato, green pepper and onion add color and variety.

CHEEDAR CHEESE BREAD

3½ cups buttermilk baking mix
¼ cup sugar
1½ cups shredded cheddar cheese
6 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
1 1/3 cups milk
1 egg, beaten
Combine baking mix and sugar; add cheese and bacon. Stir combined milk and egg into dry ingredients, mixing just until blended. Spoon batter into buttered 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven, 40 to 45 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 5 minutes; remove from pan. 1 loaf.

SALMON CHOWDER

1½ cups cubed potatoes
1 cup carrot slices ½ cup chopped green pepper

1/3 cup chopped onion
¼ cup butter
1 can (16 oz.) tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon dried thyme, crushed
1 can (10 ½ oz.) condensed cream of celery soup
3 cups milk
1 can (16 oz.) salmon, drained, flaked

Saute potatoes, carrots, green pepper and onion in butter 10 minutes, stirring frequently. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Cover; simmer 6 to 8 minutes or until vegetables are tender. Stir in soup and milk. Add salmon. Bring to serving temperature over low heat. Approx. 9 cups.

Sunburned potatoes

Potatoes that develop a greenish cast under the skin have been sunburned and should not be eaten.

Recipes with the 'peanutiest' flavor

by JEANNE LESEM

You can make a peanut butter sandwich for less than a dime, says John L. Currier, in a statement that can be applied to few, if any, other high protein foods.

Currier is president of the National Peanut Council, a trade organization representing the nation's goober growers.

Peanut butter sales alone grew 12 per cent between the summer of 1972 and the end of 1974, he said. But peanuts are used more than 75 different American-made products, ranging from candy, confectionery and snacks, to salad and cooking oils, cosmetics, antibiotics, and bird and livestock feed.

A RECORD CROP last year has pushed stockpiles of the nuts up 15 per cent, which should help keep prices reasonable.

As supplementary protein in all kinds of food, peanuts and products made from them add nutrients at modest cost.

If, like many families these days, you are reducing the size of servings of high-ticket, high-protein meat and seafood, try some of these nutty ideas for getting enough high-quality protein into your meals:

Blend peanut butter into sauces to serve with meat. Good cooks in Africa and Southeast Asia have done this for years.

Garnish salads and hot vegetables with chopped, roasted or salted peanuts, for texture contrast as well as food value.

Make fruit and peanut butter sandwiches with unpeeled apples or pears, sliced or cut into wedges.

ADD NUTS TO salad or sandwich fillings made from leftover ham and/or chicken or ground leftover meat for stuffing green peppers or other vegetables. Winter squash with meat and nut stuffing makes a delicious, inexpensive main dish meal, to be served with a light salad and fresh fruit for dessert. Add ground peanuts to meat loaf and meat ball mixtures or to the sauce served with them.

Save money by making your own dry-roasted peanuts from raw nuts, bought in the shell. Skin them by water or dry blanching:

SHELL THE NUTS. Either place them in a pan, add boiling water and let stand three to four minutes, or until skins can be slipped off by hand; drain, skin and roast, as in following directions; Or place shelled nuts one or two layers deep on a cookie sheet in a 350-degree oven. Roast 15 to 20 minutes, stirring often to cook evenly. Skins usually can be slipped off after the first three to five minutes, or you can skin them after roasting is finished. In either case, sprinkle nuts while still warm with plain or seasoned salt or curry powder or chili powder. Cool, and store in a tightly covered container.

PEANUT BUTTER FRENCH TOAST

½ cup peanut butter
¼ cup honey
¼ teaspoon salt
8 slices bread
2 eggs, beaten
½ cup milk
2 tablespoons butter
or margarine

Blend peanut butter, honey and salt. Place about 2½ tablespoons peanut butter-honey mixture between two slices of bread to make a sandwich.

Combine egg and milk. Soak sandwiches in egg mixture. Melt butter or margarine in a baking pan or fry pan. Bake sandwiches at 400 degrees about 40 minutes. Turn sandwiches to brown both sides. Or cook slowly in fry pan on top of range. Makes four servings.

PEANUT BUTTER PUDDING OR PIE FILLING

2½ tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup sugar
2 cups milk
½ cup peanut butter
2 egg yolks, beaten
2 egg whites
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix cornstarch and ¼ cup of sugar and add milk. Cook over boiling water until thickened (10 to 15 minutes), stirring frequently.

Blend in peanut butter; stir a little of hot mixture into egg yolks, then add to rest of hot mixture and continue cooking a minute or two longer.

Cool slightly. Beat egg whites and salt until stiff but not dry. Add remaining ¼ cup sugar gradually, beating until the egg whites are thick and glossy.

Add vanilla to cooled mixture and stir into egg whites. Chill before serving.

Makes four to six servings, or filling for 9-inch pie.

PEANUT-MEAT LOAF

1½ cups ground
beef (¾ pound)
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
½ teaspoon powdered dry mustard
½ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, if desired

1 teaspoon salt
1 cup finely chopped salted peanuts
¾ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1 cup milk
1 tablespoon tomato catsup

STUFFED SWEET POTATOES WITH PEANUT BUTTER

4 medium-sized baked sweet potatoes
¼ to 1/3 cup milk, as needed
¼ cup peanut butter
¼ teaspoon salt
Pepper

1/3 cup chopped salted peanuts, if desired
Cut hot baked sweet potatoes in half and remove from shells. Mash thoroughly.

Add milk, peanut butter and seasonings. Beat until fluffy and refill shells.

Brown on a baking sheet at 425 degrees. Sprinkle chopped peanuts on top before browning. Makes four servings.

Field, Tarkington

Panel asks boundary changes at 2 schools

The Wheeling-Elk Grove Dist. 21 boundary committee recommended boundary changes for Field and Tarkington schools next year to help ease crowded conditions.

The committee's recommendations made Wednesday night at a meeting of the group include:

- Transferring 121 students currently at Field School, 51 St. Armand Ln., Wheeling, who live north of Melter and Aptakisic-Tripp roads to Irving School, 1230 Radcliffe Rd., Buffalo Grove.

- Transferring about 30 students now at Tarkington School who live in the Dun-Lo Highland subdivision west of Buffalo Grove Road and south of Dundee Road to Riley School, 1209 Burr Oak Dr., Arlington Heights.

- Keeping boundaries for the other elementary schools the same for the 1975-76 school year as they are this year.

- Reviewing crowded conditions next year at Alcott School, 530 Bernard Dr., Buffalo Grove, and Tarkington School, 310 S. Scott St., Wheeling, for possible boundary changes.

Changing Field's boundaries as recommended would help ease overcrowding at the school, which would have 641 students next year if the boundaries were not changed. The school was built to handle about 600 students.

ALTHOUGH IRVING is in the Cooper Junior High School attendance area, students transferring from Field still would attend Jack London Junior High School, 1001 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

Students who may be transferred from Tarkington are being bused to school because they must cross Buffalo Grove Road. The proposed boundary changes would put them within walking distance of Riley School.

The committee also recommended that a sidewalk be built along Buffalo Grove Road in the area where the students would have to walk to school.

Dun-Lo Highland area students also would be transferred across junior high school boundary lines into the Cooper Junior High School attendance area. The committee has recommended that these students have the option to attend either London or Cooper.

The recommendations will be presented at a school board meeting tonight at the administration building, 999 W. Dundee Rd., Wheeling.

The boundary committee also decided to visit all schools in the district to make recommendations for possible renovation and building additions.

Jewelry, cash taken from Wheeling home

Burglars took jewelry, cash and other items with a total value of about $2,500 early this week from the Keith J. Moser residence, 230 Lincoln Ln., Wheeling, police said Tuesday.

Police said the burglars broke a door window in forcing entry to the house. Among the stolen items was $600 in coins, a desk calculator, a golf bag and clubs and the jewelry. The burglary was discovered Monday morning.

IMMIGRATION AGENTS conducted surprise raids at Ace Pecan Company Inc. and Field several companies in the Elk Grove Village Industrial Container Corp. (Photo by Jay Needleman.) Park Wednesday. More than two dozen illegal aliens

State counters comments on traffic-light project

A state official said Wednesday funding for traffic signals at Old McHenry Road and Ill. Rte. 83 has not yet been approved and that some village officials and village board candidates are incorrect in saying the improvements are assured.

Installations of traffic signals at the intersection recently became a political issue in the April 15 municipal election.

The Wheeling Improvement Party last week publicly called for traffic signals at the intersection and said if they are not forthcoming the village should consider paying the cost and attempt to get reimbursed by the state.

The WHIP slate consists of Otis (Skip) Hefflund, Gilbert Monoson, Charles Kerr and John Cole.

WHEELING Representative Party candidates countered WHIP Monday night, saying they were told by state officials that the traffic signals would be installed at the intersection this summer.

"We don't just present a problem," said WRP candidate Neil H. Brant. "We try to figure out a way to solve it."

Brant is joined on the WRP slate by Roger A. Powers, Kenneth R. Brady and Robert E. Clark.

Village Pres. Ted C. Scanlon, a supporter of WRP, said twice in the last two weeks that a report from Police Chief Peter Guttila said plans for the signals are on the drawing boards and that the state hopes to install them early in the summer.

TRUSTEE EDWARD Berger, a candidate on the Wheeling Community Party (COM-PAR) slate also said he was told by the state that the signals are being planned. Joining Berger on the COM-PAR slate are William Rogers and trustees John Koeppen and Albert Lang.

Roy Fonda, north area traffic engineer for the Illinois Dept. of Transportation, said while plans for the signals are on the drawing boards, state funding still is not assured.

"The project is in the 1975-76 fiscal year budget for the traffic operations division," he said. "But we won't know for sure until the legislature appropriates funds this spring."

"The project, however, does have a high priority and if we get a reasonable amount of funds the project probably will go," Fonda said. "But I can't be sure until the legislature acts."

State officials said July 1, when the 1975-76 fiscal year begins, would be the soonest the state could seek bids for the project. If it is approved. By the time bids are opened and a contract is awarded, the state would be further into its fiscal year, they said.

26 illegal aliens arrested in Elk Grove Village raid

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2055 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U.S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U.S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1950, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Pepitone, director of Selective Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1950.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 368 last. There were 368 capsules because 1856 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Pepitone said the men born in 1950 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Pepitone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Pepitone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

Property owners linked to Fulle

Elk Grove to try to alter land zoning

Elk Grove Village will attempt to overturn high-density apartment zoning of two properties adjacent to the village whose owners are linked to indicted County Republican Chairman Floyd T. Fulle.

The village board has authorized Village Atty. Edward Hofert to seek new county zoning hearings on the two properties, which were part of the now-defunct Devon-53 proposal in Schaumburg Township.

Trustee Edward Kenna said the properties are owned by Joseph D. Zizzo and Parkway Development Co., whose president is Ted Szywala. Fulle, Zizzo and Szywala were all directors of Parkway Bank and Trust Co., Harwood Heights.

"This friendship was during the years Zizzo and Szywala received high density multi-family county zoning for the land they owned and were petitioning our village for annexation and zoning as part of a coalition of developers called Devon-53," Kenna said.

ZIZZO OWNS a 27-acre parcel on Bismarck Road zoned to allow 29 housing units per acre. The Parkway Development Co. tract is a 156-acre parcel just west of Ill. Rte. 53 adjoining I-90. It also has high-density zoning.

Kenna said during hearings before village officials, Zizzo and Parkway officials used the county zoning as a threat in annexation negotiations.

Two other developers of the Devon-53 Development Co., which has since disbanded, are the Buttila Land Trust and Arvidson Realty Co., Lombard. The Buttila tract has since been sold to SBL Associates. Neither of those parcels was zoned multiple family.

"In light of the Fulle indictment we want to make sure there was no hanky panky involved," said Kenna.

Village officials unsuccessfully protested the county zoning in 1970 when it was granted, after what Kenna termed ridiculously light hearings.

Six rescued from burning house

An off-duty Skokie fireman helped rescue six of his neighbors trapped in their burning house at 39 Lancaster Ln., Des Plaines, Wednesday.

The fireman, Donald Meyer, 57 Dover Dr., and another neighbor, Ernie Ivey, helped members of the Kurt Schaffert family get off the roof of an attached garage while smoke and flames poured from the windows of the residence.

Meyer and his wife heard screams from the nearby Schaffert house shortly after midnight and saw children on the roof. Meyer told his wife to call firemen while he and Ivey grabbed a ladder to rescue the children from the roof.

While Ivey helped the four children and their grandmother down from the garage, Meyer went into the house to rescue the family's 77-year-old grandfather. Mrs. Meyer said the children were covered with black smoke and had to be treated with oxygen.

TAKEN TO HOLY Family Hospital and treated for smoke inhalation were the grandparents, Ludwig Schaffert, 77, and his wife, Karoline, 69, and their grandchildren, Lori, 12; Lynette, 8; Carla, 10, and Kurt Jr., 5. Police said the children's mother, Nancy, arrived at the scene after the fire was discovered.

Mrs. Meyer said she and her husband were awake because they had been watching a late movie on television that ended at about 12:30 a.m. "We heard the children crying for help and our tenant upstairs (Ivey) heard us moving around so he knew we were awake. He came down and Don and he went over there to get them out," Mrs. Meyer said.

Mrs. Meyer said the family was evacuated by the time firemen arrived at the scene. She said she thinks someone in the family woke up from the smell of smoke and awoke others in the house.

FIRE OFFICIALS said the fire was probably started in a refrigerator compressor. When firemen arrived at the scene smoke was coming from the top floor balcony and flames were shooting out from a southwest corner window in the kitchen, a spokesman said.

Damage to the building was estimated at $3,000 and damage to contents was estimated at $6,000.

One fireman, Archie Reider, was slightly injured when he was cut on the arm while ventilating the second floor.

Meyer has been a fireman in Skokie for seven years.

Balloon launch Sunday

Two hundred helium-filled balloons will be launched at 9:15 a.m. Sunday at the First Baptist Church of Wheeling, Elmhurst Road and Edward Street.

Invitations to attend the church's Sunday school will be attached to each balloon. Persons who recover balloons are invited to church at 9:30 p.m. the following Sunday (Palm Sunday) to redeem the invitation for a prize.

More than 200 persons are expected to be at the balloon launch, including members of the Baptist State Assn. and Wheeling Village Pres. Ted Scanlon.

Utility rates among tops in U.S.: study

by LYNN ASINOF

Citizens Utilities Co. water rates are among the highest in the nation when judged according to a survey prepared in November 1974 by the Dallas Water Utilities in Texas.

The survey compares water rates for residential users in 62 major U. S. cities. Citizens Utilities rates, when compared to the figures in the survey, are about double the average of rates in other areas.

Donald C. Weibel, member of the board of directors of the Euclid Lake Homeowners' Assn., compiled information on the survey for presentation at a recent Illinois Commerce Commission hearing into the quality of Citizens Utilities service.

HEARING EXAMINER Mark Goldstein said the information was not allowed at that hearing because the ICC was taking information on complaints against Citizens Utilities. He said a future hearing will be called to deal with the utility company's rates, specifically those granted by the ICC last year.

"Without being an expert on water rates, I would say Citizens water rates are right up there at the top," Goldstein said, commenting on Weibel's statistics. He said the ICC hearings are geared to show the relationship between "the rates and the quality of service."

Weibel's statistics show that Citizens' $5.32 minimum monthly charge is 257 per cent more than the average $2.14 per month charged by the 62 utilities. The highest minimum charge in the survey was in Phoenix, Ariz., where the monthly rate is $3.30. In Cleveland, Ohio, the monthly charge is 61 cents, less than one-ninth Citizens Utilities' rate.

Since Citizens Utilities charges according to the number of gallons used, Weibel had to use comparative measurements in applying information from the survey, which is geared to cubic-foot measurements.

RESIDENTS WHO use 1,000 cubic feet or 7,000 gallons of water will find Citizens Utilities' $9.20 rate more than double the average of the 62 cities. Those rates ranged from a low of $1.12 in Dayton, Ohio, to $7.70 in Indianapolis, Ind.

Rate comparisons were similar at higher levels of water consumption.

Despite the high rates, residents in the Mount Prospect-Des Plaines area serviced by Citizens Utilities complain they are plagued with sand and oil in their water, outages, and water which is discolored and smells. More than 200 residents showed up at the ICC hearing earlier this week to outline their complaints against the Addison-based firm.

Some 2,350 homes in the northeast section of Mount Prospect are serviced by Citizens Utilities, along with an additional 500 homes in the unincorporated Waukegan Park area near Des Plaines.

COFFEE KLATSCH takes on a new purpose for parents "Second Cup of Coffee" sessions to make personal contacts with groups of parents in their homes.

For the parents, that is

Coffee klatsch a real 'education'

by JUDY JOBBITT

The coffee klatsch was in full swing with about 15 mothers from the Meadowbrook West subdivision in Wheeling sitting around with a cup of coffee in one hand and a fistful of questions in the other.

But this meeting wasn't the usual grapevine session.

It was set up with a purpose in mind — the education of their children.

David Burgdorf, principal at Whitman School, initiated the idea of the "Second-Cup-of-Coffee" sessions this year. His first session was held recently at the home of Terry Meyer in Meadowbrook where he met with parents to talk about everything from playground roughs to the remodeling of Whitman.

BURGDOFF SAID he started the sessions in hopes of gaining better communication with the community.

"Up to a few years ago, the community existed and the school existed and we only met on conference days," he said. "Initially I'm just trying to provide a communication link between the home and school. It's for them to get to know me more personally and me to know them."

"If I sit down and have coffee with Mrs. Brown and her neighbors, I can see that — yes, the street is full of chuckholes, the bridge is dangerous."

He said he has seen schools separated from the community too many times. The school is the place children go to every day but many parents feel uncomfortable there, he said. Burgdorf hopes these sessions will help parents feel that Whitman is their school too.

He'll talk about anything and everything, he said, except problems that relate to specific teachers or students. "I don't think that's the proper forum to talk about personalities," he said. "That should be done in private."

At the first session, parents felt free to vent their feelings and allowed him to dispel some rumors that traveled from the school into the home.

ONE MOTHER asked how patrol boys and girls are supervised. "They're not doing their job," she said.

"As soon as you see a problem, give me a call," said Burgdorf. "I'll watch for it. I need your eyes, ears and mouth." He said that after he received a phone call about two girls running in the playground, he talked to them and they improved.

"Isn't the playground getting a whole lot rougher?" asked another mother.

Burgdorf said he doesn't think it is rougher from his observations of the playground. He enacted a scene he witnessed where two students were splashing mud around, but when asked about it later they said another student pushed them into it. "That's the story you hear at home," he said.

Other mothers questioned the grading system, bilingual program and book fees.

Burgdorf, who came to Whitman this year, listened to all the parents' viewpoints and answered their questions, explaining school and district policies as well as the reasons for specific rules and regulations.

IT WAS A comfortable setting without the "confrontation" atmosphere principals so often face when a parent or child is having problems.

Through the session and his invitation for other parents to hold similar meetings, he tried to set the tone for the future.

"I'd like to reach the point where my presence in the community is as normal as their being in the school," he said. "It's a two-way process."

Several events proposed for Bicentennial

The Wheeling Bicentennial Commission has recommended a number of projects and programs to commemorate the nation's 200th birthday.

Among the activities planned are a health fair, art contest, three dances and an adult-education program to teach the metric system. The commission's recommendations have been submitted to the village judiciary and purchasing committee for further study.

The health fair, which would be conducted in late August, would give parents and children the opportunity to get medical examinations. Booths also would be available for sight, hearing and blood pressure examinations.

The dances, which would be sponsored by civic groups would be designed to reflect three Bicentennial themes, still to be determined.

The art contest would give school children the opportunity to design the 1976 vehicle sticker and a village patch to reflect one of the three Bicentennial themes. The students would be divided into three categories, elementary, junior high and high school.

The winners in each category would receive a $25 bond, with the over-all winner receiving an additional $25 bond. All participants would receive a letter of recognition.

Wheeling youth case goes to grand jury

A 17-year-old Wheeling youth has been bound over to the grand jury after probable cause on a charge of attempted rape was found against him Tuesday in the Arlington Heights branch of Circuit Court.

A spokesman for the 2nd District court said the case against Michael R. Wisdom, 823 Old McHenry Rd., has been set for April 22. Wisdom is accused of attacking a 32-year-old Buffalo Grove woman Dec. 29 near the Indian Trails Public Library, 850 Jenkins Ct., Wheeling.

Correction

A photo caption in Tuesday's Herald incorrectly said Wheeling High School's annual Orchestral show will be this weekend at the school, 900 S. Elmhurst Rd.

The show will run Thursday through Saturday, March 20-22.

7.2% proposed for other village employees

Buffalo Grove cops may ask 11.9% hike

by JOHN MAES

Buffalo Grove police will ask the village board for a bigger pay raise than the 7.2 per cent increase being proposed for other village employees.

Patrolman William Bennett, a spokesman for the policemen, said representatives of the 24-man department will put their request before the village board Monday night. "We want to present our feelings to the board members and hope they can find the funds to increase what they've offered us."

Bennett said Wednesday a department committee is studying the village's proposed 1975-76 budget and may suggest that village officials cut back certain expenditures to pay for higher police raises.

Village Mgr. Daniel Larson has proposed a 7.2 per cent pay increase for most village employees. Larson's package also would include increased fringe benefits for some 130 village workers.

POLICE, HOWEVER, have asked for a raise of between 15 and 20 per cent. Bennett said policemen thought the request was justified but added they are aware of the village's tight financial situation and are no longer seeking so high a rate. He estimated that they may ask for 11.9 per cent.

Larson said a request for 20 per cent was "unsympathetic to the village needs" and is "an outrageous demand."

He noted some police departments in neighboring communities are receiving less than 7.2 per cent hikes. Mount Prospect Village Mgr. Robert Eppley announced Tuesday it was doubtful that any village employees, including police, would receive any 1975-76 wage increases due to a tight financial picture.

Bennett said Buffalo Grove police are asking for higher raises than are other municipal workers "because our responsibility is much greater on a routine basis than any of the other village employees."

He also said the request is based on

Rabies shots face girl if dog isn't found

A 16-year-old Wheeling girl will have to undergo a series of rabies shots unless the dog that bit her March 5 is found by Saturday.

Wheeling police said the girl, Deborah Kenning, was bit on the right leg by a black and tan German shepherd in the 400 block of Valley Stream Drive.

Persons who may have information about the dog's owner or location should call the police department at 253-2131.

higher educational levels being attained by many policemen.

BUFFALO GROVE police are members of the Fraternal Order of Police. Bennett said the group has a no-strike philosophy and is not affiliated with any police union.

The salary issue begins village board discussion of the new fiscal budget. Larson said he would release copies of the document today. Police Chief Harry J. Walsh said he was sympathetic to his men's request saying that in previous years, Buffalo Grove police salaries have not been adjusted to keep pace with similar increases in other police departments.

"Each year we fall more and more behind and it could only be adjusted at tremendous cost later on," he said.

WRP again challenges 2 parties to debate

The Wheeling Representative Party again has challenged the other two political parties stating candidates for the April 15 election to an open discussion of the issues.

In a statement released this week, WRP proposes meeting the Wheeling Community Party (COM-PAR) and the Wheeling Improvement Party in an open forum either April 10 or 11. WRP previously proposed the forum for March 21, but some of the candidates said they would be unable to attend.

The WRP slate consists of Neil H. Brant, Robert E. Clark, Kenneth R. Brady and Roger A. Powers.

WHIP and COM-PAR have not answered the latest challenge by WRP. WRP candidates said if the proposed dates are unacceptable, they will attempt to find another time that would be mutually acceptable to all parties.

WHIP candidates are Gilbert Monoson, Charles Kerr, John Cole and Otis (Skip) Hedlund, and the COM-PAR slate consists of William Rogers and trustees Edward Berger, John Koeppen and Albert Lang.

Fire calls increase by 38%

The Wheeling Fire Dept. has responded to 38 per cent more fires during the past 10 months than in the same period last year.

Recently released departmental figures show 251 fires since May 1, 1974, the start of the village's fiscal year. The number of fires in the previous time period was 182.

A majority, 177, occurred in the village with 74 outside the village but within the fire protection district. The previous figures were 118 fires in the village and 64 in the district.

The number of fires in February was 17 with a total fire loss of $2,495. In February 1974 figures showed nine fires with a $29,050 loss.

The total loss since May is $324,905. It includes the estimated $350,000 damage to the Wheeling High School Library in last summer's firebombing. The 10-month fire loss total through February 1974 was $194,240.

There were 56 ambulance runs within the village and another 22 in the fire district during February. The number of ambulance runs is up 11 per cent, with 628 reported in the village and 237 in the district for the 10-month period.

All treated for smoke inhalation

Family of 6 rescued from burning house

An off-duty Skokie fireman helped rescue six of his neighbors trapped in their burning house at 39 Lancaster La., Des Plaines, Wednesday.

The fireman, Donald Meyer, 57 Dover Dr., and another neighbor, Ernie Ivey, helped members of the Kurt Schaffert family get off the roof of an attached garage while smoke and flames poured from the windows of the residence.

Meyer and his wife heard screams from the nearby Schaffert house shortly after midnight and saw children on the roof. Meyer told his wife to call firemen while he and Ivey grabbed a ladder to rescue the children from the roof.

While Ivey helped the four children and their grandmother down from the garage, Meyer went into the house to rescue the family's 77-year-old grandfather. Mrs. Meyer said the children were covered with black smoke and had to be treated with oxygen.

TAKEN TO HOLY Family Hospital and treated for smoke inhalation were the grandparents, Ludwig Schaffert, 77, and his wife, Karoline, 69, and their grandchildren, Lori, 12; Lynnette, 8; Carla, 10, and Kurt Jr., 5. Police said the children's mother, Nancy, arrived at the scene after the fire was discovered.

Mrs. Meyer said she and her husband were awake because they had been watching a late movie on television that ended at about 12:30 a.m. "We heard the children crying for help and our tenant upstairs (Ivey) heard us moving around so he knew we were awake. He came down and Don and he went over there to get them out," Mrs. Meyer said.

Mrs. Meyer said the family was evacuated by the time firemen arrived at the scene. She said she thinks someone in the family woke up from the smell of smoke and awoke others in the house.

FIRE OFFICIALS said the fire was probably started in a refrigerator compressor. When firemen arrived at the scene smoke was coming from the top floor balcony and flames were shooting out from a southwest corner window in the kitchen, a spokesman said.

Damage to the building was estimated at $3,000 and damage to contents was estimated at $6,000.

One fireman, Archie Reider, was slightly injured when he was cut on the arm while ventilating the second floor.

Meyer has been a fireman in Skokie for seven years.

Due to residents' objections

Developer asks delay in shop center hearing

The developer of a proposed shopping center at 650 Oakton St., Des Plaines, has asked for a delay in a March 23 zoning hearing in the face of neighborhood opposition to the project.

In a letter to the zoning board, Fred Owens of the O'Hare Development Co., developer of the proposed 25-acre site, asked for the delay in order to develop alternate layouts for the project. Owens said Wednesday he must meet with architect Vera Chase, a member of the plan commission, to go over plans for the shopping center and make changes that will make the development more acceptable to residents of the area.

Owens would not say what changes he plans to make in the plans nor how long a delay he will seek. Owens said he decided to ask for the delay in the hearing date following a meeting Sunday with residents of the area who voiced opposition to the development.

"Most of the people at the meeting were nice but some were belligerent and the loud ones didn't give anyone a chance to talk," Owens said. "I think it's better for all concerned if we delay it."

OWENS SAID he decided to make changes in the shopping center plans after several residents approached him following the meeting. "They said they weren't completely opposed to the plan but they made some suggestions on how it could be changed to make it more acceptable to residents," Owens said.

In order to receive a continuance for the hearing Owens or a representative from the development firm must appear at the zoning board hearing to make the request for a delay in person.

The developer is seeking rezoning for part of the land from single-family to commercial use to construct a 124,000-foot commercial development. In addition to this shopping center, which will include a department store, supermarket and several shops, the developer has offered to donate 6.5 acres to the park district and proposes to build 13 houses along Forest Avenue, which is on the northern boundary of the site.

Plan boxing match for area youngsters

Youngsters from the Mount Prospect Park District and the Rolling Meadows Park District will meet Saturday in a boxing match at Lions Park, 411 S. Maple St., Mount Prospect.

The match begins at 6 p.m. in the basement of the recreation center. Admission is 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children with youngsters under 8 admitted free.

26 illegal aliens arrested in Elk Grove Village raid

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2055 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U.S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U.S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1936, were given the No. 1 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peptone, director of Selective Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1936.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1936 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peptone said the men born in 1936 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peptone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peptone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 8:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, dome art, paper tole, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

1 more enters, 1 quits in Oakton trustee race

Another candidate filed nominating petitions Wednesday for the Oakton Community College Board of Trustees, while another withdrew, leaving the total number of candidates at six for two three-year terms on the board.

The new candidate, Fred G. Swinnerton, 400 Courtland Ave., Park Ridge, is an English teacher at Maine East High School and former chairman of the community relations committee of the Maine Education Assn., the High School Dist. 207 teachers' union.

Swinnerton said he decided to run for the board because "I think the school is doing a very good job and I would like to see it continued."

He also said that when board member LeRoy Wauk, a Loyola University professor, leaves the board "there will be no educator left on the board and I think when you start building you should have an educator on the board to make sure the classrooms are good for teaching." Oakton is planning to build its permanent campus in Des Plaines.

THOMAS RUECKERT, Glenview, who filed for the board Feb. 26, withdrew his name from the race Wednesday. Rueckert said he withdrew because he plans to seek the seat in the Illinois House of Representatives vacated by the death of State Rep. Robert Juckett. He is a Republican.

Other candidates running in the April 12 Oakton election are Celeste Smith, 4824 Kirk, Skokie; incumbent Vivian Medak, 6820 Kostner, Lincolnwood; Lee Prince, 8524 Trumbull, Skokie, and John Prohaska, 504 N. Redfield Ct., Park Ridge.

Filing for the Oakton board will remain open until March 21. Candidates for the board must be 21 and residents of the Oakton district.

Candidates tell 'em (all 57): 'get involved'

by STEVE BROWN

Ald. Arthur Erbach, 5th, Wednesday night called for a revolution among Des Plaines voters. He urged that they do the "utmost to get people interested in city government and get to the polls."

Erbach, running unopposed for reelection, spread his message to only 57 persons — including candidates and their wives — at the Des Plaines chapter of the League of Women Voters candidates' night.

The comments came during a session featuring 11 of the 13 candidates seeking election to the city council in what some observers have described as a generally lackluster campaign.

ASIDE FROM Erbach's remarks, most of the aldermen commented on redevelopment, which has been a major issue in the last three city elections.

The redevelopment of the downtown business district remains a major issue because nothing has happened. The city now has more than a square block of property cleared for a proposed $14 million shopping and commercial center, but construction has been delayed for more than a year.

Besides Erbach's comments, the other candidates were:

• Ald. Joseph Szabo, 1st, who said he favored an orderly development of Des Plaines.

• James Ballowe, Szabo's opponent, who said the city's proximity to various transportation facilities could stimulate growth.

• Robert Sullivan, a 2nd Ward candidate, who said the city needs a plan for progress in the future.

• John Leer, a former two-term alderman who is making a comeback try in the 3rd Ward, who said his first terms on the council were years of city improvement and he hopes to continue this trend.

• Ald. Spencer Chase, 3rd, who said he has voted against redevelopment because he is dissatisfied with current plans.

• Patrick Brannigan, 4th Ward candidate who said he will bring a positive attitude to the city council.

• Clifford Scherer, also of the 4th Ward, who says he will not be a rubber stamp alderman.

• Ald. Ewald Swanson 6th, who is seeking his fourth term on the council, stressed that he has always worked for a balanced budget and opposed zoning detrimental to the ward.

• Robert Kraves, who said the main issue is accountability and called for aldermen to hold regular sessions for voters to bring them their problems.

• Ald. Alan Abrams, 8th, who is running unopposed, who said there is a need to strengthen the central core of the city.

Ald. Kenneth Kebe, 2nd, and Ald. John Seitz, 7th, did not attend the session.

Study of pickup extension planned

City trash service for apartments?

Des Plaines officials will make a new study into extending city garbage pickup to townhouses and condominium apartments.

The city currently collects trash only from houses, while other residents must contract with a private scavenger, at a higher cost, for trash collection.

The new study was recommended by the city council's sanitation committee after meeting this week with several owners of townhouses on the city's south side.

RON LORRIS, an attorney for several townhouse owners, suggested the city revise its policy because some people now own their homes even though the structures are attached.

The three-man committee, headed by Ald. Daniel Kisslinger, 4th, will try to determine how many units might be involved in the change in policy if it is approved.

Besides the townhouses on the south side, both Ald. John Seitz, 7th, and Ald. Richard Ward, 8th, noted there are other similar situations involving several hundred homes in other parts of the city.

ALL THREE generally agreed that the city probably should offer the service, but decided to delay action until it is determined how many units are involved and to conduct a poll to see if the residents would prefer the city service instead of a private scavenger operation.

One resident, Thomas Caviezel, president of the Star Area Homeowners Assn., said he believes some residents would prefer to remain with the private scavenger. He noted the residents currently get trash collected twice a week and that they do not have to carry their refuse to the curb for pickup.

Current city regulations require only one pickup per week and require residents to place trash on the curb for collection.

Caviezel also noted that in some townhouse areas, residents might have to carry trash long distances because their homes do not front on a street.

No timetable was set for the study. Ward suggested the city contact other towns to determine how they handle refuse collection.

WARD ALSO noted that because the city subsidizes the trash collection service with general revenue an effort should be made to extend the service.

The city council recently voted the first increase in the cost of trash collection in the past 10 years, raising the cost from $1.50 to $2 per month.

The cost of the private scavenger service varies, but is almost twice as much, according to comments by several aldermen.

N.Y. museum curator to study city hall

The Des Plaines Historical Society has asked the chief curator of a New York museum to determine if the old city hall building can be converted into a suitable museum.

Richard Welch, historical society director, said George Bowditch, chief curator of the Strong Museum, Rochester, N.Y., will survey the Des Plaines City Hall building next month.

The $3,000 study will be financed through a grant from the American Assn. for State and Local History. Welch said the survey will take about two days to complete.

Historical society officials have proposed that they be allowed to take over the old city hall building after the city moves into the new municipal building next week.

Some city officials have favored removal of the city hall building to make room for additional parking space or for landscaping around the new city hall and police building.

The historical society's present headquarters is owned by the First Federal Savings and Loan of Des Plaines and is considered a temporary location.

Prison topic of broadcast

What kinds of people make up the federal prison population is the topic that will be discussed on this Sunday's "The Search for Mental Health" at 8 a.m. on WJJD-FM (104.3).

Martin Groder, a psychiatrist with the Federal Center for Correctional Research in Butner, N.C., will talk about the spectrum of people who get convicted of crimes with Morris B. Squire of Forest Hospital in Des Plaines.

"The Search for Mental Health" is a public service radio series produced by the Forest Hospital Foundation for national distribution.

That's how many telephones we've installed in Illinois. So far.

If you've had the idea that Central Telephone Company of Illinois is a growing company, you're absolutely right.

Recently we installed our 200,000th telephone.

But that's just the tip of the iceberg. In the past five years we've invested over $79,000,000 in all kinds of equipment and service improvements. Just to make sure that those 200,000 telephones give you the kind of service you rightly expect.

And to keep pace with our advancing technology, we plan to spend another $53,000,000 in the next three years.

We're spending all this money because we're getting bigger.

And we're getting bigger so our service can keep getting even better.

Agents nab 26 illegal aliens in village raid

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2053 Lant Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U.S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

Residents give opinions on 74-acre development

About two dozen Elk Grove Village residents testified Wednesday night on the pros and cons of a proposed 74-acre commercial-residential development west of Ill. Rte. 54.

They were among about 50 residents who attended the annexation hearing before the village board.

diately turn down the developer or appoint a member of the Winston Grove Homeowners Assn. to the plan commission and return the plans to it for further review. The plan commission, after several hearings, gave the proposal a favorable recommendation.

THE DEVELOPER'S testimony showed the two-to-five-story building and development's density would be well below limits set by ordinance and fully conform with planned unit development requirements.

Charles Byrum, SBL Associates attorney, submitted new plans that showed revisions requested at the earlier meeting.

These are:

- Relocation of a 4.7-acre park on the northwest edge of the tract as requested instead of two smaller 2-acre parcels.
- Changing the residential street layout to allow a 66-foot-wide street to bisect the development while allowing the remainder of streets to remain private.
- Specifying locations of multi-story buildings.

The developer also showed an approximately 600-foot buffer of road, open and park land, between its proposed two-story buildings and the nearest houses.

VILLAGE OFFICIALS and developer disagree on the amount of open space in the development with the village maintaining there is 42.4 per cent open space instead of the 50 per cent the village requires.

SBL Associates is seeking annexation and rezoning of its property at Rohlfing Road and Devon Avenue for a commercial-residential complex.

The village board recessed without a vote until 7 p.m. March 26.

PAUL FUCHS, representing the Winston Grove Homeowners Assn., an objector, during the six months of hearings, said the residents living in the western portion of the village near the development still objects to several points but have mixed emotions about the proposal.

Main points of Fuchs' objection were to the development of two-to-five-story buildings and the density of the multi-family area and the heavy traffic and more than 100 schoolchildren the proposed 74-unit development is expected to generate.

Fuchs requested the officials immediately

Zone change may be sought for property linked to Fulle

Elk Grove Village will attempt to overturn high-density apartment zoning of two properties adjacent to the village whose owners are linked to indicted County Republican Chairman Floyd T. Fulle.

The village board has authorized Village Atty. Edward Hofert to seek new county zoning hearings on the two properties, which were part of the now-defunct Devon-53 proposal in Schaumburg Township.

Trustee Edward Kenna said the properties are owned by Joseph D. Zizzo and Parkway Development Co., whose president is Ted Szywala. Fulle, Zizzo and Szywala were all directors of Parkway Bank and Trust Co., Harwood Heights.

"This friendship was during the years Zizzo and Szywala received high density multi-family county zoning for the land they owned and were petitioning our village for annexation and zoning as part of a coalition of developers called Devon-53," Kenna said.

ZIZZO OWNS a 27-acre parcel on Bismarck Road zoned to allow 29 housing units per acre. The Parkway Development Co. tract is a 156-acre parcel just west of Ill. Rte. 53 adjoining I-90. It also has high-density zoning.

Kenna said during hearings before village officials, Zizzo and Parkway officials used the county zoning as a threat in annexation negotiations.

Two other developers of the Devon-53 Development Co., which has since disbanded, are the Buttila Land Trust and Arvidson Realty Co., Lombard. The Buttila tract has since been sold to SBL Associates. Neither of those parcels was zoned multiple family.

"In light of the Fulle indictment we want to make sure there was no hanky panky involved," said Kenna.

Village officials unsuccessfully protested the county zoning in 1970 when it was granted, after what Kenna termed ridiculously light hearings.

8 named to township youth panel

Supervisor Richard Hall of Elk Grove Township has appointed eight persons to the recently reactivated Township Committee on Youth.

Members will hold their first meeting at 7 p.m. Monday. They are Mike Tuozzo, 955 Carswell Ave.; Chuck Steiger, 570 Woodview Ave.; Joan Brennan, 97 Shelly Ct., and Donald Ring, all of Elk Grove Village; Frank Ayalla, 905 Heatherleigh Ct., Mount Prospect; Pat Anderson, 701 Sandy Ln., and Rene Maddock, 230 Leahy Circle, both of Des Plaines, and Jack Mardin, 2121 S. Goebbert Rd., Arlington Heights.

Chairman Robert Beaupre, 11 Cosman Rd., Elk Grove Village, appointed last month, said the committee is working on its bylaws, which should be ready for the auditors' review in April.

Meetings will be every third Monday of the month at the township office, 2100 S. Arlington Heights Rd., Arlington Heights.

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1936, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peplone, director of Selective ive Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1936.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1936 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peplone said the men born in 1936 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peplone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peplone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 33, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, home art, paper tote, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

Fire-code violations at 'Green'

Development ordered to correct defects

by PAT GERLACH
Owners of Schaumburg Green apartment complex have been ordered to correct an exposed electrical cable and correct fire-code violations discovered Wednesday by village inspectors.
The inspections resulted from tenants' recent complaints of health and safety hazards at the 367-unit Wise Road development for low- and moderate-income families. Tenants' reports of discharged fire extinguishers, water seeping from electrical outlets and gas pipes, as well as other problems, came after they received notice March 1 of a proposed 10 per cent rent increase.
"Many of the things reported are part of the work constantly done in our ongoing maintenance program," said Anthony Augustine, an attorney with M. Meyers Associates, project developers.

AUGUSTINE SAID the electrical cable, which could not be buried because of frozen ground conditions, is used for parking lot lighting. "We have dug it in where we can and have covered previously exposed parts," he said Wednesday.
Augustine said fire extinguishers and smoke detectors repeatedly have been found damaged and exit lights broken. The extinguishers, he said, this week were encased in glass to help prevent further vandalism, and extra lights are a "continually reordered item."
Tenants have been told to keep toys and other items in special storage areas, not hallways where a fire hazard can be created, he said.

"There's a focus being drawn on Schaumburg Green right now. Items that are being pointed out are true, but we are taking care of them regularly in our service program," he said.
THE COMPLEX'S original building plans were reviewed and found to meet code in all areas, said Building Comr. Joseph Julian in response to tenants' complaints that at least two of the seven buildings have wooden floors.
Because of height and size, Julian said, two smaller buildings were constructed with wood floors, which meets the village building code.
Battalion Chief Lloyd Abrahamsen said the fire department has inspected the complex frequently to discover that extinguishers are missing or discharged and exit lights have been damaged.
Both village officials said they have issued warnings to complex owners but, because of the repeated incidents of vandalism, hesitate to give actual citations.
Abrahamsen said he believes building management is attempting to do a "good" job, which is often thwarted by carelessness and vandalism at Schaumburg Green, but encourages tenants or other citizens to report problems to the fire department.

Investigation completed

Development panel gets housing study next month

A study detailing need for low- and moderate-income housing in Schaumburg will be presented to the village development committee next month, a spokesman for the study committee said Wednesday.
Thomas Kosin told the village board this week that the investigation has been completed and is ready to be put into report form. Kosin is chairman of a plans commission subcommittee assigned in June to study housing needs in the village.
Trustee Herbert J. Aigner told Kosin to present all data collected in the study to the development committee, asking that the housing committee make no specific recommendations in the report.
KOSIN SAID THE report will consist of "needs the committee has determined" and a list of "logical avenues" to approach the preparation of a village housing assistance plan.
He refused to identify specific housing needs, but said the committee has learned of possible plans involving substi-lizing builders and renters, and a combination of the two.

"Our committee has a number of viewpoints on this and we feel it wise to report our findings and leave recommendations and decisions to the village board," he added. The report will be presented to the board by Aigner, development committee chairman.
Village Pres. Robert O. Atcher said he believes the Illinois Housing Development Authority program, such as used in the construction of Schaumburg Green, a 367-unit Wise Road project, is "best" for Schaumburg, "rather than putting all of your people in one big project."
In the state housing development program, apartment buildings are financed through the sale of tax-exempt notes and bonds and federal funds are used to provide a rent subsidy for a percentage of apartments in the development. The subsidized units are available to persons who qualify under federal guidelines.

Threat with gun brings year probation

A Schaumburg man was placed on one year's probation and was fined $250 Wednesday after he was found guilty in Schaumburg branch of Circuit Court of a charge of aggravated assault.
Associate Judge James Maher Jr. imposed the sentence on Thomas Sowinski, 34, of 1931 Prairie Sq., Apt. 104, who was arrested Oct. 19 last year for threatening a Walden apartment maintenance man with a gun during a dispute about use of an extension cord.
A charge of unlawful use of a weapon was dismissed.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.
Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.
A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U. S. citizens, but no proof is required.
"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."
THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.
He also said he objected to the way the

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1936 was a leap year.
But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peplone said the men born in 1936 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.
Peplone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.
The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.
All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.
"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peplone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.
Kilpatrick, 33, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.
Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.
The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, dome art, paper tote, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

Curt Sanburg Junior High School in Rolling Meadows will participate in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz Saturday at Mundelein High School.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m. and the clinics will run until 6 p.m. An evening concert featuring the top three bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University will begin at 7 p.m.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Mark Twain School PTA is having a book fair in the gym, 515 Merle Ln., Wheeling from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and from 3-4 p.m. March 17-20. Parents and children may attend.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Mime T. Daniel will perform today at Juliette Low School, 1330 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, at 1:30 and 2:15 p.m.

T. Daniel began his theatrical career as a clown and magician before turning to mime. His performance will portray the art of nonverbal communication, where body movement and position express thought, emotions, places and things.

A social studies activity and project fair is being held from 7:30-9:30 p.m. today at Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Dr., Elk Grove Village.

The fair will coincide with the Clearmont PTO general meeting.

The International Dancers will perform today at 9:45 and 10:45 a.m. at Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The dancers will introduce cultures of other countries through dance, while a narrator explains the background of each dance and its place in society.

Des Plaines Dist. 62

The Cumberland School PTA will hold a talent night at 8 p.m. today in the school multipurpose room, 700 Golf Rd., Des Plaines.

East Maine Dist. 63

The Mixed Bag, a group of traveling musicians, will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. Friday at Mark Twain School, 9401 Hamlin Ave., Des Plaines. The group will introduce instruments with Medieval and Renaissance songs and dances.

High School Dist. 214

The jazz bands from Prospect and Itasca high schools will join 20 other bands from the Chicagoland area in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz sponsored by the Mundelein Music Boosters and Karnes Music Co. Saturday at Mundelein High School.

Clinics will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a concert beginning at 7 p.m. featuring the three-top high school bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University.

In general:

The first national "Music In Our Schools Day" will be celebrated today sponsored by Music Educators National Conference.

The 52,000-member conference represents teachers of music in all levels of education and 25 national organizations. The purpose of the day is to make the American people aware of the importance of music in schools. Schools across the nation will set up programs for people to observe and hear how music is taught.

Schools award Whiteley new three-year contract

Supt. Frank C. Whiteley of Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 was awarded a three-year contract Wednesday night by the board of education.

The action came over the objection of a school board candidate who questioned if the contract would be binding on future boards.

The contract, which does not specify a salary, takes effect July 1. Whiteley earns $35,000 a year, and the board plans to review his salary annually.

Walter Kendall, a candidate for the board in the April 12 school elections, asked board members if their action would commit future boards of education to the three-year contract.

"This board is acting on the basis of what it is permitted to do" by law, said Board Pres. Walter Sundling. "It does not preclude any action of a future board. I think if you will check you will find that more school districts use the three-year contract rather than the one year."

BOARD MEMBER Leland Gibbs said the district is fortunate to have Whiteley and the contract is important to the district. The board wants to have "the best administrator and educator we can get. He could be hired away from us tomorrow" without such a contract, he said.

Kendall said later he was concerned that the board would be committing future boards to the contract. Two seats are up for election this year and three will be up next year.

Kendall said his question was not meant "in any way to question his (Whiteley's) value to the district or the manner in which he performs his duties."

Frank C. Whiteley

Whiteley has been superintendent of Dist. 15 for five years. He was awarded a three-year contract in 1972 which expires June 30. The new contract includes life insurance, health insurance and an automobile for business and personal use.

Cubs honor Marlene Jones

Marlene Jones was awarded a plaque for her service to Cub Scout Pack 197 during its annual banquet at Hillcrest School, Hoffman Estates.

Eric Carlson received his Wolf badge. Bear badges and gold and silver arrows went to Jeff Edstrom, John Cebulski, Luke Kelly, Eric Koch and John Pettey. Silver arrows for Wolf award were given to Pettey and John Rife. One-year pins and Boy's Life Segments awards went to Edstrom, Pat Kelly and Rife.

Deal with MSD gains village extra $28,000

Schaumburg officials this week approved an agreement with the Metropolitan Sanitary District that will result in an extra $28,000 revenue for the village.

The agreement will permit the sanitary district to use a village sewer main for sludge pumping once the district's treatment plant on Meacham Road opens this spring.

Funds from the district will be used by the village to construct a sewer, Village Engineer Joseph E. Zgonina said.

Church hits bingo jackpot

Schaumburg's St. Marcelline's Catholic Church hit the jackpot after village officials approved its request to hold weekly bingo games planned to begin April 1.

A parish representative said state approval of the project is expected this week which will pave the way for Tuesday night bingo at St. Marcelline's Social Center, 820 S. Springmeadow Rd.

Games will begin at 7:30 p.m. and finish by 10:30 p.m. The social center will open at 6:30 p.m.

Admission is $1, which includes the first bingo card. Extra cards are available at a nominal charge.

Architects' fees OK'd

Schaumburg officials approved payment of a $2,800 bill from Albert Eichstadt for final architectural fees for the $1.1 million village civic center but refused to pay an extra charge of $1,000 for special services.

Trustee Herbert J. Aigner said the development committee voted Monday to refuse payment of the additional charges "because we could not justify the expense." Eichstadt designed the Schaumburg Road civic center occupied by village officials last year. The additional charges were for landscape planning and other exterior consulting work at the civic center, officials say.

Land-plan variation set

A land-plan variation allowing Friendship Village, a retirement community planned on Schaumburg Road, to build a series of interconnected T-shape buildings was approved this week by the village board.

Construction of the 306-unit nursing home is slated to begin this summer, said William Smith, an attorney for Christian Home Services, Inc., Des Moines, Iowa, developers of the $14.5 million facility which will contain a 90-bed infirmary.

Developers are working with village officials to complete a formal agreement to extend sewer and water services to the property which they are purchasing from J. Emil Anderson and Sons.

Hill Top project approved

Annexation and zoning of 20 acres at Hode Road near Springmeadow Road for the Hill Top housing development was approved by the board.

Officials of Kimball-Dempster Corp., Morton Grove, developer of the 200-unit townhouse-condominium project, have agreed to donate $5,000 each to the village police and fire departments, and make $100 per unit contributions to Schaumburg's proposed cultural center and a medical facility. The developer will also contribute $150 per child upon enrollment to Schaumburg Township Dist. 54.

Vehicle-sticker act becomes law without Hayter's OK

For the first time in her term of office, Village Pres. Virginia Hayter of Hoffman Estates will permit an ordinance to become law without her signature.

The ordinance, passed by the village board Feb. 24, sets Jan. 1 as the deadline for the display of vehicle stickers each year. The deadline would not be extended, even if the state would permit an extension to Feb. 15 for license plate display, as it traditionally does.

Mrs. Hayter has opposed the ordinance because she said it will create unnecessary hardship on the village clerk's office, which sells the local stickers, and confusion among residents.

"The bill has gone to the clerk's office," Mrs. Hayter said. "I had hoped that the board would reconsider it, but they chose not to."

The ordinance becomes effective without the village president's signature 20 days after its passage, or March 17.

"It makes the clerk's office have to

Ballroom dancing new class at parks

Area couples soon will be gliding across the dance floor in a new Hoffman Estates Park District ballroom-dance program starting Monday.

Registration for the program and a sewing course, starting March 15, is open at the Village Administration Center, 650 W. Higgins Rd.

The dance course will feature lessons in the waltz, foxtrot, tango, cha-cha, rumba, samba, swing and rock-and-roll. The fee is $20 per individual and $25 per couple for the eight-week program. Only persons 18 years and older are eligible.

The fee for the eight-week sewing program is $10 per person.

work extra during the Christmas week," Mrs. Hayter said. "I don't look for ordinances that are not practical and that will need waivers."

Originally the ordinance had been sought by Village Clerk Helen Wozniak to establish how long new residents and new car purchasers would have to obtain the stickers. The display deadline was included in another section of the same ordinance.

Village trustees said the deadline was not significant because if an extension would be considered by the board, it could revise the ordinance or instruct the police department not to enforce the law until after a deadline set by the board.

Scouting news

The highest Catholic award for a Cub Scout, the Parvill Del award, was recently given to Chris Cassidy of the St. Hubert's Cub Scout Pack 399, Hoffman Estates. The award was presented during the annual Blue and Gold dinner held at the church.

Baseball signups scheduled Saturday

Final registration for the 1975 Hoffman Estates Community Baseball Assn. season will be from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the Village Recreation Center, 650 W. Higgins Rd.

Fees are $13 for instructional boys; $21 for little league; $26 for senior little league; and $16 for girls' softball.

Whiteley gets 3-year contract from schools

Frank C. Whiteley

Supt. Frank C. Whiteley of Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 was awarded a three-year contract Wednesday night by the board of education. The action came over the objection of a school board candidate who questioned if the contract would be binding on future boards.

would commit future boards of education to the three-year contract. "This board is acting on the basis of what it is permitted to do" by law, said Board Pres. Walter Sundling. Ald. Scanlan rips 3 independent opponents

by NANCY COWGER

Ald. Thomas W. Scanlan, 1st, has lashed out at three independent candidates opposing his bid for reelection to a third term on the Rolling Meadows City Council.

Scanlan, speaking after Tuesday's city council meeting, described two of his opponents, John Rolfe and Bernard O'Connor, as "not qualified" for city office. The third, Raymond Neukranz, does not understand city finances and has not shown the fiscal control in his park board service that the city has shown, Scanlan said. Neukranz is president of the Rolling Meadows Park District.

The three challengers contested Scanlan's comments.

Scanlan referred to what he termed "irresponsible, juvenile statements by a person not qualified to run for office," in criticizing Rolfe.

ROLFE HAD SAID one goal of his candidacy would be a review of park district finances, and then admitted he was not previously aware park districts operate independently from municipal governments.

"He (Rolfe) doesn't know what a taxing body is," Scanlan said.

Thomas W. Scanlan

He also charged that Rolfe speaks "as though he would be liquor commissioner if he were elected alderman." The city's mayor is its liquor commissioner, understate statute, and has sole discretion in issuing licenses, while the aldermen can only determine how many licenses will be permitted.

Rolfe had said the Citizens Action Party of 1975, which has slated Scanlan for reelection, is "a little bit rigid" in its liquor licensing views, citing a CAP plank opposing licenses for establishments which do not serve food.

BOARD MEMBER Leland Gibbs said the district is fortunate to have Whiteley and the contract is important to the district. The board wants to have "the best administrator and educator we can get. He could be hired away from us tomorrow" without such a contract, he said.

Kendall said later he was concerned that the board would be committing future boards to the contract. Two seats are up for election this year and three will be up next year.

Kendall said his question was not meant "in any way to question his (Whiteley's) value to the district or the manner in which he performs his duties."

Whiteley has been superintendent of Dist. 15 for five years. He was awarded a three-year contract in 1972 which expires June 30. The new contract includes life insurance, health insurance and an automobile for business and personal use.

Tickets available for 20th-fest dance

Tickets are available for the Rolling Meadows 20th Anniversary Grand Ball, to be the highlight of the city's anniversary celebration May 22-25.

The ball will be held May 24 in the Hall of Kings Ballroom of the Sheraton O'Hare Hotel, Rosemont. More than 1,000 persons are expected to attend.

Dinner tickets will cost $15 per person. Cocktails are to be served at 7 p.m., with dinner at 8 p.m. and dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Ralph Marterie and his orchestra will provide the music, said Calvin Elliot, chairman of the grand ball committee.

IMMIGRATION AGENTS conducted surprise raids at several companies in the Elk Grove Village Industrial Park Wednesday. More than two dozen illegal aliens were arrested at Ace Pecan Company Inc. and Field Container Corp. (Photo by Jay Needleman.)

26 illegal aliens arrested in Elk Grove Village raid

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2055 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U. S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U. S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the (Continued on Page 2)

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1956, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peptone, director of Selective Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1956.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1956 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peptone said the men born in 1956 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peptone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peptone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, home art, paper toys, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

Carl Sanburg Junior High School in Rolling Meadows will participate in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz Saturday at Mundelein High School.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m. and the clinics will run until 6 p.m. An evening concert featuring the top three bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University will begin at 7 p.m.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Mark Twain School PTA is having a book fair in the gym, 515 Merle Ln., Wheeling from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and from 3-4 p.m. March 17-20. Parents and children may attend.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Mime T. Daniel will perform today at Juliette Low School, 1530 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, at 1:30 and 2:15 p.m.

T. Daniel began his theatrical career as a clown and magician before turning to mime. His performance will portray the art of nonverbal communication, where body movement and position express thought, emotions, places and things.

A social studies activity and project fair is being held from 7:30-9:30 p.m. today at Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Dr., Elk Grove Village.

The fair will coincide with the Clearmont PTO general meeting.

The International Dancers will perform today at 9:45 and 10:45 a.m. at Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The dancers will introduce cultures of other countries through dance, while a narrator explains the background of each dance and its place in society.

Des Plaines Dist. 62

The Cumberland School PTA will hold a talent night at 8 p.m. today in the school multipurpose room, 700 Golf Rd., Des Plaines.

East Maine Dist. 63

The Mixed Bag, a group of traveling musicians, will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. Friday at Mark Twain School, 9401 Hamlin Ave., Des Plaines. The group will introduce instruments with Medieval and Renaissance songs and dances.

High School Dist. 214

The jazz bands from Prospect and Itasca high schools will join 20 other bands from the Chicagoland area in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz sponsored by the Mundelein Music Boosters and Karnes Music Co. Saturday at Mundelein High School.

Clinics will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a concert beginning at 7 p.m. featuring the three-top high school bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University.

In general:

The first national "Music In Our Schools Day" will be celebrated today sponsored by Music Educators National Conference.

The 62,000-member conference represents teachers of music in all levels of education and 25 national organizations. The purpose of the day is to make the American people aware of the importance of music in schools. Schools across the nation will set up programs for people to observe and hear how music is taught.

City Council wrapup

Parts plant to be built on rezoned tract

The Rolling Meadows City Council Tuesday night approved industrial zoning for a precision parts plant on Hicks Road in the city's north industrial park.

The site was zoned residential, but most surrounding property already is used for industry. The change was recommended by the plan commission.

The site is to be the home of Coilmatels Inc., owned by George Tangas. He was represented in city hearings by Bennett P. Trapani, who will construct the plant. Trapani has built other structures in Rolling Meadows, including City Hall.

Supervision lmo received

The council received for first reading an ordinance that would require the sponsors of major civic events to hire uniformed off-duty firemen to patrol their functions.

The ordinance was proposed by the license, police, health and fire committee on the recommendation of the fire department.

partment. Final council action is anticipated March 25.

The firemen's duties would be to ensure attendance did not exceed crowd limits set by the fire department, maintain access to all exits and keep aisles clear. Fire department representatives cited recent events in the city in which crowds have exceeded capacity limits.

One guard would be required for each 1,000 persons.

Event sponsors would pay the city a flat fee for each guard's services.

No action on auditor

The council delayed action retaining the firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell and Co., Chicago, as city auditor for a third year, although the contract renewal was recommended by City Mgr. James Watson.

Watson said the city has employed the firm only two years, and the company is just now becoming familiar with city records. It also has assisted Rolling Meadows in changing to computer book-keeping system, and is helping city administrators revise city budget divisions to conform to the computers.

The firm, however, has not submitted a proposal for 1975-76 services. The auditors said they preferred to wait to approve a retainer until they know how much it will cost.

Auditing is a consultant service, and the city is not required to seek competitive bids for consultant work.

Scanlan rips 3 challengers

statement that he would seek a financial report from the city treasurer defining the condition of city funds. The treasurer submits written reports to the council at every meeting.

SCANLAN SAID Rolfe has never attended a city council or committee meeting, and has never volunteered for any city committee work.

"I don't understand how he could know how active I've been on behalf of residents of our ward," said Scanlan. Rolfe made representation the keystone of his platform.

Rolfe, 22, agreed he has not formally participated in city government, but said he has grounded himself in government through studies he conducted to earn his Eagle Scout rank in Boy Scouts. He also has done volunteer work in cleanups, traffic surveys and other community service projects, he said.

His request for a report from the city treasurer referred to more than just a statement of current finances, but was for "almost a whole forecast of city finances," including expected outlays and revenues, he said. As for being "juvenile," Rolfe said Scanlan "was a newcomer to politics himself once, and we all have to start someplace."

SCANLAN SAID O'Connor "has never even voted in a city election, never volunteered to work on a committee, to establish the basis of credentials to become an alderman."

"He (O'Connor) just is not qualified to represent the people of Ward 1," said Scanlan. "To my knowledge, O'Connor has never participated in any way, shape or form to work towards the betterment of the city, and therefore hasn't established the credentials."

O'Connor agreed that he had not voted in any city election, although he said he has voted in most other local elections. Of the two city elections since he moved to Rolling Meadows, he had not lived in the city long enough to meet residency requirements, the first time and his job took him unexpectedly out of town the second time, he said. He has attended council meetings, and discussed a possible application for plan commission appointment with Mayor Roland J. Meyer, but said he chose to run for alderman instead.

$77,000 addition under way for Countryside Center

Countryside Center for the Handicapped near Palatine is building a $77,000 addition to its workshop that will allow it to treat and employ an additional 45 handicapped adults.

The center, Shirley Road near Rand Road, now serves about 90 adults and has a day-care facility for 40 children.

The purpose of center programs is to give mentally and physically handicapped persons the opportunity to learn skills and techniques that "will help them live a normal, comfortable life," said Ralph Walberg, center director.

The workshop goes a step further by allowing handicapped adults to earn a salary from a daily job.

Handicapped adults from Cook, Lake and McHenry counties work at the center weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. The adults can make up to $2.34 per hour, depending on their ability and speed, while performing basic line assembly, refurbishing and packaging duties for a variety of industries, said

Jan Edgar, workshop coordinator.

The addition will make more room available for individual counseling and treatment that is a part of the center's work program, Mrs. Edgar said.

Speech pathology, psychology, physical health and general counseling services are available to each of the center's adults. They also receive tutoring in daily skills like housecleaning, cooking and sewing that will make them "more able to enjoy life and cope with the simplest of chores," Mrs. Edgar said.

The center's adults also will have a small lunchroom in the new addition. They presently eat lunch at the tables where they work.

"The most important thing about this addition is that it will allow us to provide the services to handicapped adults that are needed in this area," Mrs. Edgar said.

Whiteley gets 3-year contract from schools

Frank C. Whiteley

Supt. Frank C. Whiteley of Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15 was awarded a three-year contract Wednesday night by the board of education.

The action came over the objection of a school board candidate who questioned if the contract would be binding on future boards.

The contract, which does not specify a salary, takes effect July 1. Whiteley earns $35,000 a year, and the board plans to review his salary annually.

Walter Kendall, a candidate for the board in the April 12 school elections, asked board members if their action would commit future boards of education to the three-year contract.

"This board is acting on the basis of what it is permitted to do" by law, said Board Pres. Walter Sundling. "It does not preclude any action of a future board. I think if you will check you will find that more school districts use the three-year contract rather than the one year."

BOARD MEMBER Leland Gibbs said the district is fortunate to have Whiteley and the contract is important to the district. The board wants to have "the best administrator and educator we can get. He could be hired away from us tomorrow" without such a contract, he said.

Kendall said later he was concerned that the board would be committing future boards to the contract. Two seats are up for election this year and three will be up next year.

Kendall said his question was not meant "in any way to question his (Whiteley's) value to the district or the manner in which he performs his duties."

Whiteley has been superintendent of Dist. 15 for five years. He was awarded a three-year contract in 1972 which expires June 30. The new contract includes life insurance, health insurance and an automobile for business and personal use.

Drury Lane trip slated Wednesday

The Palatine Park District will host a Feminine trip Wednesday to the new Drury Lane Theatre East, at Chicago's McCormick Place, to see Elke Sommer star in the comedy, "The Convertible Girl."

The group will lunch at the President's Walk Restaurant, located at the theater, prior to the play. The bus will depart from the park district's administration building, 292 E. Palatine Rd., at 11 a.m. and will return at 6 p.m.

The cost of the trip, $13 per person, can be paid at the administration offices daily from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2055 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U.S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U.S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it. Either, we took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the

Candidates back lower Plum Grove Hills density

by JOANN VAN WYE

Candidates running for the Palatine Village Board told residents of the Hunting Ridge subdivision Wednesday night they favor reducing the density of the proposed Plum Grove Hills development adjacent to the subdivision.

"I don't believe outside of the downtown area you should have ever go above 12 (units per acre)," Trustee Bryan P. Coughlin Jr. told the nearly 60 residents attending the candidates' night. L. F. Draper and Associates, developers of the proposed 365-acre Plum Grove Hills development, are asking for density as high as 15 units per acre.

John V. Serio, who along with Coughlin and Trustee Philip E. Stern, has Republican backing for election, said he agreed with Coughlin's comments. Stern indicated he would favor the lowest possible density, but declined to give a specific number.

INDEPENDENT Thomas D. LaDore came out in favor of limiting density outside of the downtown area to 8 to 10 units per acre. A maximum of 13 units per acre with proper buffering for single-family subdivisions was suggested by Patricia E. Miramonti, another independent candidate.

"We have to have a product mix in town," said Trustee Fred H. Zajonc, who is running for reelection as an independent. He did not give a maximum number of units per acre in response to the question from a homeowner.

The Hunting Ridge homeowners who have been fighting the Plum Grove Hills development in their backyard were less successful in getting a commitment from the candidates to move the proposed shopping center in the development from the northwest corner of Euclid Avenue and Quentin Road.

Coughlin said the development was still being reviewed by the plan commission and indicated he would support the plan commission's recommendation.

The question-and-answer session followed an eight-minute presentation from each of the six candidates running for the three trustee positions in the April 15 election.

EQUIPPED WITH pink piggybanks, charts, maps and other paraphernalia the candidates outlined their platforms and took swipes at the opposition.

The three Republicans attacked the "Zajonc VIP administration" for increasing real estate taxes 50 per cent, doing nothing about flooding and bringing the Old Madrid complex into the village. (Continued on Page 5)

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1936, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peptone, director of Selective Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1936.

"These men registered during 1974 with in the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1936 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peptone said the men born in 1936 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peptone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peptone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 13 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schools

Einstein crafts fair Saturday

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, home art, paper toys, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

Carl Sandburg Junior High School in Rolling Meadows will participate in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz Saturday at Mundelein High School.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m. and the clinics will run until 6 p.m. An evening concert featuring the top three bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University will begin at 7 p.m.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Mark Twain School PTA is having a book fair in the gym, 515 Merle Ln., Wheeling from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and from 3-4 p.m. March 17-20. Parents and children may attend.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Mime T. Daniel will perform today at Juliette Low School, 1530 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, at 1:30 and 2:15 p.m.

T. Daniel began his theatrical career as a clown and magician before turning to mime. His performance will portray the art of nonverbal communication, where body movement and position express thought, emotions, places and things.

A social studies activity and project fair is being held from 7:30-9:30 p.m. today at Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Dr., Elk Grove Village.

The fair will coincide with the Clearmont PTO general meeting.

The International Dancers will perform today at 9:45 and 10:45 a.m. at Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The dancers will introduce cultures of other countries through dance, while a narrator explains the background of each dance and its place in society.

Des Plaines Dist. 62

The Cumberland School PTA will hold a talent night at 8 p.m. today in the school multipurpose room, 700 Golf Rd., Des Plaines.

East Maine Dist. 63

The Mixed Bag, a group of traveling musicians, will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. Friday at Mark Twain School, 9401 Hamlin Ave., Des Plaines. The group will introduce instruments with Medieval and Renaissance songs and dances.

High School Dist. 214

The jazz bands from Prospect and Hersey high schools will join 20 other bands from the Chicagoland area in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz sponsored by the Mundelein Music Boosters and Karnes Music Co. Saturday at Mundelein High School.

Clinics will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a concert beginning at 7 p.m. featuring the three-top high school bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University.

In general:

The first national "Music In Our Schools Day" will be celebrated today sponsored by Music Educators National Conference.

The 62,000-member conference represents teachers of music in all levels of education and 25 national organizations. The purpose of the day is to make the American people aware of the importance of music in schools. Schools across the nation will set up programs for people to observe and hear how music is taught.

New $77,000 wing for Countryside

Countryside Center for the Handicapped near Palatine is building a $77,000 addition to its workshop that will allow it to treat and employ an additional 45 handicapped adults.

The center, Shirley Road near Rand Road, now serves about 90 adults and has a day-care facility for 40 children.

Barrington police to patrol Inverness starting May 1

The Village of Inverness will begin receiving protection from the Barrington Police Dept. May 1.

The Inverness Village Board authorized its police committee chairman to negotiate with Barrington officials on a contract - expected to be about $60,000 a year.

A six-month contract for police service between Inverness and Palatine expires April 30. Inverness has been contracting with the Palatine Police Dept. for protection for the past four years.

Inverness will receive police services from Barrington as part of the newly-developed Barrington Area Council of Government (BACOG) which advocates that small municipalities such as Inverness share police and other services with Barrington.

The Inverness Village Board commissioned the bureau to make a special study on the police protection needs of the village after Palatine officials requested $92,000 a year to provide protection, $31,500 more than the current cost. Palatine officials said the increased cost is needed because service to Inverness was taking away additional time and men to patrol Palatine.

Three policemen will be hired by the Barrington Police Dept. to provide services to the 2,000 residents of Inverness. A $130,000 grant from the Illinois Law Enforcement Commission will be available to the BACOG villages in order to improve the shared police services once they are started, Inverness Trustee Walter Pugh said.

Bridge smorgasbord slated Saturday

The Bridge Youth Service in Palatine is planning a smorgasbord Saturday from 4:30 to 8 p.m. at the Buehler YMCA on Northwest Highway and Countryside Drive in Palatine Township.

The Herald incorrectly reported the dinner would be Friday.

The cost of the dinner, $3 for adults and $2 for children under 12, can be paid in advance at The Bridge, 4341 E. Northwest Hwy. daily from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Reservations can be made by calling 359-7490. The cost of the dinner will be 50 cents more when tickets are purchased at the door.

The proceeds will benefit The Youth Group, which is sponsored by The Bridge.

The purpose of center programs is to give mentally and physically handicapped persons the opportunity to learn skills and techniques that "will help them live a normal, comfortable life," said Ralph Walberg, center director.

The workshop goes a step further by allowing handicapped adults to earn a salary from a daily job.

Handicapped adults from Cook, Lake and McHenry counties work at the center weekdays from 9:30 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. The adults can make up to $2.34 per hour, depending upon their ability and speed, while performing basic line assembly, refurbishing and packaging duties for a variety of industries, said Jan Edgar, workshop coordinator.

The center's adults rebuild and repack an average of 7,500 earphone headsets each day for United Airlines.

The addition will make more room available for individual counseling and treatment that is a part of the center's work program, Mrs. Edgar said.

Speech pathology, psychology, physical health and general counseling services are available to each of the center's adults. They also receive tutoring in daily skills like housecleaning, cooking and sewing that will make them "more able to enjoy life and cope with the simplest of chores," Mrs. Edgar said.

The center's adults also will have a small lunchroom in the new addition. They presently eat lunch at the tables where they work.

"The most important thing about this addition is that it will allow us to provide the services to handicapped adults that are needed in this area," Mrs. Edgar said.

Trustees OK 'minimum' pay hikes

Palatine village employees will receive no salary increases during 1975-76 beyond normal step increases or longevity pay.

"It was the unanimous consent of the board not to grant any across-the-board increases at this time," Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones said Wednesday.

Jones said the normal step increases for newer employees amount to about 5 per cent annually and the longterm employees would be eligible for the new longevity pay program.

Under the longevity pay program, employees with 11 or more years of full-time service will receive a $200 bonus, 15 or more years of full-time service a $400 bonus and 20 years or more of full-time service a $600 bonus. The longevity pay will be given to employees two paydays before Christmas.

VILLAGE MGR. Anton H. Harwig said about half of the village's 149 employees will be eligible for longevity pay, while the other half will receive normal step increases. Harwig said the longevity pay program will cost the village an estimated $10,000 annually.

Other benefits approved earlier this week for village employees are:

- One additional holiday, yet to be determined, at an estimated cost of $4,500.
- Increase in life insurance coverage from the present $10,000 to 1½ times the employee's base pay. Estimated cost $1,200.
- Increase in police court pay from $25 to $30 a day. Estimated cost $600.

The increases and benefits will take effect May 1, the start of the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The employees' increases compare to increases ranging from 2 to 12.5 per cent for the village's seven department heads.

Police, fire and public works employees asked for 12 per cent cost-of-living increases in addition to regular step increases in negotiations with Jones and Village Mgr. Anton H. Harwig. Jones said the 12 per cent increase would have cost the village more than $200,000 and would require laying off 20 village employees.

JONES MET WITH representatives of the three departments Tuesday to inform them of the board's decision. Letters were sent to all employees Wednesday.

During the 1974-75 fiscal year village employees received pay raises of about 20 per cent following a pay classification study. They received a 10 per cent cost-of-living increase, average 5 per cent step increase and average 6 per cent salary adjustment. Jones said the salary adjustments cost the village $288,000.

"We have brought the employees up to the average pay for this area and in some cases above. We felt we have done as much as we could with the economy as it is," Jones said.

$25,000 master plan OK'd for flood control

Palatine officials have approved preparation of a $25,000 flood-control master plan for areas of the village served by separate storm and sanitary sewer lines.

The flood control study was unanimously approved by the board nearly a year ago, but because of the Metropolitan Sanitary District's decision to drop the village from its massive reservoir and tunnel program, engineering work was not started.

The board voted 5 to 1 to authorize Conser Townsend and Associates, Chicago, to proceed with the flood control study but to omit the other sections of town with combined sewers. The older part of town is affected by the MSD decision, which is being contested by the village.

"At least we will be able to get three-fourths of the village under some kind of flood control plan and start doing something," Trustee Robert J. Guss said.

Trustee Fred H. Zajonc voted against proceeding with the flood control study until the village knows what effect the Upper Salt Creek Watershed Plan will have on local flooding. Zajonc charged the Republican trustees decided to proceed with the local flood control study "just to impress voters."

John V. Serio, the Republican-endorsed candidate for Zajonc's seat, said in a statement Wednesday Zajonc's vote "reflects a true insensitivity to the immediacy of the flood problem and the real hardships caused by our local flooding." He added it would take at least nine years for the Upper Salt Creek Watershed plan to be completed.

lage, proposing the "million-dollar Colfax Street mile" and other Village Independent Party actions when it controlled the board prior to the 1973 election.

The Republicans then outlined the actions they have taken during the past two years and plans for the next four if they are elected. These included no increase in real estate taxes without a referendum, strict enforcement of the village's master plan, more flood control measures and steps to decrease vandalism.

LADORE ATTACKED the present Republican administration for its "lack of common sense." He called for more representation on the board from the south side of town, improvements on Colfax Street and revision of the village's ethics code so it does not discriminate against any profession.

The call for a revision of the ethics ordinance was supported by Mrs. Alramont. She also suggested ordinances requiring rear and side lighting of businesses and private surveillance of businesses catering to youth to help deter vandalism in town.

Zajonc challenged the Republican statement that taxes have decreased in the last two years and said spending has increased 45 per cent and for the first time in 10 years the village does not have a balanced budget.

Zajonc also attacked the Republicans for the turnover in village administrators and said it was "a planned action to get everyone out and get their own people in."

Coughlin countered that the five department heads and various other employees had left for a variety of reasons and the important thing is "you have a much better staff today than you had two years ago."

Double average of 62 cities

Utility's rates among nation's highest: study

by LYNN ASINOF

Citizens Utilities Co. water rates are among the highest in the nation when judged according to a survey prepared in November 1974 by the Dallas Water Utilities in Texas.

The survey compares water rates for residential users in 62 major U. S. cities. Citizens Utilities rates, when compared to the figures in the survey, are about double the average of rates in other areas.

Donald C. Weibel, member of the board of directors of the Euclid Lake Homeowners' Assn., compiled information on the survey for presentation at a recent Illinois Commerce Commission hearing into the quality of Citizens Utilities service.

HEARING EXAMINER Mark Goldstein said the information was not allowed at that hearing because the ICC was taking information on complaints against Citizens Utilities. He said a future hearing will be called to deal with the utility company's rates, specifically those granted by the ICC last year.

"Without being an expert on water rates, I would say Citizens water rates are right up there at the top," Goldstein said, commenting on Weibel's statistics. He said the ICC hearings are geared to show the relationship between "the rates and the quality of service."

Weibel's statistics show that Citizens' $3.52 minimum monthly charge is 257 per cent more than the average $2.14 per month charged by the 62 utilities. The highest minimum charge in the survey was in Phoenix, Ariz., where the monthly rate is $3.30. In Cleveland, Ohio, the monthly charge is 61 cents, less than one-ninth Citizens Utilities' rate.

Since Citizens Utilities charges according to the number of gallons used, Weibel had to use comparative measurements in applying information from the survey, which is geared to cubic-foot measurements.

RESIDENTS WHO use 1,000 cubic feet or 7,400 gallons of water will find Citizens Utilities' $9.28 rate more than double the average of the 62 cities. Those rates ranged from a low of $1.12 in Dayton, Ohio, to $7.70 in Indianapolis, Ind.

Rate comparisons were similar at higher levels of water consumption.

Despite the high rates, residents in the Mount Prospect-Des Plaines area serviced by Citizens Utilities complain they are plagued with sand and oil in their water, outages, and water which is discolored and smells. More than 200 residents showed up at the ICC hearing earlier this week to outline their complaints against the Addison-based firm.

Some 2,350 homes in the northeast section of Mount Prospect are serviced by Citizens Utilities, along with an additional 500 homes in the unincorporated Waukegan Park area near Des Plaines.

ALTHOUGH 52 OF the 62 utilities in the Dallas survey are municipally owned, the Citizens' rates also are substantially higher than those of the privately owned utilities. Citizens Utilities' minimum rate is more than double the average of the other privately owned companies, with the 1,000-cubic-foot rate 1½ times the average of the other firms.

Weibel pointed out that 35 of the 52 municipally owned utilities receive all of their operating funds from their users, dispelling any argument that utility firms cannot be self-supporting.

Goldstein said Weibel will be able to present all this information at a hearing some time in April. He said, however, no date has been set for hearing "some of the rate case factors."

Village workers' litany: 'no raise beats no job'

by LYNN ASINOF

Mount Prospect village employees Wednesday were not happy about news that they probably will not get pay raises this year, but many said such action is preferable to being laid off.

The employees, contacted Wednesday at the village hall, were reacting to Village Mgr. Robert J. Eppley's announcement Tuesday that pay raises are doubtful because of inflationary pressures.

"I would like a raise, but I figure it could be worse," said one secretary who said she has been working for almost a year at minimum pay. "I could not be working at all. It's better that they say no raises than they say they're cutting you down to part-time. Most everyone feels the same."

All of the employees contacted asked that their names not be used.

SOME OF THE employees simply shrugged off the news. One group of three men on their way to lunch all agreed that there was nothing they could do about the matter.

"What can you say," one said. "You wait and see what happens."

"There's nothing you can do so you do nothing," another said. "That's the way it has to be. There isn't much you can do about it."

One secretary said she was disappointed by the news, and was hoping to get at least a 10 per cent increase. "I guess every village employee is in the same boat," she said.

Firemen and policemen were a bit more vocal in their unhappiness. One policeman said he couldn't understand how the village is suddenly broke, and said the whole matter sounded like a lot of nonsense.

ONE FIREMAN said he was "vacillating" between being happy with his job and pay and being upset with the village's spending plans. Noting the new $3.2 million library project, he said the village board's priorities are wrong. "I can't see them spending all that money for that bloody thing," he said, adding he would have preferred an addition to the existing library.

Eppley's grim predictions about the 1975-76 budget began about a month ago after he received a list of wage and benefit demands from the police union. The police are reportedly asking for a 15 per cent salary hike in addition to what Ep-

26 illegal aliens arrested in Elk Grove Village raid

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Centex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2035 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U. S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U. S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1936, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peptone, director of Selective Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1936.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1936 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peptone said the men born in 1936 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peptone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

"The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peptone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des Plaines.

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Schaumburg Township Dist. 54

Arts and crafts of all sizes and prices will be sold at the Einstein School PTA arts and crafts fair Saturday at the school, 1100 Laurie Ln., Hanover Park.

The fair will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Among the participants will be the S & H Golden Group, a senior citizens unit that will offer crocheted and knitted items as well as hand-made specialties and oil paintings. Other exhibits will be plants, decoupage, hooked rugs, eggshell paintings, macrame, dome art, paper tote, doll clothes, and children's and adult jewelry.

Palatine-Rolling Meadows Dist. 15

Carl Sanberg Junior High School in Rolling Meadows will participate in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz Saturday at Mundelein High School.

The festival will begin at 10 a.m. and the clinics will run until 6 p.m. An evening concert featuring the top three bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University will begin at 7 p.m.

Wheeling-Buffalo Grove Dist. 21

Mark Twain School PTA is having a book fair in the gym, 515 Merlo Ln., Wheeling from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday and from 3-4 p.m. March 17-20. Parents and children may attend.

Elk Grove Township Dist. 59

Mimo T. Daniel will perform today at Juliette Low School, 1530 S. Highland, Arlington Heights, at 1:30 and 2:15 p.m.

T. Daniel began his theatrical career as a clown and magician before turning to mime. His performance will portray the art of nonverbal communication, where body movement and position express thought, emotions, places and things.

A social studies activity and project fair is being held from 7-10-9:30 p.m. today at Clearmont School, 280 Clearmont Dr., Elk Grove Village.

The fair will coincide with the Clearmont PTO general meeting.

The International Dancers will perform today at 9:45 and 10:45 a.m. at Salt Creek School, 65 Kennedy Blvd., Elk Grove Village.

The dancers will introduce cultures of other countries through dance, while a narrator explains the background of each dance and its place in society.

Des Plaines Dist. 62

The Cumberland School PTA will hold a talent night at 8 p.m. today in the school multipurpose room, 700 Golf Rd., Des Plaines.

The PTA also will elect officers for the 1975-76 school year.

East Maine Dist. 63

The Mixed Bag, a group of traveling musicians, will perform at 10:30 a.m. and 12:45 p.m. Friday at Mark Twain School, 9401 Hamlin Ave., Des Plaines. The group will introduce instruments with Medieval and Renaissance songs and dances.

High School Dist. 214

The jazz bands from Prospect and Hersey high schools will join 20 other bands from the Chicagoland area in the ninth annual Festival of Jazz sponsored by the Mundelein Music Boosters and Kames Music Co. Saturday at Mundelein High School.

Clinics will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. with a concert beginning at 7 p.m. featuring the three-top high school bands and the guest college band from Northwestern University.

In general:

The first national "Music In Our Schools Day" will be celebrated today sponsored by Music Educators National Conference.

The 62,000-member conference represents teachers of music in all levels of education and 25 national organizations. The purpose of the day is to make the American people aware of the importance of music in schools. Schools across the nation will set up programs for people to observe and hear how music is taught.

Parks seek loan to fix clubhouse

The Mount Prospect Park District has applied for a $75,000 loan to begin improvements to the Mount Prospect Community Center, 600 S. See-Gwun Ave.

Park Director Thomas W. Cooper said he expects to know if the loan is approved in about a week. The money will be used to renovate the Maple Room and nearly double its size, he said.

Cooper said the improvements are needed because of leaks in the roof. "If I don't do it this year I may as well take the whole thing and throw it away," he said.

The Maple Room apparently started as a porch, with a roof and walls added piecemeal. The room has no insulation and Cooper said the renovation in effect will mean tearing out the entire room and building a new one.

"There is not one piece of construction in there that does what it was really meant to do," Cooper said. "It's been a hodgepodge right from the start."

BESIDES enlarging the Maple Room,

Cooper said the renovation also will provide a new entrance and washrooms. He said groups using only the Maple Room for activities will not have to open the entire center.

If the loan is approved, Cooper said the work will be completed before the fall.

He said the project will include laying a foundation slab and building a new roof and walls.

The architect's estimate for the project is $75,000, which Cooper said will more than cover the project. He said the loan would be paid back over five or 10 years.

One secretary said she already has lived through one depression, and has seen what happens when the economy goes bad. She said she also does not feel the present crunch as much because she is "middle-aged and my kids are grown. It makes a difference." She said the younger village employees might be more disgruntled about the news.

A younger secretary, however, said she knows enough people who are out of work to understand that it is better to not get a raise than to be laid off.

Absentee ballots available

Absentee ballots for the April 1 Prospect Heights Park District election are available through March 29 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday at the park office, 13 Prospect Ct., Prospect Heights.

A LITTLE gamesmanship goes a long way toward helping elementary students overcome reading problems. Johnny Cavazos, a River Trails Junior

Learning becomes a game for Euclid School students

The little blonde scrutinized the cards in her hand, then cast a calculating eye at her opponent.

"Give me a two-syllable word," she said, loudly slapping a card on the table. Her opponent studied his cards carefully, then looked up hopelessly. "Your point," he said.

This scenario repeats itself weekly when students from River Trails Junior High School meet children from Euclid School for tutorial game sessions. The half-hour periods — which resemble play time more than study sessions — are designed to teach reading skills to elementary students.

"The elementary teachers tell us what kind of problems their students are having and we try to make a game to teach the skill. It's done on kind of a prescription basis," said Janet Poznak, River Trails Dist. 26 reading coordinator.

Reading-lab teacher William Geary helps the junior high students plan and make the educational games. Each week, a group of six junior high students meets with the younger children to teach the games. The games are left with the elementary students.

MRS. POZNAK SAID the game sessions help both sets of students. "It helps the older students' self-image — they're in charge of helping another child," she said. "The younger students feel proud when they can take the game back to the classroom to teach their friends."

Children often are better teachers than adults, Mrs. Poznak said, noting that students often "tune adults out."

"These children have problems in reading that need a lot of repetition to correct," she added. "The more varied we can make it, the better."

North Park choir at church

The North Park College Choir will appear at the Northwest Covenant Church, Mount Prospect, for two performances April 27.

Scheduled for 9 and 11 a.m., the performances will include selections from "The Creation" by Haydn, "Rejoice in the Lamb" and the "Festival Te Deum" by Benjamin Britten and other works.

The choir, comprised of 32 men and 32 women, has performed with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra and on television. It is under the direction of David L. Thorburn.

Traffic hazard to be alleviated

Barricades may go up near St. James School

Pine Street may be partially barricaded adjacent to St. James School in an effort to slow traffic and protect children who use the school playground during the noon hour.

The village board's public health and safety committee voted 2 to 1 to recommend that one lane in the 800 block of N. Pine Street be barricaded between noon and 12:45 p.m. when some 400 elementary school children are on the unfenced playground.

Parents and parishiners of St. James Catholic Church have complained about the safety hazard since September. They say the school does not have the estimated $1,600 it would take to fence the block.

THE VILLAGE administration and public health and safety committee chairman Alice Harms oppose the street barricades because, they say, it does not represent a real solution to the problem.

"We just want to slow the traffic down. All you need is for one child to be hit and killed. The speed of cars coming through (the area) is ridiculous," William L. Sullivan, a spokesman for the concerned parents, told the committee.

All but one resident of the block has signed a petition agreeing to the temporary barricades, Sullivan said.

The village administration, however, identifies the partial barricades as a hazardous obstruction in the street that could have the effect of actually encouraging youngsters to play in the street.

The proper solution is to cut off the playground from the street with a fence such as at North, Wayside and Dunton schools, administrators say.

IN ORDER TO have a chance of getting the temporary barricades approved, the school will have to get the Archdiocese of Chicago to accept liability in the event of any accidents.

Four mothers who act as playground supervisors said they would place and remove the barricades during the noon hour. They also said they would continue to see that children did not go into the street except to retrieve balls.

"I seriously object to the idea of a child being able to chase a ball into the street," said Mrs. Harms in recommending a fence rather than barricades. But the two other committee members said the barricades should be tried on a three-month trial basis that would at least extend through the end of the school year.

VFW hosts memorial service

The women's auxiliary to Arlington Heights VFW Post 981 will host the fourth district memorial service on March 24.

The service honors members who have died in the past year. It will be conducted by Mrs. Leo Rooney, fourth district president from Brookfield, and Mrs. Irvin McDougall, fourth district chaplain from Arlington Heights.

by JILL BETTNER

Federal immigration service agents raided two firms in the Elk Grove Village Contex Industrial Park Wednesday, taking more than two dozen illegal aliens into custody.

Agents arrested 15 aliens at Ace Pecan Company Inc., 2055 Lunt Ave., and 11 aliens at Field Container Corp., 1500 Nicholas Blvd. All are reported to be Mexican citizens, many of whom have been working at the assembly plants for several years.

The raids were still in progress when applicants began lining up for the jobs held by the illegal aliens who were being arrested.

Two Mexican-American men shivered in the cold outside the Field Container Corp., where they had just been told there were no jobs available. They were waiting to see if the raid would change things.

"I've been in the country legally for 15 years. I pay taxes and I haven't had a job for six months," one man said. "I am not glad to see this because these are my people, but I have to feed my babies, too."

WHILE WEDNESDAY'S raids came as a surprise to Ace Pecan and Field Container officials, Walter Barkley, district director of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, said the immigration office is getting an increasing number of requests from employers to weed out illegal aliens holding jobs that should go to U.S. citizens.

"We're getting more cooperation from employers than we used to," Barkley said. "Sometimes they'll call us and ask us to screen their personnel records and of course we get leads from aliens who say 'I'm here legally and I can't get a job at such and such a place.'"

On the other hand, he said, some employers continue to hire illegal aliens, making only perfunctory checks of citizenship papers, to obtain cheap labor.

"Aliens generally work hard. They want the job and they're willing to come in everyday. They're self-effacing and make very few demands on employers," Barkley said.

EMPLOYERS FOUND to have illegal aliens working for them suffer no penalty, a situation that has long frustrated immigration officials, Barkley said.

Aliens unable to prove they are citizens or have legal work visas are deported by the immigration service. One agent estimated at least half the aliens arrested in Elk Grove Wednesday would be back in the country within a month if they are deported.

A spokesman for Ace Pecan, who did not want to be identified, said the company requires job applicants to indicate if they are U.S. citizens, but no proof is required.

"It's not something we pay close attention to," the spokesman said. "We don't feel guilty about it, either. We took what was available, trained these people, upgraded them."

THE ACE PECAN official said, however, the company hurriedly processed the paychecks of the aliens in order to allow them to post bond if possible.

He also said he objected to the way the

Library backers begin blitz to pass referendum

Backers of the April 1 Arlington Heights Memorial Library referendum plan to contact 5,000 residents in an attempt to convince them to vote for a tax rate increase for library expansion.

The push is under way because library officials fear residents will be unaware of the referendum because it is scheduled on the same day as local elections.

The library is asking voters to approve $2.66 million in general obligation bonds to expand the present library building south to St. James Street. The expansion involved closing off Fremont Street. The library also seeks approval for $720,000 in book-purchasing bonds and a tax levy ceiling increase from the current 23 cents to 40 cents per $100 equalized assessed valuation.

The total package would cost owners of homes assessed at $10,000 about $6 in additional library taxes, provided that library officials do not approach the 40 cent tax ceiling faster than they anticipate.

VOTERS ALSO will elect four library trustees, a village president, four village trustees, and three park commissioners on April 1. The library board could have chosen another date for its referendum, but a separate election would have cost the village an estimated $10,000, said Frank Dempsey, executive librarian.

The library referendum comes on the heels of the park district referendum March 1 that voters approved. Passage of that referendum means a $11.19 a year tax hike for homeowners with a $10,000 assessed valuation.

"It (the April 1 election) gives us much more of a problem in getting our story out," said Joyce Zeller, president of the Friends of the Arlington Heights Memorial Library. "We have to make sure they know about our referendum. Our problem is not like the park district, getting out the yes votes, but getting out the story."

The Friends of the Library are in the midst of its campaign to sell the referendum. A speakers' bureau has been talking to local clubs and homeowner groups, Mrs. Zeller said.

ALTHOUGH Mrs. Zeller said group response to the referendum has been either "affirmative or neutral," voters have questioned the presence of a theater in the proposed library addition and the number of library users from other suburbs.

"A lot of people apparently don't realize that we get paid about $35,000 for the books that residents of other communities borrow," Mrs. Zeller said.

As one of the 35 member libraries in the North Suburban Library System, the Arlington Heights library shares in a reciprocal borrowing agreement with every member library. An Arlington Heights resident can use his card to borrow books from any member library and from the Chicago Public Library, Dempsey said.

The Arlington Heights library, used by reciprocal borrowers, is reimbursed 50 cents for each book exceeding the number of books borrowed by Arlington Heights residents from other system libraries. During fiscal 1974-75, Arlington Heights received $35,000 in this way from NSLS, Dempsey said.

"Still, the number of books checked out by non-Arlington Heights residents is a 10 to 10 per cent of our total circulation," Dempsey said.

WHILE VOTERS have questioned the presence of a 300-seat theater, Dempsey said that the library will need the space for the many community events currently held free in the Dunton Room.

"Within the last three months, the Dunton Room has been reserved by 27 groups. The theater will allow us to schedule larger groups and more groups in more comfortable surroundings," Dempsey said.

The lottery nobody cares about drones on...

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Men born Dec. 8, 1936, were given the No. 1 priority Wednesday in the standby draft lottery for 19-year-olds.

Men with a June 19 birthday got No. 2 priority in the annual drawing, while those born March 22 were third on the list. But odds are long that no one will be called to serve in the now all-volunteer Army.

Nobody has been drafted since 1972, but the draft lottery is held each year to determine the order in which some 2 million 19-year-olds would be called in the event of a national emergency which created military needs in excess of the volunteer force.

SELECTIVE SERVICE employees dressed in red, white and blue, turned two plexiglass drums. One drum contained birth dates in red capsules, the other priority numbers in blue capsules. The date combined with the priority number determined the order of choice.

July 3 was the first birthday actually drawn and it was assigned a priority of nine in the corresponding drawing from the blue drum.

Byron V. Peptone, director of Selective

tive Service, said the purpose of the lottery was to assign random sequence numbers to men born in calendar year 1936.

"These men registered during 1974 within the 60-day span surrounding their birthday," he said.

THE NO. 1 SPOT — Dec. 8, the anniversary of the U.S. declaration of war against Japan in 1941 — would be drafted first, and theoretically, No. 366 last. There were 366 capsules because 1936 was a leap year.

But even at the height of the Vietnam

War draft no more than approximately one-third of the eligible men each year were drafted, so Peptone said the men born in 1936 whose birthdays received a priority of 95 and lower would be reclassified into an "available class" for the 1976 emergency induction pool unless they were eligible for deferment or exemption.

Peptone said "there is still enough uncertainty in relationships between nations" to merit the continued basic function of the draft.

The law requires the drawings as part of a backup Selective Service system to support the all-volunteer force.

YOUNG MEN still must register during the period 30 days before and 30 days after their 18th birthday.

All branches of the armed services recently reported no trouble recruiting qualified people because of the current high unemployment rate.

The all-volunteer concept of raising military manpower is proving successful in meeting the current military manpower needs during this time of peace," Peptone said.

Pilot of plane in Palwaukee crash dies

William Kilpatrick, the pilot of the twin-engine plane that crashed on takeoff from Palwaukee Airport last Thursday, died Wednesday night in Holy Family Hospital, Des-Plaines.

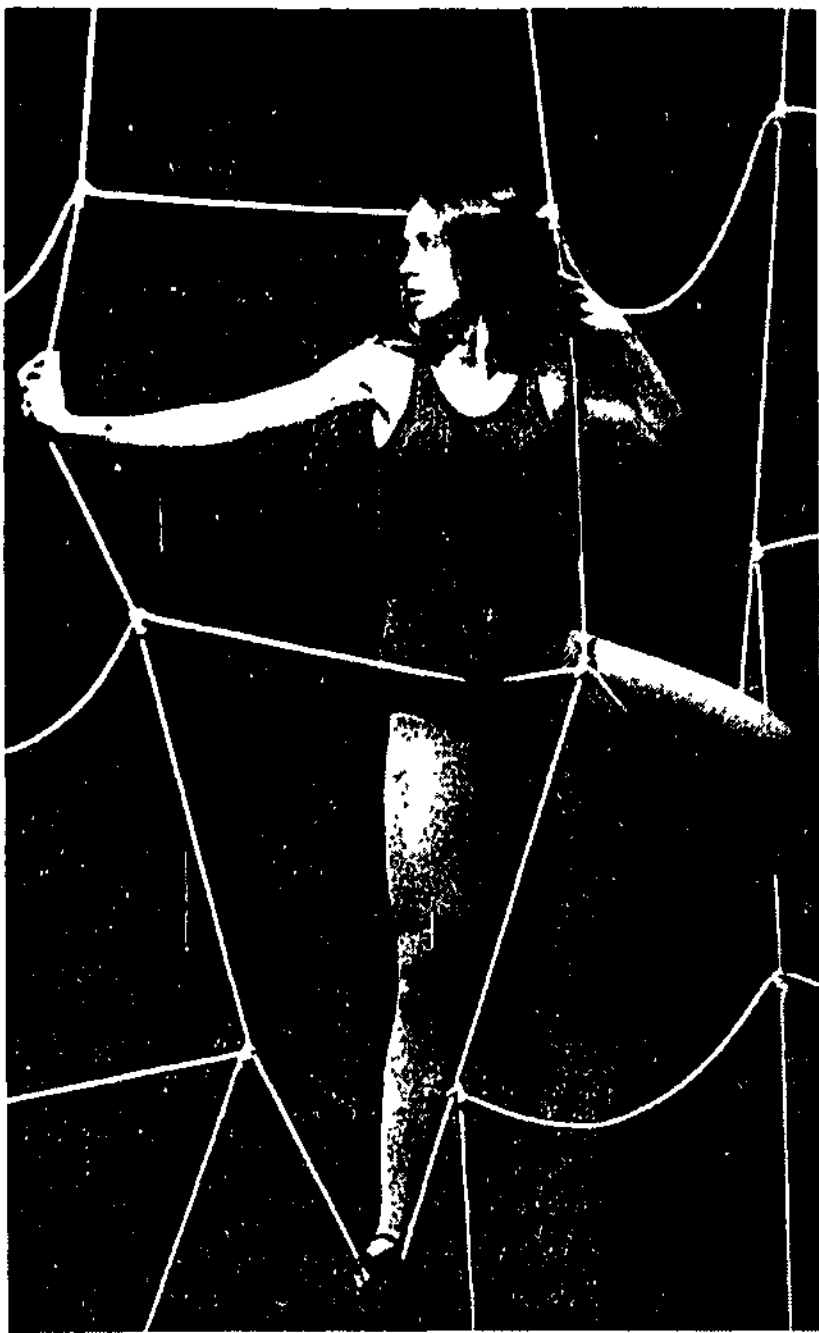

Kilpatrick, 53, of West Memphis, Ark., suffered multiple head and chest injuries when the Beechcraft 18 failed to gain altitude on takeoff and careened into a vacant greenhouse at Palatine and Wolf roads. He never regained consciousness after the accident and died at 6:40 p.m. in the hospital's intensive-care unit.

Investigators have speculated that the crash was caused by snow and ice on the wings of the plane.

The copilot, Steven Johnson, 24, also of West Memphis, Ark., escaped with minor injuries.

Between Gregory, Park streets

Health, safety unit urges parking limits on Phelps

The Arlington Heights Village Board's public health and safety committee voted unanimously Wednesday night to recommend parking restrictions on Phelps Avenue, between Gregory and Park streets, in response to complaints from residents on the block.

Phelps Street homeowners have complained that both sides of the street are being used for all-day parking by employees of Mark Motors Inc., 2020 E. Northwest Hwy.

The committee recommends that parking be prohibited on the east side of Phelps, and limited to two hours on the west side, between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

While all-day parking on Phelps has not been illegal, residents of the area say it constitutes a safety hazard and an inconvenience. Motorists cannot see children who run between parked cars into the street, they say, and the narrow width of Phelps makes driving difficult when cars are parked on both sides of the street.

One homeowner referred to the parking pattern as "fleece parking."

Mark Heller, owner of the auto dealership, said he did not have room for employee parking on his premises and that he could not tell his employees where to park as long as it was legal.

Schools offer free vision, hearing tests

Free vision and hearing tests for pre-school children in Prospect Heights Dist. 23 will be given March 24 and 25 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at MacArthur Junior High School, 700 N. Schoenbeck Rd., Prospect Heights.

Registration for the screening will be at the school from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Monday and Tuesday. Children must have been 3 as of March 1 to be screened.

Parents also can register their children for learning disability and language tests at that time. These tests will be given in April.

Property owners linked to Fulle

Elk Grove to try to alter land zoning

Elk Grove Village will attempt to overturn high-density apartment zoning of two properties adjacent to the village whose owners are linked to indicted County Republican Chairman Floyd T. Fulle.

The village board has authorized Village Atty. Edward Holert to seek new county zoning hearings on the two properties, which were part of the now-defunct Devon-53 proposal in Schaumburg Township.

Trustee Edward Kenna said the properties are owned by Joseph D. Zizzo and Parkway Development Co., whose president is Ted Szywala. Fulle, Zizzo and Szywala were all directors of Parkway Bank and Trust Co., Harwood Heights.

"This friendship was during the years Zizzo and Szywala received high density multi-family county zoning for the land they owned and were petitioning our village for annexation and zoning as part of a coalition of developers called Devon-53," Kenna said.

ZIZZO OWNS a 27-acre parcel on Bismarck Road zoned to allow 29 housing units

per acre. The Parkway Development Co. tract is a 156-acre parcel just west of Ill. Rte. 53 adjoining I-90. It also has high-density zoning.

Kenna said during hearings before village officials, Zizzo and Parkway officials used the county zoning as a threat in annexation negotiations.

Two other developers of the Devon-53 Development Co., which has since disbanded, are the Buttila Land Trust and Arvidson Realty Co., Lombard. The Buttita tract has since been sold to SBL Associates. Neither of those parcels was zoned multiple family.

"In light of the Fulle indictment we want to make sure there was no banky panky involved," said Kenna. Village officials unsuccessfully protested the county zoning in 1970 when it was granted, after what Kenna termed "ridiculously light hearings."

Ballet classes offered

Beginning and intermediate ballet classes will be offered by the Arlington Heights Park District beginning March 18 and 19 at Frontier and Hasbrook parks.

The beginning ballet classes will be from 4 to 5 p.m. and the intermediate classes will be from 5 to 6 p.m. at both parks. The $5.50 fee for the eight-week program can be paid weekdays from 1 to 5 p.m. at Frontier Park.
